KIRKLAND CASE NEARS JURY

WICKERSHAM IS REPUDIATED BY HIS OWN BOARD

Dissension Grows in Commission.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., March 8.—[Special.]—With its chairman repudiated by an overwhelming majority of his colleagues not only on prohibition but on other subjects of its inquiry, the Wickersham commission, it was learned today, is torn with dissension as it nears the end of its official career.

GEO. WICKERSHAM.
[Acme Photo.]

During the session of the commission last week in reform of the criminal law, the views of Chairman George W. Wickersham were rejected repeatedly by the majority. The vote against the Wickersham position in each case was 8 to 2, former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker of Ohio being absent. The only member of the commission who supported Mr. Wickersham was William I. Grubb, judge of the United States court for the Northern District of Alabama.

Argues Long but Futilely.

In one question relating to procedural reform for the purpose of obtaining more efficient enforcement of law, Mr. Wickersham presented his views in a speech consuming an hour and three-quarters. After other members in brief remarks had taken exception to his attitude, Mr. Wickersham was silenced by the majority steam roller.

The line of cleavage disclosed in the commission last week was essentially that which prevailed in the final stages of the consideration of the report on prohibition. The only thick and thin supporter Chairman Wickersham had was Judge Grubb, an ardent dry. Even Mr. Baker, who had supported the chairman pretty consistently, fell away from him in the end.

The dissension prevailing in the commission is of long duration. It began months ago, in the early period of the prohibition inquiry, and was occasioned by suspicions on the part of several members of the body that Mr. Wickersham was acting in close cooperation with President Hoover and was intent upon shaping a prohibition report supporting the Hoover position that prohibition is a noble experiment and that all that is needed to make it a success is more and better enforcement.

Tried to Please Hoover.

There was no evidence that Mr. Hoover had given any instructions to the chairman as to the character of the report desired, but the several members of the commission, considering the attitude of Mr. Wickersham in connection with his frequent conferences with the President, came to the conclusion that the chairman had been to the pains of finding out what would please Mr. Hoover in the way of a report and was endeavoring to effectuate the decisions of the body to accord with the President's views.

The first repudiation of the chairman by the commission occurred in connection with the prohibition report. Mr. Wickersham drafted recommendations which he wanted the commission to adopt. These recommendations virtually put the stamp of approval on the institution of prohibition, which was depicted as representing the settled policy of the nation, and dealt almost exclusively with reforms and additional machinery required to promote more effective prohibition.

Bosses Suspicions of Motives.

This maneuver on the part of Mr. Wickersham deepened the suspicion in which he was regarded by other members of the commission. When he was appointed to the body he was known by his public utterances as a liberal who was not in sympathy with the effort to impose total abstinence upon the nation by fiat, if not as a practical wet. He had heard the case testimony and studied the same data which had caused such enlightened members of the commission as United States Judge William Hoogen of Iowa, Henry W. Anderson of Virginia, Ada L. Comstock and Roscoe Pound of Massachusetts and former Judge Kenneth Mackintosh of Washington to proclaim prohibition virtually a failure and to conclude that it must be modified, if a further effort to enforce it failed of success.

Wickersham, apparently, had re-

MAYOR AHEAD IN DAY'S POLL OF SO. SIDE WARDS

Gets 73% of Early Straw Votes.

Pre-Campaign Poll

Cermak [D.]	1,232	230	1,462	50.50
Thompson [R.]	787	645	1,402	48.42
Stout [A.]	23	8	31	1.07
Totals	2,012	883	2,895	99.99

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Mayor Thompson had a substantial lead in the colored belt in the second day of straw voting. Only the votes of Negroes were solicited on the second day of the mayoralty election test. Heretofore Thompson has been stronger in this territory than in any other section of the city. It was consequently expected that the straws in this area would favor him by a large percentage.

Taking the two days of straw votes together, the race between Thompson and Anton Cermak, the Democratic candidate, is almost a dead heat. The total for the two days gives Cermak 1,462 straws, and Thompson 1,402. On the total of 2,895 straws so far collected, the difference between Thompson and Cermak is 2.08 per cent. If these straws could be taken as indicative of the sentiment in Chicago—which it is not claimed they are—and if a million voters went to the polls, Cermak would be the winner of an election today by the slender margin of 20,800 votes.

More than Million Expected.

The estimate of a million votes as the total number to be cast in the mayoralty contest next month is probably a trifle low, because there were 999,762 votes cast at the last election for mayor in 1927, and in the 1928 presidential election the total vote in Chicago was 1,290,993.

The straws of yesterday indicate that Thompson is still popular among the colored people, although he appears to have lost perhaps 2,500 of them. The following table shows the distribution of straws of the colored voters between three candidates for mayor, together with the percentage of each candidate:

Candidate—	Votes.	Per cent.
Cermak, Democrat	730	50.05
Thompson, Republican	648	73.05
Ernest Stout, Anti-Nati	8	0.90
Total	883	100

The places at which those straws were collected are indicated in the following tabulation showing the number of straws for each candidate at each street intersection:

Ward. Location.	Cermak.	Thomp-son.	Stout.	Total.
2—35th-State	7	55	1	63
2—35th-State	54	65	2	119
4—47th-So. Pkwy.	50	54	6	104
2—35th-Indiana	4	69	1	74
2—36th-State	55	61	1	117
2—39th-Cott. Grove	71	42	2	115
2—State-39th	55	67	6	128
2—State-35th	54	164	1	130
Totals	730	645	8	883
Per cent	50.05	73.05	.90	100

The poll of the colored area when Thompson was elected the last time is informative when reviewed in connection with the present poll. The comparison, however, is not exact, because the 1927 poll for the most part was of both white and colored, while the 1931 poll was limited to Negroes except where a few whites insisted on voting without solicitation.

What the Comparison Shows.

The comparison shows that Thompson was stronger in 1927 than he is now in the colored wards, if the present limited poll can be taken as indicative of sentiment now. At the last mayoralty contest Thompson was credited with 77.45 per cent of the straws in the 1st, 2d, and 4th wards. In the present poll he has 73.05 per cent. That difference in percentage of 4.40 is probably the equivalent of 4,400 votes at a mayoralty election, because in those four wards four years ago there was a total of 101,240 votes cast.

In 1928 Hoover was given 63.79 per cent of the votes of the four wards, and he carried Chicago by only 21,046 votes. Former Gov. Smith got 35.93 per cent of the votes, which is 9 per cent more than Mr. Cermak has obtained in the present poll.

Closing Pleas by Attorneys to Open Today

Valparaiso, Ind., March 8.—[Special.]—The stage was set tonight for a denouement in the case of Virgil Kirkland, on trial here during the last two weeks for the rape and murder of his sweetheart, Arlene Draves, during a Gary liquor revel last Nov. 29. Final arguments will begin tomorrow, and the case is expected to go to the jury by Tuesday afternoon.

With the town in the grip of a March blizzard, attorneys in the case spent the dreary day conning law books and rehearsing in their minds the pleas they will deliver to the jury, composed mainly of elderly Hoosier farmers, pleas which may determine whether death, life imprisonment, or freedom will be the young defendant's lot.

Kirkland Spends Cheerful Sunday.

Seemingly carefree in the approaching crisis, Kirkland whiled away the hours in the Porter county jail, cracking jokes with fellow prisoners or reading the Sunday comics and articles on his trial. Occasionally he sauntered to the barred windows and for a while would watch the whirling snow outside.

"I hope it clears up soon," he remarked. "I want the weather nice before I start home on Wednesday."

The first two hours of tomorrow's session is expected to dispose of final evidence. By stipulation the state will be permitted to call a representative of the University of Illinois pathological laboratory to refute testimony given yesterday by the proprietor of a private laboratory, Dr. Charles E. M. Fischer of Chicago.

The remainder of the forenoon will probably be consumed by Attorney Oscar E. Thiel of Gary, arguing anew for a directed verdict of acquittal on the grounds of insufficient evidence. Should Judge Crumpacker overrule the motion, as both sides anticipate he will, argument will begin following the noon recess.

Arguments Total Ten Hours.

The court has allotted each side five hours. Special Prosecutor John Underwood will open for the state and be followed by his associate, Edmond Freund. Attorney John Crumpacker will open the argument for Kirkland.

Mr. Underwood, an old type country lawyer who formerly practiced in southern Indiana, said he would confine his argument to the evidence in the record and demand Kirkland's conviction on the second and fourth counts in his indictment. The prosecutor indicated he would refrain from direct references to capital punishment.

The second count charges murder with a blunt instrument and the fourth murder by rape. Should the jury convict on the second count alone, Kirkland may escape with life imprisonment or a lesser term, but if the fourth count is upheld the death sentence becomes mandatory. Indiana executes capital sentences in an electric chair at Michigan City penitentiary and there Kirkland will go if Underwood's argument prevails.

Claim Evidence Insufficient.

Attorney John Crumpacker will open for the defense, citing the legal principle that any reasonable doubt must be resolved in the defendant's favor and arguing that the state has failed utterly to produce evidence of murder or intent to murder. Attorney Thiel will enlarge on the same theme, discussing the evidence in all its phases from the defense standpoint.

Attorney Ronald Oldham will present the defense viewpoint on the medical issue, as to whether Arlene died of a brain concussion alone, as his side contends, or of a combination of the brain injury, shock, and ravishment, as the state contends.

The emotional element of the trial will be brought in by Attorney Barratt O'Hara, summing up for the defense, with a claim that society, not Kirkland, should be on trial, and that the defendant is a bewildered boy, the innocent victim of the prohibition age. Pitted against O'Hara in closing for the state will be Prosecutor Robert G. Estill, former minister of the Christian church at Indiana Harbor.

Two Sided Emotional Picture.

"I'm going to tell that jury that society, with its industrial and prohibition evils, is on trial in this lawsuit," Mr. O'Hara averred. "I will defy them to leave that boy to burn in the electric chair as a sacrifice to evils for which they, together with the rest of society, are responsible."

With Mr. O'Hara drawing on Kirkland's life history for this theme, Prosecutor Estill will match this argument, he indicated tonight, by playing on the tragic end of Arlene's young life, the grief of her family and their justifiable demand that Kirkland pay the penalty as her ravisher and murderer.

The jury then will hear Judge Crumpacker's instructions and retire for deliberation.

City Digs Back to Normal

A PARTING SHOT

MAIN TRANSIT LINES CLEARED; SCHOOLS OPEN

Drifts Still Block Country Roads.

Rising temperatures and intervals of sunshine are forecast today to break the grip of the week-end storm, thaw part of the heavy snow blanket, and facilitate the restoration of virtually normal traffic.

All transportation agencies announced last night that their services were either completely or nearly normal and this assurance, with the hopeful weather forecast prompted Superintendent of Schools William J. Bogan to declare all public schools would be open today.

Thaw Today, Says Forecaster.

"The worst of the snow fell Saturday," said W. P. Day, government forecaster, last night. "The total fall has been 15.7 inches, but most of it fell between 9:45 Saturday morning and 7 o'clock Saturday evening, when 13.6 inches were recorded. The snowfall Sunday was only two inches. Indications are for lower temperatures in the morning, about 24 degrees, rising later in the day to 35 or 39 degrees, which, with intervals of sunshine, should bring a considerable thaw."

The storm last night was sweeping over Lake Erie and was definitely away from Chicago and the middle west, except for snow flurries which the forecaster said might continue for a time early this morning. But Mr. Day foresaw no immediate recurrence of the heavy snowfall of Saturday which spread over a belt 400 miles wide in six states and gave needed relief to drought stricken areas.

Chicago Digs Out of Drifts.

Temporarily crippled by the Saturday snow, Chicago was cheerily digging itself out yesterday. The surface lines, with few exceptions, approached normal service last night, and elevated transportation was on schedule. Buses were operating on the principal routes and every effort was being made during the night to expand the service today. Train service both suburban and long distance, was unimpaired.

Country roads were still blockaded, however, the notable exceptions being the 40 foot highways, the width of which enabled motorists to zigzag around drifts. Officials cited the superiority of these roads in contrast with the 20 foot pavements, in which even plows could make little progress.

Few Through Routes Open.

Through routes from Chicago to Detroit, Muskegon, and Indianapolis were reported probably passable but in poor condition. There were no through routes available, however, between Chicago and Springfield, Fort Wayne and Danville. The Illinois highway department reported slow progress in clearing roads, with blockades around Peoria, Decatur, and Springfield.

Motorists were warned by Bert Vanderwart, touring manager of the Chicago Motor club, to keep away from the country for two days and play safe. Meanwhile airports were ready for a resumption of flying. However, only mail was being carried, passenger service being temporarily discontinued.

Transit Lines Get Busy.

With the experience of last year's March 25-26 storm in mind, officials of transportation lines and the city street department swung into action when the gale driven storm struck on Saturday. Hundreds of men, unemployed for months, were hired by the city to remove the snow from the loop.

Thousands of other workers were employed by the surface lines, elevated lines, and motor coach company for similar tasks. Railroads also hired emergency crews. Trucks and plows also were engaged, 100 extra trucks being put into service by the surface lines. Thus the storm will at least be to the unemployed of the city as well as to the farmers of the drought stricken corn belt.

C. H. Evenson, superintendent of transportation for the Chicago Surface lines, said last night that with few exceptions trunk lines were on regular schedule. Stony Island, Cottage Grove, State, Broadway, Clark, Halsted, Kedzie, Madison, and Cicero cars were running smoothly, he said.

Extra "L" Trains Running.

According to Harold M. Lardie, vice president of the Chicago Rapid Transit company, elevated road service was in good shape, with extra trains

PROF. HATTON'S WIFE DIES OF RARE DISEASE

Mrs. Nancy Hatton, 51 years old, wife of Prof. A. R. Hatton, head of the political science department of Northwestern university, died last night in the Evanston hospital. She had been ill for several weeks of a rare disease which destroys the white corpuscles of the blood.

Soon after Mrs. Hatton became ill, Prof. Hatton, a colleague and four students from his classes gave the blood for transfusions. At one time a drug needed in her treatment was brought to Chicago from the east by airplane. Mrs. Hatton's condition was regarded as improved until a sudden recurrence of the disease last night caused death.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Hatton is survived by one daughter, Martha, a student in the university.

Makes Himself at Home in Vacant Flat; Arrested

William Pappas, 37 years old, a wanderer, was passing a building at 70 West Superior street westerday, when he saw a "Flat for Rent" sign on the third floor. He crawled up a fire escape, turned on the radiators, and after unpacking his little paper suit case, took a shave and a bath. Then he lay down to sleep. While he slumbered Michael Mushong, a janitor, discovered him and called the police. Placed in a cell at the Chicago avenue station, Pappas remarked that a hard bed in jail was preferable to a cold one in the snow.

150, All in One Family, Recall City's History

Nearly 65 years ago Jacob Felsenthal crossed the ocean from Germany in a sail boat and settled in Chicago. Last night 150 of his descendants gathered in the Auditorium hotel to honor the memory of the founder of a family which has seen Chicago grow from a busy lake port to a metropolis.

When old Jacob, a retired Odenbach merchant, left Germany in 1864 he brought nine of his eleven children with him, all eager to rejoin his two oldest sons who already had emigrated to Chicago. Each of the eleven children married and remained in Chicago to raise large families and at the reunion last night the fifth generation of Felsenthals honored the memory of the old German merchant.

In All Parts of City.

The family first settled at Adams and Des Plaines streets in a home it occupied for more than thirty years. Soon afterward four of the sons each built homes neighboring each other at 150 to 160 South Des Plaines street. Gradually the children and grandchildren scattered through the city as it grew, until now there are Felsenthals in all parts of Chicago.

The oldest person at last night's reunion was Simon Ex, 87 years old, son-in-law of Jacob, who lives at 7743 North Hermitage avenue. The youngest was Harriet Felsenthal, 3 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeffery Felsenthal, 4938 North Sacramento boulevard. Harriet is a great-granddaughter of Jacob. Betty Jane Green, 4 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Green, although a few months older than Harriet, represents the next generation as great-great-granddaughter.

Women Organize Club.

The women descendants of the Felsenthals have formed the Jacob Felsenthal Ladies' society and meet once each month. A reunion is held each winter and a picnic each summer. Among those who attended last night were Benjamin Samuels, general counsel and vice president of the Yellow Cab company, and Mrs. Sarah Felsenthal, 6314 Dorchester avenue, who also observed her own 71st birthday. Mrs. Helene Samuels Mayer, former première danseuse of the Chicago Civic Opera company, is president of the Ladies' society, which sponsored the reunion.

BELKNAP MARRIES FIVE DAYS AFTER BEING DIVORCED

Five days after he had been divorced at Waukegan by his first wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Van Hagen Belknap of Barrington, Thomas A. Belknap, La Salle street broker, took a second bride, it was learned yesterday. On Saturday he married Miss Phyllis Wolff in a quiet ceremony at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Lyell H. Ritchie, 179 East Chestnut street. In the license, obtained shortly before the ceremony, the groom gave his age as 39 and Miss Wolff's as 22.

The decree entered against Belknap in Judge Ralph J. Dady's court at Waukegan last Monday was one of the speediest divorce cases on record there. The bill, charging desertion, was filed on behalf of the first Mrs. Belknap, who is widely known in social circles of Chicago and the north shore, during the morning session of court, and the evidence was heard early in the afternoon. The marriage of the former Elizabeth Van Hagen and young Belknap was one of the outstanding social functions of the summer of 1925, and was followed by a European honeymoon.

A new device, designed by engineers of the elevated and gas companies, and born out of experiences of the 1930 blizzard, was successful in its inaugural test as a preventative against freezing of switches on the elevated lines. The device, described by Vice President Lytle as a "switch point heater," was placed Saturday on all principal switches.

It consists of a mechanism which throws out a 6 inch gas flame, able to withstand a 60 mile an hour wind, directly at the point of the switch. Melted snow and ice run off into a trough. Under the old system, one man was required at each switch during storms or zero weather.

Slush Impedes Traffic.

The clearing of thoroughfares was somewhat hampered yesterday by the intermittent snow which developed into thick, wet flakes toward evening. This clogged up street intersections and formed slush puddles several inches in depth. Along suburban highways it added to existing difficulties, but failed to halt motorists proceeding safely to their destinations after delays.

Along the lake front the waves smashed against breakwaters, showering sections of the outer drives with spray. Hundreds of Chicagoans visited the shore to watch the surging waters. A constant patrol was maintained by coast guardsmen to keep amateur adventurers from risking themselves and their craft on the lake. Because of the spray cast by the rollers officials of the south park and Lincoln park boards still kept the outer drives closed.

Fears of a milk shortage were dissipated during the day by reports showing that deliveries had not been seriously curtailed. Farmers cleared roads to insure the delivery of their milk to dairy stations and milk trucks got through with nothing worse than slight delays.

Six States Hit by Storm.

The storm area covered parts of six midwestern states, with northern and central Illinois, northern Indiana, northern Missouri, and lower Michigan catching the brunt. Southern Iowa also experienced a severe fall, as did parts of Wisconsin, particularly in the Milwaukee region. In southern areas there were heavy rainfalls.

An army of untold thousands worked willingly to dig out snowbound roads and towns. Hundreds of stalled automobiles managed to proceed to their destinations after their owners had received shelter from farmers along the way.

Throughout the storm hit area, linemen worked to repair snarled and fallen wires. Their task was completed early, and virtually normal communication was restored. Little loss was reported anywhere.

Reports from cities in the middle west showed the effects of and the recovery from the storm. Quincy was covered with 13 or more inches of snow. In some places in Cass county, near Virginia, drifts were piled as high as 15 feet.

Roads were partly blocked, but crews of men were clearing them as rapidly as possible. Complete clearing of the roads is expected by Wednesday.

Des Moines reported rail and highway traffic returning to normal in southern Iowa, which was hard hit. Trains were operating on schedule and branch lines which had temporarily discontinued service were resuming operations. Keokuk also reported highway and rail service normal.

In Burlington, Ia., 100 men were at work clearing streets. Burlington had been partly isolated by the heavy snow, but rapidly dug itself out and cleared travel lanes approaching the city. Near Creston several roads were still blocked, but the main highways, wider than the others, were open.

Gale Hammers New York.

New York, March 8.—[Special.]—Rain and a gale which at times exceeded fifty miles an hour hammered metropolitan New York savagely for many hours today, and when they had finally swept out to sea they left behind a trail of wreckage.

The damage was extensive along the beaches of Long Island, Staten Island, and northern New Jersey, where an unusually high tide, lashed by the high wind, took heavy toll of cottages built near the shore.

With the tide at its highest point, sections of Manhattan and Brooklyn were inundated by water from New York and Jamaica bays. More than 100 families were marooned for several hours. The gale ripped a section of the roof from a Bronx church where 700 children were attending services. At least five persons were killed in automobile accidents attributed to the storm.

Storm Grips New England.

Boston, Mass., March 8.—(AP)—A terrific southeast gale, driving before it rain, sleet and snow, whipped the New England states tonight. In some sections of Vermont, motorists, unable to plow through heavily piled snowdrifts, applied at isolated farm houses for shelter.

Scores of cities and towns in the northern states were without lights as electric wires snapped under the weight of ice and sleet. Roofs were torn from buildings at shore resorts and as far inland as Rutland, Vt.

Some Snow in the South.

Atlanta, Ga., March 8.—(AP)—A remnant of the March storm from the plains states blew into Dixie during the week-end, covering a few areas in belated snow blankets, bringing flurries of swiftly melting flakes to other points and threatening ice on the gulf coast.

Except for far northwestern areas, Florida appeared to have missed the cold wave, though temperatures in the southern part of the state were dropping.

NOTES OF THE STORM

Pranks of the storm were greeted by Chicagoans for the most part in a gay mood. But it was no laughing matter when one pedestrian on upper Michigan avenue, blinded by the snow outside, stumbled through a revolving door into a restaurant, slipped on the tile floor, careened into a waitress and knocked the girl down. She arose with a sprained wrist.

In the various telephone exchanges switchboards blossomed like Christmas trees Saturday afternoon and evening while the storm was at its height. The tieup in traffic threw a heavy burden on this mode of communication. At one small drugstore near THE TRIBUNE Tower $7.00 worth of slugs was sold in three hours. Far more than the ordinary number of calls were made yesterday, due to the continued bad weather.

One automobile repair shop on the far north side kept two service trucks busy day and night hauling in disabled cars. On the way to tow in a big sedan the crew of one truck was stopped by another marooned driver who besought them to pull his sedan in also, so the two large automobiles were towed into the shop on the same trip.

"A lot of these bantam automobiles won't be found until the snow melts," one wag averred. Yet in some sections of the city yesterday block after block revealed roadsters, coupes and even large sedans practically hidden by the piled and drifting snow.

Stores handling boots, galoshes and umbrellas did a rushing business in those staples Saturday. It was estimated that more pairs of hip boots were disposed of in eight hours on Saturday than in the entire year prior to that date.

Motorists from many points were stranded in the city by the storm. Automobile clubs were beseiged for information about roads, and at the Public Service office of THE TRIBUNE, Dearborn and Madison streets, eight calls were handled yesterday asking whether the roads were passable to Cleveland alone.

Overburdened with snow, the roof of the Maywood theater at 115 South Pine street in the suburb, crashed into the body of the auditorium in the early morning hours yesterday. No one was in the building at the time. Damage was estimated at about $2,000.

Cicero, Berwyn and Riverside, as well as other suburbs, were without trolley service yesterday, the tracks being so packed with snow and ice it was impossible to operate.

Sergt. Edward Ritter of the Oak Park police was kept busy all day yesterday as an unofficial employment agency for the casuals who sought shelter at the station. More than fifty men were sent out by the police officer to shovel snow off the sidewalks before Oak Park homes. Some of the men earned from $3 to $5 over Sunday, it being the first wages most of them had earned in many moons.

Police at the Willow Springs county highway station said last night that hundreds of cars attempting to negotiate the county highways were stalled along the roads. Most of the highways were open, but traveling was difficult, and without chains extremely precarious.

150 KILLED, 800 HURT IN QUAKES; KINGS TO RESCUE

1,000 Buildings Collapse in Balkan States.

BULLETIN.

TOKIO, Japan, March 8.—(Special.)—A violent earthquake at Hokkaido this afternoon was felt slightly as far south as Tokio. Entire northern Japan was rocked, but no report has been received on the number of deaths. The shocks broke the seismograph at Tokio, where one house was destroyed and telephone and telegraph lines were felled.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, March 8.—King Alexander of Jugo-Slavia and King Boris of Bulgaria left their capitals today personally to direct relief work after a series of earthquakes in the last two days which caused 150 deaths and injuries to at least 800 persons in the Balkans. One thousand buildings have been destroyed and thousands are homeless.

Today's two shocks, which threw thousands into a panic, extended from Bulgaria to the Black sea. The seismograph here registered the quakes at about 300 miles from Belgrade. The needle of the instrument was dislodged, something which has never happened here before. The heaviest shock occurred at 4 a. m., and caused the most damage.

Six Villages Wiped Out.

King Alexander, accompanied by Gen. Pera Shivkovithc, prime minister, went to Skolpje, the center of a district laid in ruins. Six villages were wiped out there. The population is sleeping in tents. The Red Cross at Skolpje is caring for the injured and homeless.

Besides being homeless, the terror stricken victims in southern Jugo-Slavia are without water as the quakes destroyed the wells. With most of the telephone and telegraph lines down, only fragmentary reports are being received. It is believed that an official check will reveal many more deaths. The bridge over the Varda collapsed, delaying rescue trains to Skolpje.

Two children were killed in the village of Ljaski in Bulgaria, when the walls of their home crashed on them. No other deaths were reported. King Boris tonight is rushing to Bulgarian Macedonia from Sofia aboard a rescue train carrying food, clothing and medical supplies. In Sofia residents ran to the streets, fearing to return to their homes. Several localities reported cracked walls and fallen chimneys.

According to reports from Istanbul, the earthquakes were felt in eastern Thrace and at Adrianople. No damage was reported. Virtually all Macedonia was rocked.

70 Houses Fall in Greece.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ATHENS, Greece, March 8.—Earth shocks which struck the frontier between here and Jugo-Slavia this morning wrecked 70 houses. Most of the dwellings were in the region of the Greek village Kavala. The center of the earth shocks were reported at Kavala and Drama.

Rising Seine Spreads Fear.

PARIS, March 8.—(AP)—The river Seine rose a foot above the 14 foot alarm mark on the Austerlitz bridge today, causing consternation among those who live in the low lying suburbs, some of which already are under water. Soldiers were feeding those marooned in Viry and Chatillon, and authorities in towns along the Seine and the Marne were building bridges of boats.

Snow in the provinces has caused the Meuse, Loire, Allier and Rhone to overflow. The streets in Chalons-sur-Marne were inundated and the Meuse was disquieting in the vicinity of St. Mihiel and Bar-le-Duc.

Europe Swept by Blizzard.

LONDON, March 8.—(AP)—A belated winter storm with snow and icy gales held Europe in its grip over the week-end. Surrounding waters were lashed to a fury with resultant damage to small shipping. Great Britain had the coldest weather of the year, with snow in many places. Eastern Scotland was covered with the deepest snow in years. Sheep farmers there have lost half of the season's yield of lambs.

In the North sea the steamer Tern was sunk after a collision with the steamer City of Malines. Her crew of sixteen was saved.

Missing Tug Reaches Safety After 40 Hour Storm Battle

The missing 50 foot fishing tug, Palmer, with four men aboard, pulled into the Ogden slip, near Navy pier, at 11 o'clock last night, ending a harrowing battle against storm swept Lake Michigan in which the little motor driven vessel was buffeted about by waves 15 feet high. Its home port is Kenosha, Wis. The boat had been on the storm swept lake for more than 40 hours.

The fishermen, Capt. Alfred Shellswick, the owner; Joseph Johnson, Charles Sinkbeil, and Walter Garret, were met by Capt. John O. Anderson of the United States coast guard at the mouth of the river and given food and steaming hot coffee. Both boat and crew were in good condition. Capt. Shellswick phoned his wife in Kenosha and she told him to return home. The tug sailed at once.

The Palmer left Kenosha before dawn Saturday morning, headed for the fishing grounds 4 miles southeast to set its nets. During the morning the gale arose, bringing in the blinding snow. The tug became lost in the storm as it tried to find its way back to port.

Late Saturday afternoon the tug was reported missing at Kenosha and Capt. A. E. Kristofferson of the Kenosha coast guard, set out to search for the craft. Life guards from Chicago to Kenosha, headed by Capt. Anderson of Chicago; Capt. Otto Fricke of Evanston, and Harbor Master Adam Detlock of Waukegan, joined in the search.

The hunt, abandoned during the night because of terrific waves, was resumed at daybreak yesterday. Capt. Anderson and four men ventured 20 miles northeast of Grosse Point, encountering waves which almost capsized their boat. At dark last night the patrol was again abandoned, and belief was general the Palmer had gone down. Shortly before 11 o'clock last night the dim lights of the fishing tug were sighted, and not long afterward she docked, coated with ice but undamaged.

EIGHT HONEST MEN HELP TWO THIEVES PUSH STALLED AUTO

The deep snow and the police radio last night made possible the quick return of an automobile that had been taken from Hiram H. Rockenbach of Fairbury, Ill., and the arrest of the two robbers who had tossed him out of it at Hamlin and Maypole avenues.

Rockenbach, who is employed by the Chicago Motor club, told the police of the robbery shortly after 9 p. m. A few minutes later a woman, unidentified, called the Fillmore street station.

"I just heard your radio about the car with the Illinois number 740-656 being stolen," she said. "The car is stuck over here at Polk street and Kilpatrick avenue, and if you hurry you may get hers in time to catch the robbers."

Policemen Frank Perkins, William Jannisch, and George Armbruster arrived with drawn pistols. There was one man at the wheel of the stolen car and nine others trying to push it out of the snow. Eight of the latter group were honest citizens merely trying to be helpful. But all threw up their hands at Perkins' command.

A rapid questioning satisfied the police that the man at the wheel, Joseph Nangle, 33 years old, 3452 Fulton avenue, and Thomas Nolan, 26 years old, 2705 West Washington boulevard, were the robbers. They were taken to the Fillmore street station, where Rockenbach identified them. Besides the car, they had taken $4 from him.

SEVEN DEATHS LAID TO STORM IN CHICAGO AREA

Inspecting the roof of his home at 113 West 13th street yesterday to see whether it was in danger of caving in from the weight of snow, Antone Zulst, 57 years old, a retired contractor, slipped and fell three stories to his death. Six other fatalities attributed directly or indirectly to the storm were reported. The victims:

John E. Nyman, 35 years old, 1642 Berwyn avenue, collapsed and died on the doorstep of his friend, Albert Miller, 3316 North Paulina street, from over-exertion walking through the storm.

W. Likeon, 18 years old, 3325 Fulton street, electrocuted while working on a repair car of the surface lines at Chicago and Ashland avenues.

Ben Riccio, 40 years old, died in South Chicago hospital of injuries suffered when, blinded by snow, he failed to see, and was struck by the bucket of a crane in the Pennsylvania yards at 116th street.

OAKLAND PONTIAC
TWO FINE CARS

Residents Get Food; Few Beggars on Streets.

This is the second of a series of articles on Russia by Henry Wales, Paris correspondent of The Tribune, who is now touring the soviet republics. Mr. Wales says soviet officials have invited him that he may write without restrictions. "They only request that I write what I see and make a sincere effort to confirm accuracy," he adds.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Copyright: 1931: By The Chicago Tribune.]

MOSCOW, Feb. 13 [By Mail.]—Streets of the Russian capital present the same animated appearance as ever, with throngs of people scurrying along in the biting cold, apparently hurrying from nowhere to nowhere, all either carrying parcels and bundles or lugging receptacles—bags and nets and the like—in which they can put their acquisitions.

Along the principal downtown streets ropes have been stretched along the curb to keep the pedestrians on the sidewalks and off the streets. Why, nobody knows, as the thoroughfares are practically bereft of vehicular transportation. Street traffic and congestion is certainly one misery that the Russian people are ignorant of.

At several intersections elaborate traffic signals, with the usual red, white, and green lights, are stationed. A special policeman operates them from a raised wooden post. Usually the traffic cop spends his time bemoaning the fact there is no traffic to control.

Few Taxicabs Available.

The big sleighs laden with various sorts of merchandise, chiefly wood and iron bedsteads, tear along the icy thoroughfares, slewing around corners recklessly, the runners threatening to amputate the feet of careless jay walkers. A few taxicabs operate, headquartering around the railway stations and the three hotels. They are Fords and the chauffeurs are the most important-looking youths in town, excepting sentries outside government buildings.

Then there are a few private cars, usually used by soviet officials, dashing in and out of the various gates of the Kremlin, as well as the Red army's motor trucks, carrying supplies for troops, and other articles for such industries as telephones and telegraphs.

I noted a serious reduction in the number of bearded, sad eyed, isvostchiks, the lads who run small sleighs for hire. They say there are only a sixth as many of them now as were but three years ago. It seems that nearly all of them are peasants who leave their farms in the autumn and drive to the city with a horse and sleigh to make some extra cash during the winter.

Counted Absent Relatives.

In the collectivization of farms, the owners counted these absent brothers, uncles, nephews and grandfathers to keep the amount of ground that had been allotted them. But the government inspectors checked up and insisted on seeing all the individuals in the family who, it was claimed, have an interest in the property.

The hurry call went out from the farms for the absentees to return home and claim their rights to their land, and they skedaddled. Some of them, living too far away, sold their horses, or disposed of them to the horse butchers for consumption, or drove home, or chopped up the sleighs for firewood and rode home bareback.

Most of the isvostchicks now operating here are kulaks, formerly "rich peasants," their opulence consisting of being a little wiser than their neighbors and a little more thrifty with their money, so that they frequently took mortgages on adjacent farms and thus increased their own holdings. This class of kulaks resisted the government's grain purchasers a couple of years ago, and for this reason the collectivization of farms was decided upon. The kulaks were disfranchised and thousands of them were exiled to the north.

No Work, No Food!

With no money and no jobs in the strange frozen wilds of the arctic regions, their sole chance of making enough to eat was to work for the state timber cutting gangs. Hence the row over forced labor. The soviet officials insist they are not convicts and are not forced to work. As a matter of fact, this is true. They can work and eke out a miserable existence, or refuse to work and freeze and starve.

With the existing street car rolling stock unable to handle the traffic Moscow authorities are planning construction of a subway, although foreign experts have pointed out that the problem could be solved far more simply, cheaply and rapidly by constructing more tram cars and autobuses. But an underground transportation system sounds more metropolitan and the city fathers are determined to start work on it soon.

Careful observation of the crowds on the streets fails to show any indication of starvation or even undernourishment. Every one seems to be warmly clad, although the clothing of many is patched and torn and roped up, resembling the "makeup" of tramp comedians on the American stage.

Few Beggars on Street.

Thus far I have seen only two beggars, one a boy about 14, outside the new postoffice and telegraph building, kneeling on the pavement, his astrakhan hat on the ground to receive coppers, and the child rocking back and forward on his haunches with his arms folded before his face like a dervish praying.

The other was a thin, wild eyed man, carrying a tiny baby, half thrust under his tattered great coat to keep it warm, and asking money to buy food for the infant.

I had expected to see emaciation and lack of clothing, in view of the admittedly serious crisis through which the country is passing as a result of the intensifying concentration on the execution of the five year plan, but the results are about what I saw in Germany, Austria, and Hungary after the war and in the Ruhr and other sections of the reich during the final acute phases of the depreciation of the mark.

Never once did I actually see what looked like a bona fide case of starvation in Germany, even immediately after the armistice, when I visited Berlin, Nuremberg, Stuttgart, Munich, and several other cities, nor did I see any of the terrible sights I had been reading about in press dispatches when I visited Vienna in the "starvation" period between 1919 and 1921, the days of American food relief.

Get Enough to Eat.

Things seem approximately the same here. Persons whose meat cards entitle them to meat rations sixteen times a month frequently only receive it four or five times in that period, but they do get bread, and they manage to obtain potatoes and some cabbage. And, after all, Russians have been living for generations on just that fare, and the great bulk of the population never hoped for a bite of meat except on holidays and church fête days under the old régime.

One thing has hit the city dweller, the worker, right where he lives, and that is the closing of so many saloons and the ever growing scarcity of liquor, beer and vodka. Gradually the saloons are being crowded out of existence, their premises commandeered for more state stores and co-operatives. Taxes are increased on beverages sold and more and more difficulties are being encountered in getting wood to heat the places.

It's a good thing the Russians wear themselves out tramping the streets all day, so that by evening they are tired. They go to bed [it's the only warm spot, anyway] and get plenty of sleep, instead of sitting up half the night drinking fierce beer or fiery vodka and listening to tzigane singers below their mournful refrains.

SOVIET PREMIER THREATENS U. S. WITH TRADE BAN

Sees Capitalist Nations Facing Grave Crisis.

MOSCOW, March 8.—(AP)—The sixth all union soviet congress convened today with Premier Vyacheslaff Molotoff making a violent attack on the United States and other capitalistic countries in his maiden speech.

He challenged the rest of the world on economic prosperity, denounced charges of dumping and forced labor and declared the American "foolish Fish bill"—framed by Representative Hamilton Fish Jr. after a congressional investigation into communist activities—undoubtedly would affect trade relations between the two countries.

"America must remember," he declared, "that the imports of the union of the socialist soviet republics depend upon her exports."

Delegates Cheer Stalin.

The Grand Opera house was crowded with 3,479 delegates from all parts of the soviet union attending, and with Joseph Stalin, K. E. Voroshiloff, Michael Kalinin, and other communist chieftains sitting in the presidium on the stage.

When Stalin's name was read as a member of the presidium, the audience rose and cheered him for nearly five minutes with shouts of "long live Stalin," the communist leader appeared somewhat worn by the strain of work and stood with head bowed during the shouting. He finally brought the cheering to a finish by sitting down.

Stalin seemed in good humor, for he, Kalinin and Voroshiloff shook with silent laughter when one told a joke during Molotoff's long speech.

Cites "Starving in U. S."

Molotoff, who is president of the council of people's commissars, and thus is the equivalent of a premier in most countries, dwelt on the economic crisis throughout the world and called the attention of the delegates to a statement by an American senator that a thousand persons are starving to death daily in the United States."

He asked the delegates to compare this situation to that in the U. S. S. R. where, he said, there was no unemployment and no starvation.

"The crisis in capitalist countries is not decreasing, but increasing," he continued. "Production has decreased 32 per cent in the United States and 29 per cent in England.

"There are no signs of improvement in the capitalistic countries. They seem to have fallen into a trap from which there is no escape. The bourgeois economist does not know what to do. The German economist, Bon, says that capitalism is breathing its last when a rich country like America has failed to overcome the crisis.

"Lloyd George has said that if social insurance for the unemployed were stopped there would be revolution in England tomorrow. France blames the unrest in her colonies on bolshevism. That is absurd, nobody believes it. Germany, France, Italy and England are trying to reconcile the differences between them."

A Night Letter from Ring Lardner

Tucson, Ariz., March 8.—[Special.]—The sport pages these days are full of glowing reports about not young ball players who won't be so hot when the weather gets that way. In the American league the pennant race has wound up in a quadruple tie between Philadelphia, Washington, New York, and Cleveland. The National league championship is at the mercy of everybody except the Phillies. The latter are training at Winter Haven, Fla., and are playing two practice games a day. This will have a tendency to even things up in the long run, because when the regular season opens they usually abandon the sport entirely. RING LARDNER.

RICH ST. LOUIS BROKER SHOT TO DEATH IN HIS BED

St. Louis, Mo., March 8.—(AP)—James McCluney, 50, wealthy and socially prominent investment broker, was found shot to death in bed at his Pershing avenue home here this afternoon. An army service automatic from which one shot had been fired through the heart, was found beside the body. No one heard the shot.

Physicians and police held to a theory of suicide, prompted by illness. McCluney, a partner in McCluney & Co., spent last week in a hospital, but returned home Saturday, apparently on the road to recovery.

Associates of McCluney said he emerged from the stock market crashes of 1929 and 1930 without loss.

Swanson Praises Work of His Staff.

State's Attorney Swanson announced yesterday that the "blue sky" division of his office was responsible during the year 1930 for refunding to "suckers" a total of $3,626,990. The report was recently released by the prosecutor to the various organizations interested in preventing the duping of the public by the sale of questionable stocks and bonds.

The money refunded to the public through the efforts of the prosecutor's office is tabulated by him in his report as follows:

Where respondents admitted liability	$ 727,320
Where respondents paid, but would not admit liability—estimated..	2,800,000
Approved by the court after prosecutions had been started..	99,670
Total restitutions	$3,626,990

The office heard more than 1,797 complaints of victims of so-called sharp practices, which many times do not involve criminal liability, it was pointed out. In addition, warnings were issued to 34 concerns about to start business and 27 actual raids were made on racketeers' offices.

"The state's attorney's hearings on alleged violations of the Illinoi securities law, held publicly every Friday afternoon in the county building, have been conducted throughout the year with a decided improvement in procedure by Assistant State's Attorneys L. P. Holt and H. S. Weinberg, working in conjunction with A. Wayne Clemens, representing the secretary of state, and Mortimer C. Grover, manager of the Investors' Protective bureau," reads the report.

Handle 40 Cases a Week.

"With this perfected procedure, following closely that of the courts, and a careful compilation and preliminary study of the facts regarding each complaint, we are now able to handle effectively and with dispatch an average call of forty set cases at each Friday afternoon session.

"These 40 cases are selected from approximately 150 complaints, filed weekly in room 507, county building, but are of such character that the respondents are given a courtesy citation to appear and show cause why they should not be prosecuted for violation of the Illinois securities law. All other complaints are given immediate attention, particularly those involving bucketshops and unregistered dealers, brokers and salesmen, in which instances we proceed at once to raid their offices? The publicity given these raids by the press has been most valuable in this work.

Attracts Attention of U. S.

"The procedure followed and results obtained at these Friday hearings attracted nation-wide attention, in that no other law enforcing agency uses this direct method to protect the investing public.

"We have had as visitors several state securities commissioners, sitting judges, state's attorneys from adjacent states, chambers of commerce representatives, federal commissioners, educators, editors, and other persons interested in finding a way to protect the investing public."

CONVICTED OF KILLING.

Ogallala, Neb., March 8.—(AP)—Wilbur Greene, 28, Ogallala commercial trucker, was convicted in District court here early today of manslaughter in connection with the death of Floyd Jennings, a barber. Judge J. L. Tewell said sentence will be pronounced late this week.

AUTO ACCIDENTS TAKE TWO LIVES; TOLL NOW 231

Three deaths which occurred yesterday as a result of automobile accidents raised the Cook county motor toll since Jan. 1 to 231. The victims:

Louis Michaelson, 40 years old, 3428 West Monroe street. Died at his home of injuries suffered on Jan. 27 when he was struck by a car at Washington and Dearborn streets. The driver was Leonard Emerich of the Belmont hotel.

Marius Jensen, 45 years old, 6025 Ingleside avenue. Found lying in the street at Cottage Grove avenue and 52d street yesterday, and is believed to have been struck by a motorist who did not stop. Identification was made through a union card found in one of his pockets.

John Moore, 51 years old, of 9236 Tully avenue, Oak Lawn. Died yesterday of injuries received earlier when he was run over by a driverless automobile near his home. The car, owned by Harry Fortin of Oak Lawn, a friend, was stalled in the snow. Moore and Fortin pushed it. The car, in reverse gear, suddenly backed, injuring Moore.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 8.—Lady Cynthia Mosley, granddaughter of the late Levi Z. Leiter of Chicago, today denounced as "cheek and humbug" the demands of the Labor party that she resign her seat in the house of commons. She did this while arguing for the cause of a "new party," founded by her husband, Sir Oswald Mosley, who was too ill to appear, before a hall full of hecklers at Birmingham.

Lady Cynthia had the political stage to herself, and the audience she met was ready to give and take. She said she was forced to sever connections with the Labor party because it lacked "the guts" to govern. Her first appearance was in her own constituency, Stoke on Trent, where she addressed an audience of 4,000.

"When it comes to resigning you ought to ask the Labor government to resign, not me," she told the jeering crowd. "I wouldn't have the cheek to come before you at the next election after supporting this government, with which I heartily disagree. It is time you had a government with the guts to govern."

GANDHI OFF FOR HOME HE LEFT TO LEAD REVOLT

Thousands Cheer Him as He Boards Train.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW DELHI, India, March 8.—Setting out for his home, which he has not seen since he trudged out of it a year ago on his famous march to the sea, which ended in his arrest and the Indian revolution, Mahatma Gandhi left New Delhi at 8 o'clock this evening for Ahmedabad.

Thousands jammed the station and adjoining streets and the "holy man" only gained the train with the greatest difficulty. As usual he took his place in a third class compartment filled with peasants returning to their villages. He was accompanied by two secretaries and Miss Slade, daughter of the British admiral, and a few provincial All-India Nationalist congress leaders.

Arriving at Ahmedabad tomorrow evening he will pause at Assam. When he set out a year ago he publicly vowed never to return to live at Assam until India won independence.

Insists Vow Still Stands.

"I do not consider that I am breaking my vow by merely visiting Assam," Gandhi said tonight. "I want to visit the children whom I have not seen for a year. But I shall not stay. My vow still stands."

After two days at Ahmedabad the Indian leader will swing down through the country districts of Khaira and Surat towards Bombay, arriving at the metropolis on March 16. It was in the villages of Khaira and Surat where the Gandhi movement really began and where the peasants stubbornly held out against paying taxes until independence was gained. Now their saint must advise them to pay the revenues, trusting that he will win independence for them later on.

At Bombay the Mahatma will work out a plan for continuing the foreign cloth boycott. He will return to New Delhi March 19 to confer with the princes whose chamber is to convene at that time. And after three days he will journey to Karachi for the annual convention of the All-India congress.

His Election Anticipated.

Extremist congressmen are all ready to fight him on the ground that he surrendered to the British; but he alone so completely dominates the situation today that it is almost certain that the Nationalists will again appoint him their dictator and their representative at the next round table conference.

In addressing thousands of women released from Purdah prisons at a special meeting from which men were excluded, Gandhi today exhorted them to get behind the movement to influence their husbands, fathers, and sons to solve the Hindu-Moslem difficulty. It was a strange sight, with the "holy man" squatting on a platform like an Athenian sage, while the women, who ordinarily never appear in public unless heavily veiled, hung on his every word.

The informal conversations between Gandhi and Shaukat Ali and other Moslem leaders continued today. Mrs. Sarojini Naidu, Indian poetess and one of Gandhi's chief lieutenants, will remain in New Delhi to carry on the negotiations. It was stated in government circles today that the second round table conference will not likely take place before autumn, although Gandhi is pushing for it to open immediately.

Visions Bitter Social War.

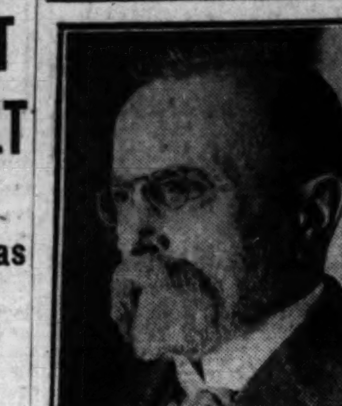

Expressing satisfaction that self-government seems about to be achieved, but giving warning that independence in itself means very little to the sweating masses, Shiva Rao, Indian trade union leader and labor delegate to the London round table conference, today predicted that the termination of the political struggle between Great Britain and India will transform itself immediately into a bitter social and economic war, in which the vast hordes of workers and peasants will demand the rights and privileges they have never enjoyed under any government, be it foreign or native.

"Assuming self-government is granted to India, to the satisfaction of the present leaders, it does not mean a period of contentment or constructive work," declared Shiva, who represents the moderate elements of the labor movement in India.

"The masses, who have been awakened by the trade union movement and by Gandhi's teachings during the present struggle, will not be slow in demanding prompt fulfillment of the promises made to them. They will apply the very methods of noncoöperation which yielded such striking results during the present political struggle, to obtain them."

He insists that the class struggle will succeed the political revolution.

CLARA DORIA IS DEAD; FAMED AS AN OPERA SINGER

Boston, Mass., March 8.—(AP)—Clara Kathleen Rogers, celebrated on the operatic stage here and abroad as Clara Doria, died suddenly at her Beacon street home here today.

Mrs. Rogers was born in Cheltenham, England, in 1844. The daughter of John Barrett, widely known composer and musician, often referred to as the "father of English opera."

She was educated in Germany and made her debut at Turin, Italy, in 1861. She sang on most of the operatic stages abroad and in America for the next twelve years.

ATTORNEY CAN'T FIND WOMAN IN PARTY GIRL CASE

Authorities Unmoved by Disappearance.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 8.—[Special.]—Allen Lund, attorney for Olive Clark Day, and Buron Fitts, district attorney, clashed today over the disappearance of the woman, who is awaiting hearing on charges of operating a Hollywood white slave ring of high school girls.

OLIVE DAY.

Lund expressed deep concern that the woman had not kept promises to communicate with him following her release from county jail on $5,000 bonds.

"I will make formal request on the district attorney's office to find her if she has not voluntarily appeared tomorrow," he said. "There are serious charges against many persons touched in this case, and some of them may seek to remove a principal witness. I fear for Miss Day's safety."

Fitts Not Excited.

"If Miss Day does not appear at the time of her preliminary hearings on March 31," said Mr. Fitts, "this office will begin to get concerned. But I feel that the district attorney's office will probably be able to locate her."

Miss Day did not return to the apartment with the damask hangings, incense pots, disappearing wall doors and bedroom peepholes at 2753 Glen Green street, where she and Jobelmann had carried on their headquarters since 1928 up to her arrest. The district attorney's men put the place under their control when they arrested Miss Day, eight days ago.

Blayney Mathews, chief investigator, said that he, Policewoman Marjorie Fairchild and Deputy District Attorney Florence Woodhead had checked up on more than half a dozen men whose names appeared more than once in Miss Day's record of transactions. Mathews refused to name any of the men. He said he thought that several "prominent persons" would later be involved in the hearings.

Hunt Other Love Brokers.

Leslie P. White, another investigator for the district attorney's office, said that attention had been turned to the reported existence of one or more additional Hollywood love tryst clearing houses, which, as in the Jobelmann-Day case, specialized on recruiting girls under 20 years of age.

MARRIED 16 TIMES, BUT LATEST BRIDE IS ONLY HIS THIRD

New York, March 8.—(AP)—William Seabury, vaudeville actor, was honeymooning with his third bride today, although he had been married fifteen times previously. She is Holley Hall, musical comedy actress. They were married in Hoboken two days ago, it was disclosed tonight.

It's all quite simple. After Seabury married Margaret Irving, an actress, in New York, they were married thirteen times more—everywhere their paths crossed on the road—Port Chester, New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Buffalo, Indianapolis, Louisville, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Seattle, Fresno, and Los Angeles.

But when Miss Irving decided Seabury's attentions to other women entitled her to a divorce she got it.

KID WEIL'S BOND GETS CAUGHT IN A SNOWDRIFT

Decatur, Ill., March 8.—[Special.]—Otto Weil of Chicago spent an uncomfortable night marooned in the snow 10 miles north of here. In his pocket he carried a real estate security of $27,500 to be used to bail his brother, Joseph [Yellow Kid] Weil from the Macon county jail, where he is being held for confidence game.

Leaving Chicago Saturday, Weil and his machine were caught in the snow storm and stalled on the highway. Workmen finally cleared the road today and Weil proceeded here. The bond of his brother is tentatively set at $5,000 each on two charges. The bail of the Yellow Kid's associate, Fred Buckminister, also in jail, is similar. Whether the brother will offer security for both will be revealed at the hearing tomorrow before Justice Hoyt.

FALL IN HOME FATAL.

Injuries sustained when he fell at home Feb. 18 proved fatal to Beneditto Fulci, 75 years old, 729 Norton street, who died yesterday in the Mother Cabrini hospital.

RUSSIAN COURT TO FIX FATE OF 14 REBELS TODAY

MOSCOW, March 8.—(AP)—The government today completed its case against 14 members of the Menshevik [Social Democrat] party, accused of plotting to overthrow the soviet government, and announced a verdict would be returned tomorrow morning.

The final day of the trial, which started last Sunday, saw the defendants reiterating their guilt and expressing penitence for conspiring to end the present régime by outside intervention and sabotage. All pleaded for leniency except Nicholas Sukhanov and Michael Yakubovish, who are among the five for whom death sentences have been asked.

Sukhanov made the longest speech today, declaring that he could not ask for mercy after the denunciation he had received from the government prosecutor, N. B. Krylenko. He appeared to be convinced he would be shot and seemed resigned to this fate. The prosecutor termed him the most malicious of the defendants. Yakubovich, who yesterday also told the court he desired to die, declined to make any further statement today.

ROBBER RENTS TARGET RIFLE; SHOOTS OWNER

Two men entered the shooting gallery of Otto Messer at 2424 West Madison street last night and rented two .22 caliber rifles. After a few practice shots at the targets one of the men turned the rented rifle against Messer and informed him he was being held up.

Messer was slow about lifting his hands and the man fired, striking him in the abdomen. The gallery proprietor seized him, however, and held him until the police arrived. The other man, meanwhile, had fled. At the county hospital Messer's condition was reported to be serious.

THE DANERSK COLLECTOR'S PIECE FOR THE MONTH OF MARCH

It was ingeniously fashioned so that the top rested upon two leaves which rose as they were pulled out, thus adding length without disturbing objects lying on the table.

We have adapted this Old English device to a simple Early American tavern table of maple and white walnut. The result is one of the most fetching and convenient little coffee tables that ever stood in a living room.

For the month of March only we are offering this quaint piece for $19.50. Frankly, the price does not adequately reflect our cost of building the table; we are making the price unusually low so as to prompt new friends to collect Danersk Furniture.

Now you can also see many other new pieces, equally choice in joinery, which we have recently designed and built for living room, dining room, bedroom. And here's the last bit of good tidings—prices of all Danersk furniture have been adjusted to the lower current costs of making.

How Many Women Will Give 25 Hours to GAIN 10 YEARS OF YOUTH?

Reduce you? Of course, the Muscle Sense System will—in a surprisingly short time. But that is only a small part of its wonderful benefits.

Your skin will look alive and young again. Your eyes will be brighter. You will feel healthier, more energetic.

So few women realize that overweight is a really serious matter, affecting health as well as beauty. Usually the entire trouble lies in the muscles controlling the heart, lungs, liver, kidneys, and intestines. Muscle Sense strengthens and tones these vital muscles. Your circulation improves. Wastes are carried off. Health is built up while weight decreases.

"It doesn't seem possible that just 25 hours could make such a change in me," women tell Mr. White. It seems miraculous to them—yet this is what Mr. White has accomplished for thousands of women. His 24 years of experience, and his university training in anatomy, have made him an authority both on reducing and building women to pleasing proportions. No steam baths, drugs or starvation diets are used.

Muscle Sense will reduce double chin, ankles, thighs, waist, hips or abdomen. It is the health way to youthful contours.

50% Reduction

This is an unusual opportunity to register for either class or individual instruction at the lowest rates Mr. White has ever offered. This offer is good only until March 16 at 9 p. m.

Consult Mr. White today. He will be glad to talk over your individual case and give you the benefit of his scientific knowledge and experience. No obligation.

COAL TEAMSTERS OUST OFFICIALS; PICK NEW ONES

Police on Guard When Union Rebels.

Coal teamsters went into action yesterday and, although they had met only to oust Red Barker, convict and public enemy, from his union office as business agent, they also fired their president, Milton Booth, and John Sheridan, another business agent, as well. Booth has been president of the Coal Teamsters' union for more than twenty-five years. In 1917 he was labeled czar when he tied up all coal deliveries and had the city at his mercy for a day. Sheridan has also been an official of the union for more than twenty years.

The meeting was conducted in the Capitol building under the protection of twenty-five policemen under command of Sergt. Michael Ahern of the state's attorney's office. There is a question, however, of the validity of the action taken under the union's by-laws, as the call for the meeting was only for the stated purpose of removing Barker.

The teamsters met pursuant to an almost unanimous vote—by mail—to call a meeting at which Barker's office would be declared vacant. Supplementing that, Assistant State's Attorneys Donald Thomson and Charles E. Lounsbury went to Joliet penitentiary on Friday and got Barker's signature to a resignation.

Calls Meeting Illegal.

Thomas Ferriter was chosen as temporary chairman and the meeting was called to order. Sheridan was present and was advising the men that the meeting was an illegal one and urging that no action be taken. President Booth had threatened to suspend any member attending the meeting, but the attendance was more than one hundred.

"Who is Barker, and why do we have to put up with him?" asked Grant Irwin, who had to brush Sheridan aside to get the attention of the meeting when Ferriter called it to order. "He never saw a coal truck and never swung a shovel. He mustled his way into this union with a pistol and right today we ought to muscle him out without a pistol."

New Officers Elected.

Within a few moments Barker's resignation was accepted. Then came a motion to fill all offices, the mover saying no election of the union had been held in two years. By unanimous vote the following were elected: George Roy Baker, president; James Lynch, secretary and business agent; Walter Collins, recording secretary; Walter Thompson, vice president, and Frank Kasper, chairman of the board of trustees.

Lynch was not present but his election restored to him the office he abandoned when Barker, with two other gunmen, shot him at his summer home near Brown's Lake, Wis., and threatened to kill or kidnap his children if he ever appeared at union headquarters again. Barker, at that time, was newly released on parole from the Joliet penitentiary and, with the aid of Michael Reilly, William Clifford, Thomas [Cy] Cawley, and Thomas McElligott, all since slain, became the leading racketeer of the city.

Acquitted in Murder Case.

During their short tenure as bosses of the Midwest Garage Owners' association—an organization they had taken by gunpower from David Ablint—Barker, Reilly, and Clifford were accused of the murder of a garage attendant and fled the city. They were captured, however, and brought back but were acquitted.

This trial cost the coal teamsters' union more than $15,000, according to court records. Barker was reincarcerated in prison but only for a short time in 1929, and the union paid to get him out. After trouble in which Barker was accused of calling strikes to aid the Coal Merchants' association, Barker was again put back in Joliet and he is there yet, although City Sealer Serritella, Capone lieutenant and member of Mayor Thompson's cabinet, was reported to be trying to effect his release.

FRANCE TAKES ITS CENSUS; DOES JOB IN ONE DAY

PARIS, March 8.—(AP)—Sensitive women and bachelors as well as every body else had to reveal their ages today to an army of officials which combed France to take the quinquennial census. France counts her population in one day, but it will be four or five months before the 155 employés in the census office complete their tabulation of figures.

It is not expected the population will show an increase beyond the unofficial 1929 count of 41,000,000. However, concentration in industrial sections may bring about 27 new faces to the chamber of deputies, which at present numbers 611.

Every individual in France and, technically, even infants must fill in a blank telling his birthplace, age, number of times divorced, occupation and where employed. Heads of households also must state the number of persons who passed the night under their roofs. Apartment house concierges in the cities gathered the blanks from those they serve, but in the country sections the census takers knocked at every door.

William Erlandson Jr., 2 years old, was bound hand and foot as a prank by four other boys late yesterday and thrown across the tracks of the Chicago and North Western railroad in Evanston in the path of an unseen approaching train. He wriggled off the rails and rolled down the embankment just as the train roared by. The story of the boy's experience was revealed last night at his home at 1145 Elmwood avenue, Evanston, where he was taken in a hysterical condition. William later furnished authorities with the names of his tormentors.

FLIES NAVY PLANE FALLING ON CITY INTO A JUNGLE

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, March 8.—The escape from death of the pilot and passengers of an American naval amphibian plane, which crashed in the jungles of Venezuela, was described here on the return of the steamship Hannibal of the United States navy department.

The plane, which was being used in surveying the San Juan river area of Venezuela, was over the town of Maturin when an aileron jammed. Lieut. Jennings, the pilot, is said to have shouted to the others in the plane: "Hold on, boys, we're going down!"

The tail of the machine wagged as the craft plunged downward, but the pilot managed to direct the craft toward the jungles on the outskirts of the city. In doing so he saw a clearing in which he succeeded in landing. The plane, however, was traveling at great speed and smashed into a tree. Lieut. Jennings was cut on the head and Lieut. Brady, navigator, received a sprained ankle. Two others were unhurt. The plane was a complete wreck.

Santo Domingo Official Kills Another During Fete

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic, March 8.—(AP)—Manuel De Jesus Gomez, an attorney and member of the land tribunal, was shot to death last night at a reception in the home of John Abbes, Argentine consul, by Marino Cestero, assistant to the secretary to the president. The slain official was president of the Union club and was consul for Czecho-Slovakia.

GEN. J. E. STUART, A SOLDIER IN 3 U. S. WARS, DEAD

Noted Veteran Succumbs After Brief Illness.

Brig. Gen. James E. Stuart, who served in the civil, Spanish-American, and world wars, died yesterday morning in his home at 3144 West Monroe street. He was in his 89th year and had been ill from a complication of infirmities for the last few weeks.

Gen. Stuart went into a coma four days ago from which he never emerged. At his bedside were his wife, Mrs. Marie Stuart; a daughter, Mary; a sister, Mrs. Robert H. Catlin, and a friend, George H. Merritt.

Military honors will be paid at his funeral on Wednesday afternoon at the Warren Avenue Congregational church. Burial will be in Forest Home cemetery.

Decorated by Rosecrans.

When the civil war broke out Stuart, a youth of 20, was studying law in Oshkosh, Wis. He enlisted in the 21st Wisconsin infantry volunteers. At the battle of Stone River in 1862, as a sergeant then, he was decorated by Gen. Rosecrans for saving the colors of the regiment. He was a captain in 1863 and at times led the advance guard of Gen. Sherman. He personally received the surrender of the city of Raleigh, N. C. During the war he participated in the battles at Murfreesboro, Chattanooga, Chickamauga, Missionary Ridge, Lookout Mountain, Resaca, Kenesaw Mountain and Peach Tree creek.

At the end of the war Stuart returned to Oshkosh and entered the government postal service. On Oct. 4, 1870, he married Miss Marie Roberts, daughter of one of the first settlers in Iowa City, Ia. Six years later he was made chief postal inspector at Chicago, in which post he served, with leaves for military absence, for 44 years until his retirement in 1920.

He was in personal charge of federal activities against mail robbers and counterfeiters, and gained recognition for his meritorious service in this work.

Retires as Brigadier General.

In the Spanish-American war Gen. Stuart, then a major, served with the 2d Illinois infantry and in the secret service. He later was sent to Porto Rico to establish postal service on the island. On the return of his regiment he was elected colonel and when he retired at the age of 65 he was given the rank of brigadier general.

At the entry of the United States into the world war Gen. Stuart, at the request of Gov. Lowden, organized the 11th infantry, I. N. G., and actively commanded the regiment until after the armistice was signed.

For many years Gen. Stuart was the grand marshal of Chicago's Memorial day parades.

Gen. Stuart was born in Forfar, Scotland, July 3, 1842, in the parish made famous by Barrie's "The Little Minister." His parents brought him to Wisconsin when he was ten years old.

EDWARD E. DENISON FACES COURT TODAY ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Washington, D. C., March 8.—(AP)—Edward E. Denison, who last week completed eight terms as Republican representative from the 25th Illinois district, will go on trial in District of Columbia Supreme court tomorrow on liquor possession charges.

E. E. DENISON. [Acme Photo.]

Denison, defeated in the 1930 election, was indicted Nov. 19, 1929, ten months after prohibition agents found a leaky suit case in Union station addressed to his rooms in the house office building. Upon investigation, a trunk containing whisky was found in his office.

The former representative had just returned from a trip to Panama with his nephew, Charles Lane of St. Louis. He said neither the trunk nor the suitcase belonged to him or his nephew.

Agents reported both the suitcase and trunk were addressed to a "John Layne."

"John Layne" was indicted with Denison, but the case was dropped.

Denison was known as a prohibitionist in the house. He voted for the 18th amendment, the Volstead act, and the Jones law providing heavy penalties for major violations.

Loretta Young at Mother's Home; Withers Is in East

Hollywood, Cal., March 8.—[Special.]—Loretta Young, motion picture actress, today was back in the home of her mother, Mrs. Gladys Belzer, which she left fourteen months ago to elope, by plane to Yuma, Ariz., and marry Grant Withers, juvenile actor. The couple have not seen each other for months, Withers being in the east on the stage, while Miss Young stayed here. Members of her family say she will make no step toward divorce.

FIREMAN SAVES ANOTHER'S LIFE WHEN HE FALLS

Fireman Peter J. Kennedy of engine company No. 29 saved the life of a brother fireman, Richard A. Rooney, in fighting a fire at 4139 South Halsted street early yesterday. Kennedy caught Rooney as the latter was falling from the roof of the four story structure.

Rooney lost his footing when he attempted to turn on an extension ladder as he was met by a burst of flames. A story below Kennedy was making his way up the ladder. As he saw Rooney fall Kennedy braced himself to meet the impact and seized the falling fireman by his coat. For a moment Rooney hung over the sidewalk, three stories below, and was then swung back on the ladder.

Rooney was taken to the Mercy hospital suffering from burns on the face and hands. Kennedy, who recently passed his probation period, was recommended for promotion and a medal. The building was practically destroyed.

WOMEN ORGANIZE INDEPENDENTS TO SUPPORT CERMAK

Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank to Head Committee.

Feminine support for the mayoral candidacy of A. J. Cermak under the leadership of women heretofore prominent as Republican and independent leaders was announced yesterday by Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank. She said that a woman's independent committee for Cermak had been formed and will open headquarters today in room 316 at the Hotel La Salle.

Mrs. Fairbank, in making public the names of the sponsors of the organization, explained that its aim will be to swing into the Cermak column thousands of votes of women who wish to help bring about a housecleaning in municipal politics.

Seek Better City Government.

"The women's vote is certain to go far toward putting Mr. Cermak into the mayor's chair," declared Mrs. Fairbank. "All over the city women are demanding better city leadership. The Democratic women already are organized and it will be the purpose of the independent committee to organize those who are Republicans and independents but who cannot vote for Thompson."

Mrs. James W. Morrison, past president of the Illinois League of Women Voters and now an officer of the National League of Women Voters, will serve as one of the vice presidents of the committee. Others include Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, former Republican national committeewoman; Miss Jane Addams, social work leader; Mrs. Murry Nelson, president of the Women's City club; Mrs. Walter Wolf, former chairman of the Ruth Hanna McCormick Volunteers; Mrs. Wilhelm Ludwig, and Miss Genevieve Korkell. Miss Korkell was to have been one of the organizers for Dr. Herman N. Bundesen had he decided to run for mayor. She will head the speakers' bureau of the committee.

Must Register Tomorrow.

Mrs. Emily Washburn Dean and Mrs. Jean C. Weis will carry on the organization work for Cermak in the wards. A series of ward meetings will be held and there will be women's meetings in the loop later in the campaign.

Political workers of both parties will be busy today rounding up voters who will have their last chance to register tomorrow. All voters who have moved since they lasted voted and all unregistered voters must register tomorrow to vote in the mayoralty election. Polling places will be open from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m.

The first task of the women's committee, Mrs. Fairbank said, will be to conduct a telephone campaign today to urge all women to register. The Cermak workers believe that at least 100,000 more names will be placed on the books, which now bear 1,340,566 names. Of these, they say, the larger part will be the Democratic vote.

Refuse Signs for Slogan, Report.

Democratic leaders were aroused over the reported refusal of a large outdoor advertising company to permit billboard display of the newest Cermak slogan: "Chicago Needs a Mayor." They attributed the refusal to the concern's connections with the city administration, but said that the slogan will be used in other types of publicity.

The Democratic managing committee will hold its regular weekly luncheon today at the Steuben club with Mr. Cermak, County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer, and M. S. Szymchak, clerk of the Superior court, as speakers.

Mayor Thompson and a party of political friends, who for the last two weeks have been at Mount Clemens, Mich., returned to Chicago last night.

Toll Bells, Blow Whistles to Warn Blind Pigs of Raids

Lebanon, Pa., March 8.—(AP)—Shrieking factory whistles and tolling bells heralded raids by federal agents on hotels and speakeasies in Mount Carmel, near here, yesterday. The alarm, the agents said, was sounded within a few minutes after they started simultaneously to raid places for which they held warrants. The signal, they said, they believed was given to warn others of the raids. Ten men and a woman were arrested on liquor law charges.

FLYER DELIVERS DISEASE SERUM; BEATS BLIZZARD

POINT BARROW, Alaska, March 8.—(AP)—Winging through a blizzard and frozen Alaskan mountain country, Pilot Joe Crosson has triumphed over death and delivered life giving antitoxin to this diphtheria ravaged village.

Crosson's flight from Fairbanks, completed yesterday in five hours and twenty minutes, was in vivid contrast to the overland rush by dog team with antitoxin from Fairbanks to diphtheria scourged Nome in 1925, when relays of mushers covered 600 miles in five and a half days. At least six lives were lost.

Crosson yesterday flew to Wiseman, 175 miles from Fairbanks, refueled and headed straight over the high Brooks monutain chain and then across the unpopulated snow swept wastes to this isolated spot. The total distance is about 450 miles. Five persons were suffering virulent attacks, several other cases were less serious, and only a fourth of the some 200 exposed residents had been inoculated when the available antitoxin was exhausted. A strict quarantine is being observed while another supply of the serum is awaited. Alger Graham, who was with Sir Hubert Wilkins during one of his arctic explorations, was expected to fly here with more supplies the first of the week.

Mayor Walker Will Start Today on California Trip

New York, March 8.—[Special.]—Mayor Walker's departure for California for a three weeks' vacation, scheduled for today, was postponed by him until tomorrow. DEMOCRAT UNITY IN CHICAGO AIDS CONVENTION BID

Lewis Points to Strife in Other Sections.

While Chicago business leaders were uniting to enter bids for the national conventions of both the Democratic and Republican parties next year, Senator James Hamilton Lewis yesterday pointed out recent political developments which, he said, should give strength to Chicago's position as a logical choice for the Democrats in 1932.

From the viewpoint of politics, Senator Lewis said, Chicago is the foremost city in line for the Democratic convention because of the harmony prevailing among the Democrats in this section. He pointed out that rivalries over candidates and policies are dividing Democrats in other sections.

"At Denver," Senator Lewis said, "Gov. Adams, three times governor of Colorado, is being groomed as a presidential choice on the theory that the nomination should go to the west.

"The Minnesota Democrats wish to get the convention for Minneapolis. They contend that the nomination of a Scandinavian by the Democrats would insure success in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, and virtually all the Mississippi valley that formerly went Republican, and would counterbalance any unfavorable eastern reaction.

Conflict On in Ohio.

"Ohio steps in, offering Cleveland, because her new Gov. White is being put forward as a favorite son. But he is being fought by the friends of former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker and the friends of the new Senator Buckley. It appears that the selection of Cleveland would open just such a conflict as there was in New York between Smith and McAdoo.

"Massachusetts, where a Democrat, Joseph B. Ely, is governor, offers Boston as the convention city. But Connecticut also has a Democratic governor in Prof. Wilbur L. Cross of Yale university, who in addition is editor of the New Haven Register. Connecticut and the other New England states are opposing Boston and would prefer Chicago because they remember that another New Englander, Calvin Coolidge, got his nomination here."

The New York Situation.

"In New York, Gov. Roosevelt, to avoid a recurrence of a Smith-McAdoo imbroglio, among Smith, Raskob and himself, would lean toward Chicago as the preferable choice for the convention.

"Therefore, with political rivalries and jealousies apparent in other localities, the fact remains that the Democrats of Illinois and Chicago are the only ones with peace and harmony to offer at the outset."

It will be noticed that four years ago former Mayor Dever, the Democratic candidate, obtained only 20.74 per cent of the straws in the colored belt, while Mr. Cermak in the present straw voting has received 26.05 per cent. So while Thompson is losing 4,400 supporters in the colored territory—according to the poll—Cermak is gaining 3,300 more votes in that district than the 1927 straw vote credited to Dever.

Other Elections Recalled.

It is politically possible for a Republican candidate to win the city by an enormous plurality when he receives only 60 per cent of the colored votes. Thompson won his first election in 1915 by a plurality of 147,477 votes, when he received only 60.04 per cent of the votes in the First ward and the colored wards. After that contest Thompson catered to the Negroes and in subsequent elections and primaries made them an important factor.

In 1919 Thompson gained only 51.93 per cent of the votes in the First and the colored wards, but that was a three cornered contest. County Clerk Sweitzer polled 30.05 per cent of the votes of that area and former State's Attorney Hoyne, 14.75 per cent.

These two Democrats together got 44.8 per cent of the votes in what is now the first four wards, which demonstrated what a Democrat can do with a properly conducted campaign in these wards. On the basis of the present poll, Mr. Cermak is 18,000 theoretical votes short of reaching that mark in the first four wards.

The Four Wards in the Past.

Since 1919, with one exception, these four wards have returned heavy Republican majorities in all major contests.

In the 1924 presidential election President Coolidge got 76.15 per cent of the votes in these four yards. Former Senator Deneen at the same time got 75.76 per cent of the votes. Former Gov. Small won 71.78 per cent.

In the 1927 mayoralty contest Thompson got 74.99 per cent, which is 2 per cent below the amount which THE TRIBUNE straw vote credited to him before the election.

DANDRUFF
Soon Destroys the Hair

If you want plenty of thick beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid Arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid Arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

UNGUENTINE CONES FOR HEMORRHOIDS

A Scientific Triumph by the Makers of Unguentine

When a real miracle working formula to speedily relieve and end piles is offered to the public through the drug stores of America it doesn't take long for the good news to spread—sales are enormous.

For over 30 years Unguentine Cones have been giving quick, blissful relief from the burning, itching and agony of piles. But that isn't all. In most cases Unguentine Cones cause distressing piles to shrink and the trouble is gone.

Do not neglect piles—you are inviting the knife if you do and operations are painful and expensive.

It costs but 75 cents to learn about the supreme healing and soothing power of Unguentine Cones—at all drug stores. The Norwich Pharmacal Co., Norwich, N. Y.

Mrs. Will Moore Tells Club Members How to Darken Hair

Gray Disappears Overnight

When I see gray I see old age. Youth is every woman's right, so don't let hair get gray. Just use this improved formula made from that wonderful old recipe of common sage tea and sulphur. Nothing better. Gray disappears over night, and after two or three applications your hair will be the exact shade you want. So evenly, so naturally darkened nobody'll ever know. Just pay your druggist 75c for a bottle of Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur and follow the simple directions.

Follow These Simple Rules:

1. Each evening for 42 consecutive evenings (not including Saturday) W-G-N will broadcast 3 songs of yesterday—"Tune Tangles." On each day following the broadcast the Chicago Tribune will print a "Tune Tangle" Crossword Puzzle. Each puzzle will contain the title of one of the songs broadcast the preceding evening. You are invited to listen to the broadcast, solve the Tune Tangle Crossword in the next day's Tribune and name the Song.

2. The Chicago Tribune will pay $5,000.00 in Cash Prizes to the persons who send in the nearest correctly solved and neatest complete sets of answers in accordance with these rules. NOTE: This means that you do not necessarily have to solve each of the 42 Tune Tangles completely to win. The prizes will be paid to the persons whose entries rank highest.

3. The prizes are as follows:

1st Prize			$1,000.00

LEGGE POLICIES WILL CONTINUE ON FARM BOARD

Chairman Stone Points to Co-operative Work.

Washington, D. C., March 8.—[Special.]—During the crucial months ahead of it the federal farm board's policies adopted under Alexander Legge will be carried out without change, James C. Stone, Mr. Legge's successor as chairman of the board, announced today.

"This applies particularly," said Mr. Stone, "to the present operations of the grain stabilization corporation and the cotton stabilization corporation."

The success or failure of the board, it is generally conceded, is going to be determined before next summer is over and the forecasts are not too favorable.

The board's campaign to bring out a reduction in wheat acreage has met a reluctant response. It is true that the spring planting acreage promises to be somewhat smaller than last year's, but the reduction is matched by a larger acreage in fall wheat, which was put in because of favorable weather conditions.

The large amount of 1930 wheat still in the board's hands constitutes a problem for which no solution has yet been evolved. The board's offer of 35 million bushels abroad found a market far from eager.

Added to these factors is the recent statement of Mr. Legge—and now presumably supported by Mr. Stone—that unless some unforeseen circumstances arose the board's stabilization operations would cease on the first of June. Its purchases have been confined to the 1930 crop and no commitments have been made beyond May.

Board Given 500 Millions.

As far as funds are concerned, the board has been given its portion—the full 500 million dollars provided in the creating act—is now out in the world on its own, and need not return and knock at the congressional door, asking for another chance. If it does, there are plenty of senators and congressmen who would be only too glad to turn the dog loose.

With these facts in mind, it is to be noted that Mr. Stone minimized stabilization operations in wheat and cotton and declared them "by no means as important as the many other things the board has done which the public seems to know but little about."

What he emphasized was the board's support of the coöperative movement. The board, he said, was "devoting its major part of its energies and funds to the development of an organized agriculture."

Plans Marketing Work.

Mr. Stone said he looked forward hopefully to the accomplishment of two major objectives—the development of a marketing system operating in the interest of the producer, and progress toward the goal of the adjustment of production to potential demand.

Since the board's establishment, July 15, 1929, he said, financial aid has been extended to 101 associations, many of which are national or regional marketing agencies, composed of hundreds of local coöperative units.

Loans Are Listed.

He listed the loan commitments made to these associations as follows:

To seven associations in the northeastern states—$22,011,312; to fourteen associations in the east-north central states [Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin]—$50,871,541; to twelve associations in the west-north central states [Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, and Kansas]—$18,084,952; to thirty-six associations in sixteen southern states—$136,269,887; to thirty-one associations in the western states—$25,882,211.

In addition, Mr. Stone explained, the board has rendered an extensive investigational and advisory service to coöperative associations, having assisted in 120 major projects of organization.

"We believe that the ultimate goal of farm organization is to organize by commodities," he said, "first into locals, then into regionals, then into national sales agencies. Seven of these national sales agencies have been organized with the assistance of the board and are now functioning.

"We think this program is fundamentally sound. We believe the farmers are beginning to realize that it is up to them to develop it. Neither the farm board nor any other government agency can do it for them. The farm board can help, and will, but the work will have to be done by the farmers themselves.

"One sees and hears a lot these days about how the farm board is going to lose the 500 million dollar revolving fund. Yes, some money may be lost, but any losses sustained will be small in comparison with the benefits to agriculture, and for that matter, to the country as a whole."

PLAN TO KEEP 179 MILLION ACRES OF PUBLIC DOMAIN

Garfield Committee Reports on Conservation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 8.—[Special.]—The Garfield committee on the conservation and administration of the public domain today transmitted a report to President Hoover, in which it recommended that steps be taken at once to make certain that all portions of the remaining unreserved and unappropriated public lands should be placed under responsible administration or regulation. Such a step was necessary, it was said, to insure conservation and beneficial use of the 179 million acres of remaining public domain.

To carry out its suggestion, the committee recommends that congress pass an act granting to the respective public land states under certain conditions all the unreserved, unappropriated public domain within their respective boundaries. It urged also that additional areas of this land, important for national defense, reclamation purposes, reservoir sites, national forests, national parks, national monuments and migratory bird refuges, should be reserved by the federal government for these purposes.

Appointed Year Ago.

The Garfield committee, headed by James R. Garfield, former secretary of the interior, was appointed by the President a year ago. Its mission was to consider the future disposition of the remaining unappropriated public lands and the adoption of a definite program of conservation of grazing resources, either through ownership or control by the states or by federal administration.

It was also directed to look into the conservation of subsurface mineral resources, water resources, and timber lands, and suggest possible changes of administration.

This committee, which had as ex-officio members on its personal roster of twenty-two Secretary of the Interior Wilbur and Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, urged careful administration of our remaining public domain, which now amounts to but one-third of what it was in 1904 and about one-ninth of the total domain owned originally by the United States. It urged that such land as the government did not want for federal uses should be turned over to the states, if they would enact legislation accepting it. Lands which the states would not accept, and which is suitable for grazing, should be converted into national ranges by executive order, the committee said. The committee's principal aim was to insure that all the unappropriated domain should be administered by somebody to avoid waste.

Twenty-three National Parks.

There are twenty-three national parks, with a total area of 12,431 square miles, under the administration of the national park service of the interior department, as follows:

Park—State.	Area in sq. Miles.
Acadia, Maine	16.72
Bryce Canyon, Utah	22.60
Carlsbad Caverns, New Mexico	1.12
Crater Lake, Oregon	249.00
General Grant, California	4.00
Glacier, Montana	1,534.00
Grand Canyon, Arizona	1,000.00
Grand Teton, Wyoming	150.00
Great Smoky Mountains [proposed], North Carolina and Tennessee	248.22
Hawaii, Hawaii	245.00
Hot Springs, Arkansas	1.50
Lassen Volcanic, California	163.30
Mesa Verde, Colorado	80.11
Mount McKinley, Alaska	2,645.00
Mount Rainier, Washington	325.00
Platte, Oklahoma	1.30
Rocky Mountain, Colorado	400.52
Sequoia, California	604.00
Sullys Hill, North Dakota	1.20
Wind Cave, South Dakota	17.00
Yellowstone, Wyoming, Montana, and Idaho	3,426.00
Yosemite, California	1,138.78
Zion, Utah	148.26

In addition to the national parks listed above, there are thirty-two national monuments, with a total area of 3,724.03 square miles administered by the national park service; sixteen monuments, with a total area of 536.22 square miles, administered by the department of agriculture; sixteen national monuments, with a total area of 642.31 square miles, administered by the war department, and eleven national military or other parks, with a total area of 22 square miles, administered by the war department.

Indorse Reclamation.

The Garfield committee indorsed the administration's reclamation policy, which includes the building of Boulder dam and the expenditures of millions in harnessing the waters of the Colorado. It urged federal participation in flood control work and the adoption of a definite policy in handling hydro-electric power development connected with reclamation projects. Some changes in the present homesteading policy also were suggested, the committee stating that but little land remained that was suitable for that purpose.

The committee made twenty special recommendations. One of these urged that congress authorise the President to consolidate and coördinate the executive and administrative bureaus, agencies and offices related to the public domain, the administration of national reservations, and the conservation of national resources.

Definite Policy Best.

"The present conservative policy of reclamation development should be continued," the report stated. "Under it construction expenditures each year are restricted to the payments from settlers and the income from other sources provided for in the law. If payments are not made, works will not be built. This makes of reclamation a sound business policy and is a strong influence toward maintaining the integrity of the contracts. Where projects require a larger investment than can be met from the reclamation fund, they should be dealt with by congress in special acts.

"Experience points conclusively to the desirability of adopting a definite policy relative to hydro-electric development. The policy should be continued of having a central organization to design and build works, but to transfer these works to the control and management of the water users as soon as the projects are settled and developed."

RUSSIA PRESSES CHINA TO RENEW DIPLOMATIC TIES

Bone of Contention Still Is Eastern Railway.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, March 8.—Within the brief period of four years, Russo-Chinese relations have ranged all the way from a close diplomatic and military alliance to open warfare and a complete breakoff of relations. The soviet government, which started out a few years ago to "rescue" the so-called downtrodden masses of Asia from the perils of occidental "imperialism," has had more diplomatic complications with China than has been the lot of any other country. Now, after all these complications, the Russian is back at Nanking trying to obtain recognition in order that the soviet ambassador and consuls may reoccupy premises which have been vacant for three years.

The question of a resumption of relations with the soviets became an acute political issue with the arrival in Nanking of Moh Teh-hui, head of the Chinese delegation which spent most of last year in Moscow trying to reach an understanding regarding the administration of the Chinese Eastern railway.

Moscow Parley a Failure.

Aside from two brief formal meetings which broke up in a row, the Sino-Russian conference in Moscow was nothing more than a "waiting game," each side hoping to tire the other out. Nothing substantial was accomplished and since Mr. Moh's health had become impaired, he returned to China, stopping in Harbin and Mukden en route in order to discuss the situation with Manchurian officialdom.

It has become known that the issue now hangs on a settlement of China's resumption of relations with the soviets. China has insisted all along that the settlement of the Chinese Eastern railway squabble had to come first, following which other matters would be discussed, including resumption of diplomatic relations. The Russians want recognition first and then a settlement of the railway issue.

The 1,200 mile Chinese Eastern railway, which crosses north Manchuria, has had more complications in recent years than any other equal mileage of railway in the world. Originally built by the czar with money borrowed in France, it was used as a tool of old Russian imperialism in the far east.

Started War with Japan.

No sooner completed than it precipitated war with Japan, resulting in Japan grabbing the southern end, which she converted into the South Manchuria line. Then came the Russian revolution and for a time the railway was managed by a so-called interallied technical board, of which John F. Stevens, American engineer, was chairman. When the foreign troops were withdrawn from Siberia, the Chinese for a time took control, but later agreed with the Russians to operate the line as a joint property.

Early in 1929 China, charging the soviets with using the line for propagating communistic doctrines, seized control. Warfare ensued along the Siberian-Manchurian border. The Chinese interned all the Reds on the Chinese side of the line and the soviets retaliated by raiding and pillaging Chinese towns.

Russia Sends Army.

Finally, late in the year the soviets sent an army of about 40,000 well equipped troops across the border and occupied a considerable section of the Chinese Heilungkiang province. With a civil war on her hands south of the great wall, China was forced to capitulate and signed the so-called Habarovsk protocol, the exact terms of which never have been published, but which generally bound China to permit the soviets to resume control.

After the Chinese government finally got its domestic house in order and patched up an alliance with Mukden, the Chinese delegation in Moscow was instructed to make a stronger stand and demand the scrapping of the Habarovsk protocol, which Nanking has refused to ratify.

Easiest Way To Break Up a Cold

Millions Say of This Proved Way

Works Fast—Makes You Feel Like a New Person Before You Know It

If you want quick relief from a cold, go back to first principles and use something you know does the business—don't start "trying" a lot of fancy ideas or remedies. Even a "little" cold is too dangerous to take chances on.

Get Hill's Cascara Quinine. A scientific formula made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a fifty, not to cure a hundred different things.

Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all. Soon those mean, aching pains in head and body begin to go; the cold breaks up; poisons leave your system. Almost before you know it, you feel like a new person.

If it doesn't do that, your money back. Get a box now. You'll be surprised at the speed with which it works. Costs only a few cents.

PIERRE M. FRANKLIN.

New York, March 8.—[Special.]—Pierre Morehead Franklin, brother of the murdered Vivian Gordon, feminine racketeer and vice witness in the Appellate division inquiry, was taken from his room in the Hotel Lincoln today, strapped in a stretcher and carted to the psychopathic ward of Bellevue hospital. His room was littered with newspaper clippings of his sister's murder.

Today, the eleventh day since Vivian Gordon, whose maiden name was Benita Franklin and who married and later divorced John Bischoff of Audubon, N. J., passed without the police and Pinkerton detectives working under District Attorney McLaughlin making any report of appreciable progress toward a solution.

The mental illness of the brother, however, was the second emotional disaster to follow the discovery of the strangled body in Van Cortlandt park. Last week Benita Bischoff, the 16 year old daughter of the murdered woman, committed suicide in Audubon, N. J., rather than carry the stigma of her mother's reputation which was revealed following the murder.

Nude Girl Steps Out Into Blizzard to End Her Life

Geneseo, Ill., March 8.—[Special.]—Miss Anna Roberts, 21, while nude, took her own life early today by flinging herself into a snowdrift in a blizzard at her parents' farm home near here. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide while mentally deranged or melancholy because of excessive religious study. Miss Roberts, a brilliant student, was president of the Young People's association of the Lorraine Evangelical church, a country church near her home.

REP. LA GUARDIA ASKS G. O. P. TO TAKE WET STAND

May Lose Otherwise, He Warns Party.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 8.—[Special.]—Rather than chuckle over the apparent split in the Democratic ranks on the prohibition issue, Republican leaders had better take an inventory of their own party, Representative F. H. La Guardia, self-styled progressive Republican of New York, advised today.

He praised the Democrats for their courage in discussing prohibition in the open and urged the Republican national committee to follow suit.

"There is a determined movement within the ranks of the Republican party to vote wet in 1932," he said "if the party refuses to meet the situation and fails to present a plank which will end the present farce of prohibition and its many vicious ramifications.

Sees Possible Defeat.

"If the Republicans have the vision and good sense to declare that which they know to be a fact, they will meet the situation. Republicans in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Ohio, and Illinois will not sacrifice a principle for party expediency in 1932. The Republican party cannot win out without these states.

"The Republican party should not overemphasize the wet split in the Democratic party or underestimate the strength of the Democratic party with a wet platform. The solid dry Democratic south will vote the Democratic ticket in 1932, even if the platform is wringing wet.

May Lose Big States.

"A dry Republican running on a dry platform with the present temper of the wets would be in danger of losing Illinois, 29 votes; Massachusetts, 18; New Jersey, 14; New York, 45; Rhode Island, 5; Wisconsin, 13, and Ohio, 24; thereby giving the wet Democratic candidate a total of 292 votes without taking into consideration the doubtful states. Only 266 electoral votes out of the 531 are sufficient to elect a President."

Another batch of political medicine was stirred up and issued by Representative Joseph W. Byrns [Dem. Tenn], who asserted that President Hoover's first two years had "left the legislative battleground littered with broken and battered administration promises."

Advertised as a miracle worker, President Hoover, said Representative Byrns, "can not point with truth nor certainty to a single constructive effort on his own part which, in any degree, lessened the seriousness of the situation, or in any substantial degree alleviated the misery from which a people have been suffering."

WICKERSHAM IS REPUDIATED BY HIS OWN BOARD

Dissension Grows in Commission.

sulted in making wets or near wets of these five original drys and of making a dry of the original wet, Mr. Wickersham. The only theory upon which his colleagues could account for the flop executed by the chairman was that he was actuated by a desire to procure a report pleasing to the President.

When Mr. Wickersham's proposed report, whitewashing the noble experiment, came to a vote in the commission, it was rejected, nine to two. The only votes in its favor were cast by the chairman and Judge Grubb. The majority of the commission then proceeded to dictate a report disclosing that two members favored repeal of the 18th amendment and seven others favored revision of the amendment to confer on congress the power of regulating the liquor traffic, if a further effort to enforce prohibition should fail.

Incidentally, it may be stated that the further period of grace which these commissioners would give the prohibition experiment is about one year. Virtually all of them regard the effort so hopeless that they will be surprised if any material improvement in enforcement is achieved.

Object to Secret Hearings.

Another complaint of the attitude of the chairman was in connection with the secrecy of the commission's hearings of testimony. Five members of the commission, headed by Judge Kenyon, made a fight for open hearings. Five members were for secret hearings. Mr. Wickersham cast the deciding vote in favor of secrecy.

When the prohibition report had been made public, there was another row, the chairman being accused of failure to carry out an understanding reached in the commission on the form of signature of the report.

This understanding was that to each of the twelve conclusions and recommendations the names of the members supporting it were to be applied. This would have disclosed the division in the commission on each recommendation. Instead of doing this, Mr. Wickersham gave out the report with the names of all ten members signing it appended to the twelve recommendations in bloc.

Report to Senate Criticized.

There also has been considerable criticism of Mr. Wickersham among his colleagues in connection with the reports he subsequently furnished to the senate in compliance with its demand for the evidence on which the commission acted.

The report on Chicago conditions was that of an anonymous investigator, who gave an anonymous letter as his authority for many of the statements he made. Some of the statements of the anonymous investigator were false and would have been established as such had he made them on the witness stand.

The commission is now hastening to conclude its survey of the breakdown of the administration of the criminal law before its funds are cut off on July 1. It has expended $175,000 of its present allowance of $250,000 for completion of its work and any remainder unexpended at the close of the fiscal year will revert automatically to the treasury.

IOWA U. QUIZ SCENE SHIFTED TO DES MOINES

Des Moines, Ia., March 8.—(AP)—The University of Iowa investigation by a legislative committee will go into its third week tomorrow, with resumption of sessions at the capitol after four days' testimony at Iowa City.

The committee decided to shift the scene to give time for university business officers to prepare requested reports. Meanwhile the committee has employed a private accountant, who will make a study of certain records.

W. H. Gemmill, secretary of the state board of education, is expected to be recalled to the stand for a further investigation into the board's minutes for the last few years.

BANDIT BEATEN BY WOMEN AS ROBBERY FAILS

John Deacon, 21 years old, 1428 West Harrison street, was beaten by three men and two women whom he attempted to rob yesterday morning. Police are seeking two companions, who fled as Deacon was rolled in the snow by his intended victims.

Deacon and his companions were passing the home of Mrs. Dora McKinley, 1506 West Jackson bulevard, as James Javengros, 224 South Laflin street; Leonard Colangelo, 2920 West Congress street, and George Harvey, 6315 Harper avenue, were making adieus to their hostess, Mrs. McKinley, and her daughter, Carmine, 18 years old. The guests had difficulty in getting their car out of a snowdrift.

They called on Deacon and his companions for assistance. Deacon drew a revolver and ordered the three men to line up. Javengros seized the revolver. The two companions fled. The guests, augmented by their hostess and Miss McKinley, overpowered Deacon.

VETERANS CAN'T SPEED LOANS BY TRIP TO CAPITAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 8.—[Special.]—Veterans intending to apply for loans on their certificates should do so in their home communities, Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, veterans' administrator, warned today.

"Some veterans still are migrating to Washington, under the misapprehension that they can expedite loans on their certificates by so doing," he declared. "A trip to Washington can in no way expedite the loan and is merely a source of expense."

If an original loan is being made, Gen. Hines explained, veterans should apply to the nearest regional office, or to their own bank; but if a previous loan has been made at a bank and the note has been sent to Washington for redemption, application for a reloan should be made by the veteran by mail.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid liver.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—dizzy headache—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

State All Facts; Tell Them to Many Prospects

According to a survey of experiences of apartment owners and rental agents, if you want to rent apartments quickly:

Use want advertising in a newspaper that reaches the largest number of your prospects.

Tell all the facts about your apartment.

Sell the Woman!

In most every case it is the housewife who decides finally which apartment shall be rented. She is the one to whom your offer should be addressed. Women are careful shoppers. Large department stores recognize this fact. That is why they place goods on accessible counters, where they may be easily examined.

Women who receive their first impressions of your apartment through the want ad judge it by what you tell them. The more value you offer in your want ad the more likely you will be able to induce them to inspect your apartments personally.

What to Say.

A survey made last year among tenants of apartment buildings shows what apartment facts women are interested in. These are rentals, transportation, number of rooms, the neighborhood, type of refrigeration, type of heating, proximity to schools, churches, shopping districts, parks, beaches, playgrounds, garages, porches, and size of rooms. Abbreviations should be used sparingly and only when the meanings are certain to be understood.

Use This Service.

If you have an apartment renting problem to solve, the Tribune Classified Advertising department will gladly arrange for an experienced solicitor to call on you. Or you can call Superior 0100 and ask for an Adtaker. She will be glad to help you word your advertisement to get maximum results.

GERMANY FIGHTS TO SLICE FOREIGN FOOD BILL IN HALF

Plans to Assist Farmer and Raise Tariffs.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 8.—With the same dogged determination with which prewar Germany developed her industrial system until it was one of the most powerful in the world, post-war Germany is now setting out to strengthen her agriculture, to free herself of the necessity of buying farm products on a big scale in other lands.

With her closely packed population, it is not expected that Germany will ever became a fully self-sustaining nation. At the present moment Germany spends $820,000,000 a year in foreign lands in payment for foodstuffs—wheat, barley, butter, eggs, fruit, and coffee. This means about $13 per capita annually.

Expect to Cut Food Bill.

But within the next ten years, according to the agricultural policy which Farm and Food Minister Schiele is seeking to drive through the cabinet and the reichstag, this foreign food bill should be cut in half, at least. It is a "long term" program which the Bruening cabinet is trying to foist on Germany over the combined protests of her industrialists and many labor men, particularly those of the left wing—Socialists and communists.

It includes a reform of the agricultural system, laws fixing standard qualities for farm products, betterment of staple foods being produced, elimination of reduction of the middleman's profits, but above all relief money for the big farmers.

This relief program includes:

1. Loans for the benefit of Germany's eastern and northern provinces, in general those to the east of the Elbe river, aggregating $226,000,000, spread over six years.

2. Increased tariff on all foreign food products—the power to increase or decrease tariffs being turned over bodily to the cabinet as a whole for a period of one year.

Opponents Match Arguments.

Minister Schiele's opponents match his argument for argument in attempting to prove his whole agricultural philosophy impractical, favoritistic, and even fantastic. In answer to his scheme of help for the east they adduce figures to show that the previous doses of help had been administered almost exclusively to the big land owners, while the ailing small farmers and agricultural laborers got a few drops or nothing at all.

In answer to the second system of assistance—and here especially the industrialists hammer and bang in protest—they say that if Germany attempts to encourage a self-sustaining and self-contained system of agriculture through high tariffs it will be at the further cost of German industry, which is not in the best of condition.

Cold, hard figures show that at the present moment Germany has been producing less of every sort of food essential, with the sole exceptions of rye and oats, than she consumes. That naturally means importation: fruits from Italy, Spain and America; eggs, milk, butter, cheese, meat products from Holland, Denmark, Switzerland, Norway and Sweden. If Germany hides her markets from these lands with a high tariff wall, they are prepared to retaliate by putting tariffs on manufactured imports from Germany.

Has Tariffs on Grain.

Already Germany has tariffs on grains, which would have astounded even the most rabid Junker "protectionist" of pre-war days. For example, if a German milling company wants to buy a metric ton [2,205 pounds] of wheat, it must pay $70. In England or Belgium, free trade countries, a concern could get the same quality grain for $27.50 a ton. The German tariff on wheat is $42.50 a ton.

Or take rye. Germany grows more rye than she consumes. She and Poland were for years the only countries which exported this grain to supply the world's demand. Now, with Russia offering the best quality rye at particularly low prices, German politicians have pushed through legislation designed to insure the consumption of all Germany's rye within the borders of Germany. Hence there are no imports of this grain, and there are laws requiring rye to be used in definite proportions together with wheat. A metric ton of rye costs $40 here. It could be bought and delivered in an English or Scandinavian port for $16 to $17 a ton. The tariff which guards the German ports amounts to $37.50 a ton.

As a result, the prices of breadstuffs stay high, while the general reduction in world prices gives countries competing industrially with Germany bread at lower rates and cheaper grain to feed their cows and chickens, to fatten their hogs and lambs.

Even the man who most strongly defends the high grain tariffs, the man who probably has done more than any other to bring about the present situation in regard to rye—Dr. Fritz Baade of the Socialist party—is compelled to admit in his new book, "German Rye Policy," that "Germany has double or even treble the bread price of some of her neighbor nations."

Public Bears Burden.

In other words, Germany maintains artificially high prices, in spite of a wheat market one-half and a rye market one-third under pre-war levels, at the cost of every one who eats bread for the benefit of those German agriculturists who grow the grains on which the tariffs have been fastened.

At any rate, it is a knotty problem, this German agriculture, and one on which weighty results hang. The scene of the battle of words and printed pages has been christened the "Green Front." Volunteers are engaged in a great struggle, which Food Minister Schiele insists will not end until Germany's purchases of food abroad have been reduced to a minimum well below the limit of 50 per cent of the present purchases.

JUGO-SLAV KING'S BROTHER ESCAPES 'PRISON' ASYLUM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, March 8.—Where is Prince George Karageorgevitch, brother of King Alexander of Jugo-Slavia? The Vienna edition of Gric, published by Croatian emigrants, is responsible for the rumor that Prince George escaped from a sanatorium in Nisch, where he was interned by his brother.

The life story of George is full of sensational events. He was born in Belgrade Sept. 8, 1887, and was forced to renounce all legal claims to the throne in 1909. He went to Paris, continuing his gay life, and many of his affairs of the heart attracted publicity. When his father, King Peter, died, he returned to Belgrade and immediately began a campaign against his brother, who had been crowned king and Nikola Pasitch, prime minister. Again he was thrown out, but returned.

The Gric states that several years ago, during a hunting trip through Serbian forests, he had a heated argument with King Alexander. It ended in a fist fight. The ruler decided to confine his brother in a sanatorium, from where he is reported to have fled for parts unknown.

WORLD TO SPEND 11 BILLIONS ON BUILDING IN 1931

U. S. Leads with Nearly Third of Total.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 8.—[Special.]—Concerted efforts by the nations of the world to relieve their respective unemployment problems has resulted in a 1931 building program contemplating the expenditure of 11 billions, it was stated today by Hector Lazo, assistant chief of the commerce department's foreign construction division.

Mr. Lazo pointed out that although the world-wide movement to increase building operations has taken a variety of forms, the effort to relieve unemployment can be detected by "several well defined tendencies in virtually all of the countries launching such programs."

Receive Tremendous Impetus.

Road building, he declared, has received a tremendous impetus as a result of the economic and unemployment situation.

"Because of the nature of the work," Mr. Lazo continued, "and the possibility of being able to start construction on comparatively short notice, road and highway building has met with much favor in all parts of the world. A recent survey showed that the world expenditure for 1931 on roads probably would reach the total of three billion dollars, of which two-thirds is expected to be spent in the United States."

"But," continues Mr. Lazo, "it is not alone on highways that the governments of the world are extending their 1931 expenditures.

"In the United States it has been authoritatively estimated that the federal government's building program which normally amounts to 250 million dollars will in 1931 be over twice that much and may exceed 650 million dollars."

3 Billions in America.

This amount will be greatly exceeded by state and city projects, Mr. Lazo believes, so that "all government building and construction in the United States will run well over three billion, five hundred million dollars."

Great Britain will spend 660 million dollars in public construction in 1931, Mr. Lazo estimates. Denmark, Poland, Italy, Brazil, Sweden, India and Canada have all increased their public construction budgets by a considerable amount, according to the department of commerce expert, "but their totals do not run nearly as high as in the United States."

"These vast undertakings, amounting to eleven billion dollars, will have the double advantage that they will not only relieve the present unemployment situation by putting to work several million workers but will also result in economic benefit to the nations involved through the addition of a large list of permanent assets of a wealth building nature."

GREEK TROOPS SMASH BULGAR RAID ON BORDER

ATHENS, March 8.—(AP)—A new outbreak of fighting, similar to that which occurred early this year, was reported last night between Bulgarians along the border and a Greek frontier patrol. There were no casualties.

The Bulgarians, taking advantage of a heavy mist, attempted to enter Grecian territory at Katoul, near Drama, but the Greek patrol saw them and fired. The Bulgarians returned it and a sharp half hour of firing resulted. Today the situation was quiet.

A lovely outcast

Pleasant company always passed her by . . . but she never guessed the reason. She didn't know that unsightly teeth are offensive to others. And faithful brushing will never correct this condition—unless you remove the cause of stain, tartar discoloration and decay. Authorities call it Bacterial-Mouth. We all have it, and only one dental cream will remove it . . . That's Kolynos.

New Way

Quickly Makes Teeth Dazzling White

THERE is only one correct way to clean and whiten teeth quickly. That is the method long advocated by dentists and perfected by Kolynos . . . called the Dry-Brush Technique. But switch to Kolynos and judge for yourself. Use ½ half-inch on a dry brush twice daily.

You'll quickly discover that teeth marred by stain, tartar and decay, and denuded at their necks by receding gums, are tell-tale signs of carelessness. Teeth look whiter—fully 3 shades in 3 days! Gums will look firmer and pinker. Your mouth will tingle with a delightful, sweet taste.

Unique? Of course! There's nothing like Kolynos. When it enters the mouth it multiplies 25 times and becomes a pleasant tasting, antiseptic FOAM that permits the Dry-Brush Technique!

Aided by the dry bristles of the toothbrush this FOAM gets into and cleans every pit, fissure and crevice like no toothpaste you have ever used.

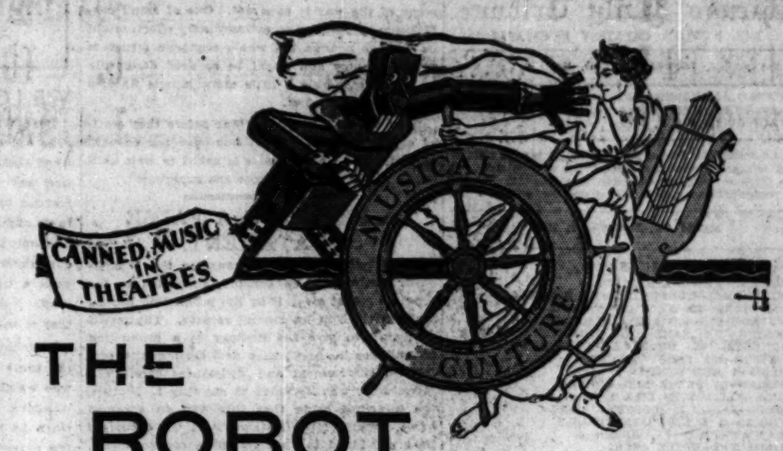

Ugly tartar is quickly dissolved. Acids are neutralized. Dangerous germs that cause Bacterial-Mouth are killed. Teeth are cleaned down to the naked white enamel without injury. And for 3 hours after each brushing this FOAM continues to clean teeth and combat germs.

Expect Results in 3 Days

Kolynos wins new users by comparison. No ordinary toothpaste can match its effectiveness. It permits the Dry-Brush Technique which keeps the brush bristles stiff enough to do the work they should do.

Introduce yourself to Kolynos. Start using it with the Dry-Brush Technique and within 3 days you'll understand why Kolynos is so popular. Get a tube of Kolynos from your druggist.

COAL HEAT COSTS LESS

TRUTH SERVICE FULL WEIGHT

You have to spend approximately $1 on fuel B and $1.50 on fuel C to get as much heat as coal gives you for $.50. Such a range in costs makes expense an element of first importance in deciding what fuel you will burn in your home or building. To learn just how much you would increase your heating bills by burning a fuel other than coal, call on a member of the Chicago Coal Merchants Association. He will help you figure costs fully, fairly, and accurately.

MR. BORAH IN FOREIGN RELATIONS.

Senator Borah's recent argument and pleading in the senate for the recognition of the Russian soviet government emphasized again his lack of qualification for the position he has as chairman of the committee on foreign relations. His ideas are not shared by other persons in responsible position in the government and his sentiments are not indorsed by the opinion of the country. Russian practices and principles are obnoxious to American practices and principles.

The American republic was founded to escape and avoid dictatorship, the Russian soviet government to impose it; the American to conserve the individual, the Russian to suppress him; the American to give validity to private property and sanction to private enterprise, the Russian to confiscate the one and destroy the other. When the United States in its foreign relations makes a treaty, that is the supreme law of the land. When the soviet government makes an agreement, it is an expedient without a pledge of faith behind it. Two countries so opposite in their ideas of morals, politics, and economics can have no official dealings with each other. The antagonism is inherent.

Senator Borah does not recognize or concede these self-evident facts. Although a man of professed humanity, he is unmoved by the brutalities with which the Russian scheme is promoted and would give the conditions created by the soviets the formal recognition of the United States. This may be acceptable to Russians and illiterates in his Idaho constituency and there is no request that the Nye committee enter the next Idaho election to defeat the senator. Mr. Borah in the senate is Idaho's business, but his position at the head of the foreign relations committee is the nation's business. If the senate were at all impressed by the fitness of things it would remove him from that place.

THE UNIVERSAL DRAFT.

The mixed commission authorized by congress to study the proposals for the conscription of private property in the conduct of war has begun its hearings. Ralph T. O'Neil, commander of the American Legion, has appeared for the proposals, Barney M. Baruch against them. The universal draft, as the scheme may be called, has been adopted not only by radicals but by some citizens sincerely in favor of effective national defense. They think it rational and essential to national security. The sincerity of the Legion is not questioned, but it can be mistaken.

Such a draft may seem to have logic and equity. If the government may take citizens and put them in the army to risk their lives and probably sacrifice their material welfare, it might seem to follow then that it could rightfully conscript the wealth of the country behind them, mobilizing industries as well as troops and controlling the whole mechanism of the land, thus taking the element of profit from selfish men and reducing the hazards of the men at the front.

The proponents believe that this would suppress mischief makers at home and intimidate mischief makers abroad. No industry would be inclined to invite a war and another nation would not recklessly take a chance with a country so organized. The fallacy is in the assumption that the scheme would work even if it were sound in theory. However it might be planned, it would come to bureaucratic control of every activity and enterprise in the country. A war could not bring a greater disaster.

The greatest failures in the war department now are in the industrial incidents. These were its great failures in the late war. When it tried to produce war material it got nowhere. It could not make guns and it could not supply them. Some of its operations remain unbelievable—aviators will remember the flaming coffins—and yet there wasn't much in the whole experience which could not have been foretold from the very nature of departmental operation, whether under staff officers or politicians. Government control cannot be divorced from them. It will be exercised by one or the other.

It is unworthy of belief that the conversion of industry from peaceful to war purposes could be made under bureaucratic supervision without a convulsion which would leave everything flat. It is, of course, contemplated that the men now in charge of industries and other activities would be conscripted and most of them could be relied upon to serve faithfully, but they would not be in charge. No bureaucrat given an extension of authority thereupon lays aside his privilege of command. Unqualified men would take charge. The result would be wreckage. It could not be anything else.

The country would be expected in a time of increased pressure to switch from a basis of private enterprise to one of collectivism. No one can tell what effort a war will require until the scope of the war is apparent. One of small consequence, asking for no extraordinary effort, might be used to change the whole economic structure of the country and might be so used designedly by a congress only a little more Muscle Shoaled than the Seventy-first.

Even the Reds stopped a war before they started out on communism. It has been sad enough, at that. The United States is asked to wait until it has a war and then make the experiment.

A REPLY TO A FALSE STATEMENT.

In the closing hours of congress the Wickersham commission, on demand, submitted to the senate a report given it by the prohibition bureau and contained in its general records. The report purported to give the findings of a prohibition investigator in the Chicago field dealing with prohibition enforcement and lawlessness here. The investigator was identified as one Guy L. Nichols, the inference being that this was an assumed name. Some of the statements in the document were attributed to an anonymous correspondent, said to be a policeman.

Officials of the Wickersham commission say that the report was not solicited, but was accepted with others coming from the prohibition bureau. Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock, director of prohibition, says that he knew nothing of it. In the report Nichols says:

"The commissioner of police (in Chicago) is merely the creature of the mayor and may be removed at any time. At the time of your investigator's visit, May, 1930, William F. Russell was commissioner. He is an old police officer, having been on the force about thirty-five years. He was by no means a free agent, nor was he the choice of the mayor. He was catapulted into the job at the insistence of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Commissioner Russell frankly admitted this at an interview with the writer May 5."

The nature of the report, its origin and its text make it unworthy of attention, but it has been submitted to the senate as a document from the Wickersham commission, although that body disclaims responsibility for it and does not give it any authority. Nevertheless, this act of the commission, whatever reasons may have prompted or required it, gives another aspect to an irresponsible document.

THE TRIBUNE does not know anything discreditable to Capt. Russell's police record, but the allegation that this newspaper was responsible for his appointment as commissioner of police is false and should be so denounced at this time.

A NEW WHEAT PIT.

A new futures market in wheat has been opened in New York. Because the farm board has cornered wheat by rigging prices, the Chicago Board of Trade no longer offers the complete price insurance service to millers and warehousemen that it formerly did. It used to be possible for a grain owner anywhere in the world to secure himself against a decline in price by hedging his holding in the Chicago wheat pit, and most of them took advantage, directly or indirectly, of Chicago's facilities. Because Chicago prices no longer fluctuate freely to conform to supply and demand a new speculative market has arisen to take its place.

The new market deals in Canadian wheat in bond at Buffalo. Its prices cannot be manipulated by the United States government. At present the new market lacks the breadth which eighty years of trading experience have given the board of trade; but it is not to be doubted that a continuance of the government's interference must lead to a rapid increase in business in the new pit.

The farm politicians have had only one object of wrath comparable to the Chicago Board of Trade. That was Wall street. It is a curious fact that the legislation imposed on the grain trade by congress may have the effect of transferring the grain market from La Salle street, near the center of agriculture production, to Wall street. The board of trade has never accepted Wall street leadership, and it has been the only great market in the country which has not been directly under the influence of the New York financiers. The rise of the new market may well mean the subjection of American farm prices to Wall street leadership.

U. S. SHIPS FROM THE GREAT LAKES.

Shipping interests on the American coasts which profit now by government and private contracts for marine construction could well afford to welcome a better distribution of shipbuilding throughout the country. With the interests and the profits from marine affairs concentrated in our coastal cities a gradual resistance is being built in the middle west against all such businesses that will react eventually through the government if not through private finance against those coastal interests. A diffusion of interest and profit in ships throughout the country will be of great value in time to builders on the coasts.

In one small way at least this distribution can be forwarded. Government ships small enough to go through either the Welland or the Erie canal should be built in the great lakes. This policy would help to maintain efficient plants away from the vulnerable coast line. It would help to equalize in a small way the great advantage accruing to the seacoast in the construction of government ships. It would maintain interest in shipping and in shipping affairs that would help to maintain politically and economically a larger national marine than otherwise could be supported.

With the Panama canal in being a sharp separation of transportation interests between the coasts and the midland has taken place. The best method of overcoming it is a policy of distribution of advantages. To such a policy treaty provisions in regard to the St. Lawrence river can be easily adjusted if necessary; shipbuilding for the government in the great lakes is both possible and wise.

Editorial of the Day

AS MR. LEGGE LEAVES THE FARM MUDDLE.

[Decatur, Ill., Herald.]

Mr. Legge was selected for his job because he is a business man who knew farming, an executive acquainted with rural conditions, a financier sound but not hard boiled. In that job he has led a dual life; the exigencies of an impossible task have led him into deals condemned by his judgment, but condoned by act of congress. He will leave the ungenial atmosphere of public life with the farm board almost smothered in wheat, the United States government in the market up to the flag on the Capitol dome, congress dissatisfied, the farmer-politicians unappeased, and the business community bewildered.

WE LOVE TO WATCH 'EM!

The Wickersham commission's appropriation runs out on July 1, and then, whether they finished their reports or not, they're through. And they say they won't be near finished. Which is just too bad. Not that we expect the commission to do anything, but we love to watch 'em—it's just like watching a juggler balance billiard balls on a cue which he holds on his chin, or seeing a man walk a tight rope, or an elephant stand on his head. Not that these things get us anywhere, but they're most interesting.

Watching the Wickersham commission we had the same sensation as the sailor and his parrot who watched the Indian juggler. The sailor was tramping along a lonely country road in India when he met a native juggler who offered for a few rupees to do all his tricks. So the sailor gave him the rupees and sat down with his parrot to see the show. Every time the juggler made a tree grow out of the ground or pulled a rabbit or a tiger out of his turban the sailor would applaud rapturously and shout, "Marvelous! Wonder now what he'll do next?" This went on for about an hour, until finally the juggler accidentally touched off a lot of fireworks he had concealed in his bundle. He and the sailor and the parrot were all blown high in the air. As the parrot came down minus an eye, most of his tail feathers, and otherwise much damaged, he hopped up on a fence, cocked his head to one side, and croaked, "Marvelous! Wonder what he'll do next?"

Which is just the way we've always felt about the Wickersham commission.

THA TROUBLE WITH A BABY ITS GOT RELATIONS.

Dick: The poet what invented the squib "Misery loves company" must have been a squib himself. Last Sunday, after bein up half tha night with tha new baby an then havin ta drag out a crib which was buried under 2 trunks in tha basement, I'm loaded with misery. At two in tha afternoon company starts arriving. If anyone can love company while theyre in my condition, then maybe I'm wrong. Seems they comes to see tha new bambino which tha B. & C. chrissend Mary Elizabeth Jean Bakrak (no middle name). By ½ past 5 I counted 18 relations an 2 friends. From tha noise goin on I got a hunch tha kid figgers she was born in a boiler factory. Tha conversations were not only enlightening but educational as well. Here's a sample: "She's got her mama's eyes." "Her nose is her grampawa." "That's her grammaws mouth." With these charms tha kid shood'n have any trouble gettin a job with Ringling's side show. You shood of saw tha exquisite baby gifts, tha most expensive one must of cost at least 2 bits. Bout ½ past six tha mama slips me a kick in tha shins as a high sign that she wants to see me in her private office. When we get to tha kitchen I'm told to go to the delicatessen an get 7 items of food because as per usual "their aint a thing in tha house." This layin out dough fer a lotta cadgers gets me sore an I tole tha B. and C. she's off her nut if she feeds those seals, she tells me that maybe they will leave as soon as we feed them an I tells her I'll bet they leave a dam site sooner if we dont. What got my goat aplenty was that insurance pest Ladenson, we dont see him all year round (thank the Lord) an when a new kid arrives he's Johnny at the rat hole soliciting another 10c a week policy. I carry $1500. now an I figger if I take any more tha mama might be tempted to tinker with my coffee. Another guy a la pest was Baldy Joe, a hairless ape whose got tha pleasant habit of lookin around for a tray after he drops his ashes on tha rug. He brought a goof with him by the name of Morrie who brings a ½ lb. box of candy an ate most of it himself. They certainly named him right. Seems tha Morrie ate, tha Morrie wanted. If I have my way tha next time theres an addition nobody's gonna know about it till tha kid's 6 yrs. old. Another egg was Sime, after bein told not to, he picks up tha baby, while he's holding her he asks me if I got tha baby buggy yet an I tells him no but that he's liable to if he didn't set her down. From tha blank look on his map I guess it went over his head. DUKE BAKRAK.

P. S. Which was just too bad.

REFLEXION.

Let me think of Death sometimes in this hurry of living,
And ponder his manner and face, though our tryst may be far;
Let me discern that he is a kindly person,
No matter how stern and silent his fixed ways are.

Let me think of Death sometimes and become accustomed
To his solitary figure, that at the end
He shall not appear a sudden startling stranger
But one whom I've come to recognize as a friend.

ADELAIDE LOVE.

BLUE MONDAY! Pollyanna, but still you grin like a young hyena, and no wonder, for the town council in Mansfield, England has voted to take the blue out of Monday by establishing a town wash house, where all the wives can go and wash the household duds. How happy that should make the wives. Next to presenting a lady with a wash boiler, a tub, and a wringer, we don't know any way of making her so thoroughly happy as to turn her loose in a town wash house and tell her to go to it.

FIRST AID TEACHING PAYS.

THE Western Electric company was one of the first industrial concerns to undertake accident prevention in an organized way. They equipped their machinery with safety appliances whenever there seemed to be need of such. They installed one of the best dispensary hospital systems for giving first aid service. In consequence their accident rate fell markedly and there were the usual benefits which follow good surgical service. After a while the improvement failed to proceed further. The ground gained was held, but no new gains were made.

C. W. Bergquist, president of the National Safety council and an official of the Western Electric, went into a huddle with his associates to decide on the next step. They decided to try giving first aid training to the rank and file of the employés, on the theory that what was needed was to make the man at the machine safety conscious. Safety education and interest had not soaked in quite far enough.

Twelve of the company physicians were chosen as the first class in first aid procedures. As soon as they graduated they were made into professors. Each was given a class of twenty employés for training in first aid. Thus, two hundred and forty professors were trained. From this group one hundred were chosen to teach first aid to the employés in classes of twenty. The instruction is controlled and checked.

This method has been in use for four years and the report which is being used here is based on a five year experience. There are about four thousand employés who have had this training and the accident rate among these is compared with that of several thousand who have not had the training.

The following quotation is taken from Mr. Bergquist's report: "In the last five years our accidents have been reduced 92 per cent."

Not only are there fewer accidents, but those that do occur have less serious consequences. Fewer infections occur, time away from work is lessened, and the losses to the employé and employer are not so great.

It is not that these rank and file safety first trained employés do any great amount of first aid. They have been educated in first aid, and this causes them to be safety minded. They think of accidents in a personal way and they know the harm done by carelessness in treating wounds and the dangers of infections.

Mr. Bergquist's report supplies weighed evidence that education of employés in safety and first aid pays.

LOW BLOOD PRESSURE.

Miss H. T. writes: Do you publish any booklets on low blood pressure? If not, do you know whether the health department does?

REPLY.

I have a few chapters on low blood pressure in the booklet, "Abnormal Blood Pressure," of the "How to Live With" series. Send ten cents and stamped, addressed envelope.

I know of no health department bulletins on the subject.

CURE DEPENDS ON ILLS.

O. L. writes:

1. Is there any difference between rheumatism, neuritis, and arthritis?

2. I am 41 years old, and have had a pain in my left shoulder and arm for one year. Is it curable?

REPLY.

1. There is. Arthritis is an inflammation of a joint. Rheumatism is a loosely used term. Among the kinds of arthritis are several which are said to be rheumatic. Neuritis is an inflammation of a nerve. There is another term in use. It is neuralgia, meaning an ache in a nerve which is not due to neuritis.

2. It should be. Such pains may be due to an inflamed bursa located near the shoulder, to pressure on a nerve in the neck or around the shoulder, to arthritis, or to neuritis. The cure depends on the nature of the trouble. Most such cases are cured.

GETTING RID OF LICE.

REPLY.

Wash the vinegar away. Dry. Grease the hair.

By this method, properly carried out, you will remove all nits or louse eggs.

See to it that no lice are left behind to lay more eggs.

BORN AT SEA.

Chicago, Feb. 21.—[Friend of the People.]—1. If a child is born at sea of American citizens is he a citizen or does the nationality of the ship govern?

2. What steps are necessary to make the child a citizen before he becomes 21 years of age? W. S.

1. A child born of American parents outside the limits and jurisdiction of the United States assumes the citizenship of his father. The flag under which the ship is sailing does not affect the status of the child.

2. If not a citizen, the same as is demanded of other aliens is required.

FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT,
District Director of Naturalization.

RIGHTS OF STOCKHOLDERS.

Chicago, March 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Is it possible for a very small stockholder, or even a group of stockholders in a small company to secure a court order to examine the company's books, whereby they might make a note of all the company's customers?

2. Or must a meeting be held with a vote of the stockholders in general?

3. In other words, the writer is under the impression that a majority of the stockholders must vote on the subject before it can come into effect.

4. If such were the case, wouldn't the court appoint a certified public accountant to go over the books at the expense of those desiring to have it done?

R. J.

1. Yes. It can be done without court order.
2. No.
3. You are wrong.
4. No.

INSURED NAMES BENEFICIARY.

Chicago, March 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. What legal rights would I have to some insurance policies issued to my husband since our marriage, unknown to me, of which I would not be beneficiary? I have supported myself for ten years while he has been paying big premiums on these policies.

2. In case of his death, could I put a lien on them or could I collect by proving that I have been deprived of my support during that time? Could I take legal steps with the beneficiary?

Mrs. D. S.

1. None, unless there was an understanding that you should have an interest.

2. We cannot advise to advantage without knowing the nature of the insurance. It does not seem likely that you have any remedy, but it might be worth while to go over all your facts in a personal interview with a lawyer.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 9, 1915.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The possibility that intervention in Mexico will be forced upon the United States as a result of the spread of anarchy in that country is receiving serious consideration by the administration. Secretary Daniels conferred with President Wilson over the prospect of sending additional warships to Vera Cruz. Two or more battleships are expected to be ordered to move from Guantanamo tomorrow. The President sent to Gen. Carranza demands to insure the protection of foreigners in Mexico City of so peremptory a nature that they are likened to an ultimatum.

LONDON.—Three more forts of the Dardanelles have been pounded to dust. The admiralty officially announces that Dardanus, which was silenced in part several days ago, finally has been reduced, and Forts Rumilli Medjidieh Tabia and Hamidieh I. Tabia were also destroyed as a result of the continuous bombardment. Hardly had news of the new success become known when it was announced that the Russian fleet had begun its campaign in the Black sea.

AMSTERDAM.—A Tirlemont [Belgium] correspondent of Telegraaf confirms report of the destruction of the Zeppelin airship L-3, which was forced to make a hurried descent because of a derangement of its motors. Seventeen of its crew of 41 were killed.

CHICAGO.—In response to THE TRIBUNE appeal for treatment of drug victims, who are being driven to suicide, crime and insanity by the shutting off of their supply by the new federal narcotic law, the county board and the city council adopted measures to meet the emergency. The county hospital was directed to receive drug addicts and within a few minutes Warden Clayton F. Smith admitted four trembling unfortunates and prepared to install 40 beds for drug users.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 9, 1901.

CHICAGO. — Frederic McLaughlin, aged 22, son of William F. McLaughlin, the coffee merchant, had a hand to hand encounter with a robber on the porch of his father's house at 97 Rush street last night. The robber had just slid down a pillar in making his escape with his only loot, an old Swiss watch, when he was confronted by young McLaughlin. The intruder pulled the trigger of his revolver, but the cartridge missed fire. Instantly young McLaughlin grappled with the porch climber, wrested the weapon from him, and fired two shots at the fellow as he fled. One bullet is believed to have hit him. A confederate of the robber on the sidewalk fired point blank at McLaughlin and his uncle, Brig. Gen. M. D. Hardin, but neither was hit.

CHICAGO. — A feud of several months' standing culminated last evening in the shooting to death of Morris F. Clark, employed as a circulator for an afternoon newspaper, by Lawrence Finn, employed in a similar position on a rival paper. The fight occurred at Cottage Grove avenue and 39th street. Finn fled, but later surrendered to the police. He said he fired in self-defense.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo.—The Rev. Frank W. Gunsaulus and the Rev. L. A. Rockwell of Chicago started the machinery of the Good Will Temple Mining and Milling company after fervent prayer for the success of the venture. From this Good Will claim, given to the Lord by Andrew Wharton, a mining district boomer, the company, composed mainly of Chicago churchmen, hopes to dig enough gold to build a temple in Chicago which, in the language of Dr. Gunsaulus, "will be such as the world has never before seen."

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Gen. and Mrs. Grant will breakfast with President and Mrs. Garfield today.

NEW YORK.—The Tribune is authority for the statement that 500 Irishmen sailed from Key West about three weeks ago to go to the assistance of the Boers in South Africa. They were all well armed.

DES MOINES, Ia.—Gov. Gear appointed James W. McDill of Afton, Union county, as successor to Senator Kirkwood, who was appointed secretary of the interior in President Garfield's cabinet.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Miss Frances E. Willard, on behalf of fifty ladies who subscribed the cost of a memorial portrait of Mrs. Hayes in honor of her determined stand for temperance, presented the picture to President Garfield, who told the delegation that he concurred heartily with what they said concerning the evils of intemperance and that he has been an earnest advocate of temperance "not in so narrow a sense as some, but in a very definite and practical sense."

CHICAGO.—Ferdinand Jaeger, senior partner of the house of F. & E. Jaeger on Wabash avenue, is dead at the age of 48. He is survived by his widow, who was Miss Mary Lavalle of Louisville, Ky., and seven children. Another death was that of Albert F. Dickinson, a resident of Chicago since 1854, who died at his home, 113 South Green street, of cerebro-spinal meningitis, in his 73d year. He was one of the first members of the Chicago Board of Trade. He is survived by three sons, Albert, Charles, and Nathan, all in the commission business, and three daughters.

Chicago, March 6.—Where does Judge McKinlay get that stuff? Does he think that Virgil Kirkland would have willfully murdered the girl if he had not been drinking, or that if we did not have prohibition that the boy would have been drinking and have committed the murder? I doubt it. D. J. DANCER.

MEDICAL ETHICS.

Chicago, March 6.—The fact that doctors in good standing in the medical fraternity can readily be procured to give obviously partial defense and prosecution testimony should put an end to this twaddle about medical ethics in advertising and wherever else it is advanced. C. W. DEXTER JR.

RELATIVE BARBARISMS.

Chicago, March 6.—Many of our snobbish and thoughtless Americans can wax wroth over barbarities in Russia, and talk condescendingly about the castes in India, yet the news items in our daily press, coming from Gary, Los Angeles, New York, Chicago, cannot be duplicated in any country for depravity, barbarity, or morbidity.

MRS. MARY DOYLE.

IF PROHIBITION WERE REPEALED

Chicago, March 6.—Your correspondent, Mrs. Kate Hale, wants to know whether young people would drink less if liquor was cheaper and easier to get. The price of liquor could be made cheaper by government control of the liquor traffic and with such control the sale of a drink to a minor would be punishable by law. Is it not logical then to assume that drinking among our youth would be materially reduced? Under the present system anybody can get a drink. RAYMOND GREINER.

SUBWAY.

Chicago, March 6.—Chicago is preparing to build the long desired subway, so that the public may experience what the New York public has to stand for. It will bring before the eyes of the public the dirt and dust that flies from eye to eye, and make traveling so enjoyable.

How many Chicago citizens have had the experience of traveling through a subway, enjoying the speed of the trains and the art of picking your eye and breathing the filth from the street above; beside the intolerable odor derived from the flashes of electricity. The subways may be ventilated, but they do not rid themselves of dirt and odors.

I believe that many of our Chicago citizens will appreciate a ride, with plenty of fresh air and all the speed they want, if they ride the elevated. It takes 15 minutes to get to the loop from Wilson avenue in comfortable cars, and you enjoy every bit of the ride. Why not give the whole city that type of service? Since so much money is to be spent on the subway, why not spend it where every section of the city will benefit? Why spend all that money in the loop and leave the outlying districts marooned?

THE MARY.

Glenwood, Ill., March 5.—"A Derelict of the Lakes," in today's TRIBUNE sends me back to my engineering days on the Detroit and St. Clair rivers. I remember the Arrow and a fine ship she was at that time, and the Mary, too. I hate to have any one say she was not a fast and beautiful boat, for she ran for years on St. Clair river from Algonac to Port Huron and was very fast. In 1889 I was assistant engineer on the side-wheel passenger boat Idlewild and we could not keep up with her. The Mary was put out of business on the river when the electric trains began running from Detroit to Port Huron.

REPLY TO A NEW YORKER.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—What does E. D. Barrett of New York mean when he writes, "It's nice to know that you are safely back in God's country once more"? Does he mean he really feels safer in New York, where three hundred murders were committed last year, without one conviction? No wonder people stared at him. Who wouldn't?

LUCILLE HUNTER.

POVERTY.

Chicago, March 4.—I have recently been to 25 of the largest cities in the British isles, Australia, Canada, and the United States, and I saw more poverty in one corner of these 25 cities than there is in all Chicago. BRAMAN.

THE DANGER ZONE.

Chicago, March 6.—A news item in this morning's TRIBUNE covering the midwest safety conference at the Stevens hotel quotes Sheriff Crega' analysis of chief factors leading to accidents: Rate of speed, danger zone, and reaction time.

It, instead of stating that "a man walking at a pace of four miles an hour has a danger zone for six feet ahead of him," Sheriff Crega had said that the number of feet traveled per second is fifty per cent greater than the number of miles traveled per hour he would have said something which ought to be written indelibly on the consciousness of every automobile driver. In other words, an auto traveling at 100 miles per hour covers, to be exact, 146 2-3 feet per second. An auto traveling 40 miles per hour covers approximately 60 feet per second.

Not one driver in a hundred realizes this fact. Recently the writer was riding with a friend who drove at about 40 to 45 miles per hour. When asked how many feet were covered per second at a forty mile an hour speed the driver replied, "O, about 15 or 20 feet, I suppose." When told that he was driving at the rate of 60 to 70 feet per second along streets where children might, at almost any instant, dart out from behind some concealing object he was amazed, and he slowed down immediately.

In autos the absolute danger zone is at least twice as many feet ahead of you as your speed per hour.

GARETT FISH.

A BOOTLEGGER.

Chicago, March 4.—Recently I bought five gallons of bourbon whisky [illegible] from a competent bootlegger at $15 per gallon. I have it at home in my pantry for my own pleasure. When we have company I offer everybody a drink or two. A close friend of mine liked the stuff so well that he wanted to get some. We tried to get the bootlegger on the phone, but he had moved because of gangster troubles [as we have later]. I sold him a gallon of my stuff for $18, $3 covering container, etc. These containers are hard to get in residential districts.

He was talking about liquor to a friend or two of his one day and casually made the remark that he bought a gallon of extra good stuff from me. He was the only party I ever sold a gallon to. Now, because of my accommodation, I am known as a bootlegger and have the squads visiting my home periodically. Some cheap squawker, because of pure jealousy that he couldn't afford to pay the price for it, is squawking and exposing me all over the north side.

P. S.

THE BONUS.

Chicago, March 1.—If the next congress has any bowels of compassion and decency, patriotism, honor, it will arrange to plank down the soldiers' bonus now, and will see to it that neither the soldier himself, nor the common toiling masses shall be obliged to pay for it; but that, through sufficiently graded income or other tax, the rich whose wealth has been preserved to them, or who have been enabled to procure their millions through the sacrifice the soldier has made, shall bear the whole burden, and pay the bill.

A. B. BROWN.

THE NOISY GAME OF CAPONE.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—I note that a man in Michigan killed a boy who was playing with a cap pistol. I work hard and will contribute to paying this man's expenses to Chicago. He can get forty or fifty any day from my bedroom window. [Shame to the parents.] These brats play Capone and will certainly be a credit to their parents when they grow up, though by that time the parents will probably be in Dunning or Elgin. E. N. GUNNA.

DELILAH.

Chicago, March 1.—It would seem to be advisable for the company producing operas over station W-G-N to spell beforehand on the pronunciation of proper names. The listeners to last Sunday's production of "Samson and Delilah" heard the following varied pronunciations: "Delilah" was given as "Dee-ly-lah," "Day-lee-lah," and "Dah lee-lah," and "Philistine" as "Philistyne" and "Philistee," also the common English word "sure" became "shore" as used by one of the speakers. THE SIXTH JOURNEY

BY ALICE GRANT ROSMAN

SYNOPSIS.

John Falconer, a successful architect, returning home to England from Cape Town, meets Hilary Revel, author of travel books, on shipboard. During the journey home their acquaintance grows into a friendship neither wishes to end.

John tells Hilary of his daughter, Judith, born of a cafe singer while he was a soldier, and of his wife, John says, had magnanimously adopted the child. Hilary suspects such magnanimity. John's sister, Gertrude, became Judith's legal guardian when his wife died. Hilary had taken her war invalided brother, Hugh, away from home ten years ago to give her younger sister, Christine, and brother, Stephen, a better chance. Now that Hugh was dead, Hilary was returning home. Hilary is not met when the boat docks and John takes her to her door. Hilary's stepfather, the only sympathetic member of her family, tells her that Hugh left her his possessions in trust, to be settled on her at her marriage or to buy her an annuity at the age of forty if still single.

The next day after their return John takes Hilary to luncheon. He tells her he loves her and asks her to marry him, and Hilary accepts.

Judith leads a lonely life in her aunt's home. She has a private teacher, Miss Mead. while her cousins are away at school. Her cousin, Prue, is her only friend in her aunt's home. Her father she knows as Uncle John.

INSTALLMENT XIII.

A LONELY CHILD.

Judith, coming out from breakfast, ran upstairs rather quickly, humming a little tune as she always did when she wanted to reassure herself. Perhaps after all Aunt Gertrude's funny look had not had anything to do with her. Judith did not see how it could indeed, except that her aunt often did look at her in the particular way she had looked at the letter she was reading this morning, with her lips drawn in and her chin pushed out. If only Prue had been at home Aunt Gertrude might have shown her the letter and it would not have been so bad. Prue had no funny looks; she would laugh or growl and be done with it.

The little girl turned into her own small room, which she always wished was not quite so near her aunt's large and imposing one, and began very seriously to make her bed. . . . This was part of her education and though it bored her as she was never bored by schoolroom lessons, she gave it a great deal of careful attention this morning and hummed more than ever in order to still the fear at her heart. She was thirteen and quite old and intelligent enough to realize that it was foolish to be afraid of shadows, but perhaps some sense of insecurity in her life which had seen so many changes already, kept these fears on guard.

She looked at the silver wrist watch Prue had given her at Christmas, "a ridiculous gift for the child, Prudence," Aunt Gertrude had reproved her daughter, to which Prue had replied: "Well, you gave me one when I was six, and presents ought to be ridiculous in a silly world." It was part of Aunt Gertrude's step on the stairs!

Prue's charm that she said things like this which Judith could not understand, but which challenged her interest and attention.

The gift was the little girl's most cherished possession, but the time it told her this morning was disappointing. Still only ten minutes to nine! Judith did not like to go up to the schoolroom until it was nine o'clock exactly, lest she should find Miss Mead hastily scanning one of the lessons of the day and make her feel embarrassed.

Miss Mead was even more afraid of Aunt Gertrude's funny looks than Judith, because the money she was paid for teaching her pupils and doing the household mending and making herself useful generally was so important to her clever sister Gwen. If Aunt Gertrude sent Miss Mead away it would be dreadful, and Judy, who had heard about all the hopes and difficulties of the Mead family, would sometimes, when her governess was looking anxious and cast down, hesitate over her lessons and pretend not to know them when she did, to make Miss Mead feel she was not getting on too fast for her, after all. Miss Mead had left school when she was sixteen, which was six years ago, and not having expected to be a governess, had forgotten a great many of the things Judy wished to know. This was a pity but could not be helped. She was sorry for Miss Mead. In the little girl's favorite day dream, where her rich father suddenly returned from abroad and sent her to school, he always provided lavishly for Miss Mead, who said good-by to her clad from head to foot in beautiful new clothes. She could not really have enjoyed the dream otherwise.

Fortunately Aunt Gertrude did not trouble the schoolroom much, beyond insisting that her niece learn only useful things. Drawing, which seemed to come natural to Judy, was not useful and therefore forbidden. Miss Mead had unwisely, though with the best intentions, shown one of her pupil's little sketches and Aunt Gertrude had said it was rubbish and she would not have it, and Judith obviously had no talent at all. A succession of dusters to hem and garments to make for the poor had been immediately provided instead to keep her pupil suitably occupied. The little garments were so ugly that Judith, sorry for the poor who had to wear them, stitched them in every fancy way she knew to make them prettier.

"That's very nice indeed, my dear, you have done them beautifully," said Aunt Gertrude, pleased. "Really I think we must send them to the church bazaar instead of giving them away. Now isn't that an honor for you?"

Judith supposed so, but in her heart was disappointed. Working on the garments she had shared the excited pleasure of the poor who would presently receive them, but you cannot picture the pleasure of a church bazaar.

Aunt Gertrude's step on the stairs! Judith, who had been looking out the window, ran to the dressing table guiltily, set it in order, and then began to tidy the drawers beneath.

"Jane," she heard Aunt Gertrude call to the housemaid briskly, "leave that room for the moment and take this telegram to the postoffice for me at once. Here is the money, two shillings, reply paid."

Aunt Gertrude went downstairs again, and Judith caught her breath. A telegram! O, she hoped it had nothing to do with her. Catching sight of her own anxious face in the mirror, she hastily summoned a smile to reassure it. Everything was all right . . . Aunt Gertrude could not possibly be angry about anything, for look how kind she had been on Monday. She had said that as it was such a lovely day Miss Mead had better give Judith a holiday and take her to the Tower. She had given them money for lunch and even tea in town and told them they might come home as late as half-past six. It had been great fun, and Judy had been all the gladder when Jane told her that Uncle John had come to see Aunt Gertrude while they were away. She was shy of him because he always asked to see her, Aunt Gertrude said, on dear Aunt Sylvia's account. He was Aunt Sylvia's husband and she had died. She was afraid to be jolly for fear of hurting the visitor's feelings, yet if she were too quiet Aunt Gertrude reproached her for having nothing to say. "You see how it is. You remind her too much of Sylvia, poor little thing. She is bright enough at ordinary times," she would say reproachfully to her brother.

Her child's passionate sense of fair play sent all Judith's sympathies to Uncle John on these occasions, for Aunt Gertrude was always ready enough to remind her of Aunt Sylvia herself. It was the final argument and the final reproach in any clash between them. "What would your darling Aunt Sylvia say to such a naughty girl?" or "No, Judith, it was your Aunt Sylvia's wish that you should do so and so and you must obey it like a dutiful child."

It had been Aunt Sylvia's wish that she should not be sent to school. Judith wanted to go more than anything in the world. Everybody else went to school. Prue had gone until she was too old, and now she was at college in town and lived in rooms with other girls; Cecil and Midge went to school, and though Judy did not really like them much, they were creatures of consequence to her because of that. School had become a heaven denied her. Besides Prue had hundreds of other girls to work and play with; you could never be lonely and never dull. School knew all the things Miss Mead couldn't tell you and besides everybody went to school. The last was the poignant point of all to Judith, because of the frightened, secret, never acknowledged conviction that she was somehow different from other people. She did not know when this belief had first come to her or how. It was not from anything that had been said or done.

GASOLINE ALLEY—A SLIM CHANCE

Ring Lardner's Tin Pan Alley Comedy Good

Jack Oakie as Electric Poet Gets Singed.

"JUNE MOON."

Produced by Paramount. Directed by A. Edward Sutherland. Presented at the Chicago theater.

THE CAST.

Frederick Martin Stevens.... Jack Oakie
Edna Baker.... Frances Dee
Eileen Fletcher.... June MacCloy
Paul Sears.... Ernest Wood
Lucille.... Wynne Gibson
Maxie Schwartz.... Harry Akst
Sam Hart.... Sam Hardy
Goldie.... Ethel Sutherland
Miss Rixey.... Jean Bary
Young Goebel.... Harold Waldridge
Window cleaner.... Frank D'Arien

By Mae Tinée.

GOOD MORNING!

KIND: Tin Pan Alley comedy drama that dripped originally from the facile pen of that droll genius, Ring Lardner.

QUALITY: Good.

ACTING: Convincing. Jack Oakie is exceedingly likable as the almost unbelievably boneheaded electrician from Schenectady who goes to set New York afire with his lyrics and who, of course, merely succeeds in getting burned. Frances Dee is sweet as the home town girl who stands by. Harry Akst as a world-wise but unembittered accompanist for a song publishing house gives one of those performances that leave a dent on the memory. Other rôles are well played, and if laughing is not a difficult matter with you you'll enjoy Frank D'Arien, who plays an ambitious kid composer who loves to sing his own songs, which run like this:

Should a father's carnal sin
Blight the life of Babykin?
All I ask is give my child a name—
(A last name).

PHOTOGRAPHY, SOUND, STAGING, ETC.: Okay.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: "June Moon" is for folks who prefer to be amused rather than instructed.

"LE ROI S'ENNUIE."
("The King Becomes Weary.")

French Film.
Directed by Gloria Swanson's Husband.
Presented at the Cinema Theater.

THE CAST.

The Queen.... Françoise Rosay
The Girl.... Pauline Carton
The King.... Emile Chautard
The Boy.... Jules Ramcourt
The General.... Jacques Jan Jerville

This is the French al-talking adaptation of Robert E. Sherwood's amusing story and play, "The Queen's Husband," which you saw on the Palace screen several weeks ago under the hideous title of "The Royal Bed."

While played by an entirely different cast, the picture at the Cinema is much like the Hollywood made version. It is excellently acted—though I preferred the cast headed by Lowell Sherman—and should prove of much amusement value to those who understand French. Because so much of the story's meaning is carried in the lines and the shading with which they are delivered, I doubt if the action will be entirely intelligible to observers who do not parlez vous. I "got" it, but, you see, I had been to the Palace. HOWEVER—

The management of the Cinema has thoughtfully printed the story on the back of the little program that is handed to you. Loiter in the lobby and take a squint at it before entering the darkened theater.

See you tomorrow.

Roman Auto Owners Seek Blessing Against Mishaps

ROME, March 8.—(AP)—The automobile owners of Rome will be up early tomorrow morning to take their cars down to the Church of Santa Maria Nova in the Forum, there to have them blessed and to ask that they be preserved from accidents during the coming year.

For tomorrow is the feast day of Santa Francesca, pious Roman widow, founder of the Order of the Oblates of Tor De'Specchi, who died in 1440. For some unknown reason she has been chosen as the patroness and spiritual protectress of the Roman motorists.

Since her body is buried in Santa Maria Nova it is there the car owners repair for the benediction, imparted with holy water by the clergy of the parish from the threshold of the church.

HE CANTERS

OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES.
[Harris & Ewing Photo.]

Washington, D. C., March 8.—(AP)—Having watched the passage of four score and ten years, Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes of the Supreme court told a radio audience tonight his work was not yet done.

Breaking the routine of years to make a radio speech on his 90th birthday anniversary, he listened to the tributes of others and then said:

"In this symposium my part is only to sit in silence. To express one's feelings as the end draws near is too intimate a task.

"But I may mention one thought that comes to me as a listener in," he added. "The riders in a race do not stop short when they reach the goal. There is a little finishing canter before coming to a standstill. There is time to hear the kind voice of friends and to say to one's self: 'The work is done. But just as one says that the answer comes: 'The race is over, but the work never is done while the power to work remains.' The canter that brings you to a standstill need not be only coming to rest. It cannot be, while you still live. For to live is to function. That is all there is to living.

"And so I end with a line from a Latin poet, who uttered the message more than fifteen hundred years ago: "'Death plucks my ear and says, 'Live—I am coming.'"

Farmers Seek Pact Affecting Chicago Milk

3,000 Expected Here for Tomorrow's Session.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Three thousand farmers representing the dairymen of three states who supply Chicago and 16 nearby cities with nearly four million quarts of milk each morning, are expected to attend the sixth annual meeting of the Pure Milk association at the Auditorium hotel tomorrow.

W. C. McQUEEN.
[Carlson Photo.]

Spirited discussions of the overproduction of milk in the middle west are expected from delegates, according to officers of the association. Curbing of production, marketing, transportation, and price agreements with city dairies are among the subjects for discussion. Another topic is to be the state law against dealing with butter substitutes.

"Our 20,000 farmer members now furnish 100 per cent of the milk and cream for the 131 Chicago dealers and for such cities as Aurora, Joliet, Gary, Hammond, South Bend, Freeport, Kenosha, and all communities these cities circumscribe," declared W. C. McQueen of Geneva, president.

"The association was born during a campaign against bovine tuberculosis four years ago," he said. "The original members determined to furnish a milk supply that would meet the most rigid board of health requirements. Their success is manifest in the statement of the city health department that Chicago's milk supply is the purest and highest in quality of any large city in the world.

"Nor has the benefit been to the public alone. The advantage of a central office for weighing, testing, and marketing of milk has been reflected in added profit for the farmer members, and the staff of experts, including our 30 trained inspectors, helped build more efficient herds, as well as checking constantly on the quality of milk we are delivering."

Mrs. W. E. Fribley of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, is expected to describe how 527 destitute families in Chicago and suburbs have been supplied with $14,000 worth of milk donated by the farmers since the first of the year.

Dr. Arthur E. Holt, professor of social science at the University of Chicago; Stuart Pierson, director of the state department of agriculture, and Don N. Geyer, manager of the association, are also scheduled to speak. A dairy luncheon will be served at noon.

Dartmouth Head Will Be Speaker at Dinner Here

Dr. Ernest Martin Hopkins, president of Dartmouth college, will be the principal speaker at the annual banquet of the Dartmouth Alumni association of Chicago, to be held in the Blackstone hotel on Wednesday. President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern university, President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago, and President L. B. Hopkins of Wabash college, a brother of Dr. Hopkins, will be among the guests.

DR. HOPKINS.

Before taking over the presidency of Dartmouth Dr. Hopkins was connected with industrial concerns, including the Western Electric company at Hawthorne. During the war he served for a time as assistant secretary of war in charge of industrial relations and was representative of the war department on the war labor policies board.

SPRING FLOWERS IN LOOP AS ANNUAL SHOW GREETS PUBLIC

Spring flowers blossomed in the loop yesterday. The annual flower show of the Garden Club of Illinois opened in the Hotel Sherman. The show, which will continue all week, is sponsored by the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs.

The beauty of the dunes, with the flowers of the wind blown sand hills, is among the exhibits. This is sponsored by the Warren Garden club in its campaign for the creation of a dunes park on the north shore. Rock gardens and other types of home floral gardens are numerous. The Allied Florists' association has a special exhibit of cut flowers.

A home and garden luncheon is to be held Wednesday, for which there are 700 reservations. Mrs. Alice B. Harrington, assistant state ornithologist of Massachusetts, will speak on bird sanctuaries, and Mrs. Thoron Colton will lecture on common species of birds. Mrs. Mary A. Wall, president of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, is to address the meeting.

THE STAGE

TONIGHT will see the opening performances of "Up Pops the Devil," a comedy, at the Selwyn theater, and "The Ninth Guest," a drama of crime mystery, at the Adelphi theater. Tomorrow evening will bring the première of Elmer Rice's expressionistic play, "The Adding Machine," at the Goodman theater . . . The Dramatic League of Chicago issues a bulletin to the effect that its subscribers will be granted privileges for "Up Pops the Devil," although this play is not an item in its season. The same arrangement prevailed during the recent engagement of "The Man in Possession," at the Selwyn.

Dennis King will play the title rôle in the impending revival of "Peter Ibbetson," which will have its first acting in New Haven, Conn., April 2, and will appear on Broadway Easter week. The character was first acted on the American stage by John Barrymore. Alice John, who recently appeared here as the mother in "Berkeley Square," will be another member of the "Peter Ibbetson" cast. Constance Collier is attending to the stage direction.

The career of "Nina Rosa," which has covered two seasons, ended in Boston last Saturday night. Its producers ushered it to the storehouse with high honors; and five or ten years hence they will probably revive it. "Nina Rosa" ran in Chicago for sixteen or seventeen weeks last season, and since then the operetta has flourished in New York and on tour.

Three of the four theatrical productions whose New York runs ended last Saturday night are headed toward Chicago. They are the Theater Guild's "Elizabeth the Queen," Helen Hayes' starring vehicle, "Petticoat Influence," and the revived operetta, "The Student Prince." They are scheduled for early spring engagements here. The fourth was "Greater Love," which probably will never be heard of again. . . . In regard to "Elizabeth the Queen" one should note that Percy Waram has resumed his original rôle—that of Sir Walter Raleigh—for the tour. He succeeds Moffatt Johnston, who will enter the cast of a new play called "Men Must Fight."

William Faversham, who has had a brilliant career as a star and actor-manager, will return to the stage next week in a stock company revival of "The Squaw Man" at East Orange, N. J. His name has been missing from the playbills since 1924, except for the easily remembered tour of the all-star "Diplomacy" company which permitted John Drew to die happily in harness. . . . As a bit of coincidence, it may be noted that Francis X. Bushman is acting Mr. Faversham's old rôle in "The Squaw Man" with the stock company at the Kedzie theater this week.

George Jessel, the comedian with ambitions to be an impresario and also a playwright, has written a comedy in collaboration with Edward Childs Carpenter which he calls "M. C."—meaning master of ceremonies. He intends to stage the piece next summer in the hope of a Broadway run, with himself in the leading rôle.

How to Educate Some Parents, Subject for Discussion Tomorrow

An all day conference on parent education will be held tomorrow at the Woman's City club, 4 North Michigan avenue, by the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers. Mrs. Harry R. Detweiler of Aurora, president of the congress, will preside.

At the morning session Prof. Charles H. Judd, director of the department of education, University of Chicago, will speak on parent education through coöperation of the child research experts of the University of Chicago with the Illinois congress. Other speakers will include Prof. Walter S. Monroe, acting dean of the college of education, University of Illinois, and Dr. Karl Adams, president of Northern Illinois State Teachers' college.

The Chicago Woman's club will hold a recreational conference today in the organization's quarters at 72 East 11th street. Methods used in promoting the play of children by the south, west, and Lincoln park boards, the board of education, and the city will be shown. At 11 a. m. there will be a puppet show demonstrating the work of the south parks. Miss Claudia Wanamaker and Miss Edna B. Baker will conduct a symposium on methods at noon, and in the afternoon dramatic exhibitions will be given by selected groups of children. The meeting is open to the public.

London Untidy, but Politely Silent on That Candidates Don't Mention Quaint Methods.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 8.—Of all the continental cities, London's method of ridding itself of waste and garbage is probably the worst. The great, sprawling city, housing more inhabitants than any other in the world, has in use a heterogeneous, in some districts medieval, collection of systems which for the most part provide only for hauling the refuse miles away to an insanitary dump.

The election of the London county council will take place soon, and Sir Robert Donald writes in the Times that probably none of the candidates will mention the subject. Admittedly, conditions are terrible, but all efforts to bring about unity in a welter of futile suggestions or to evolve a central authority capable of dealing with them have failed.

Including the square mile of the city of London itself, there are 29 local authorities in the county of London. Each has its own system and goes its own way in treating household, street, and trade refuse in its district.

"Both horse and motor traction are used, and the vehicles in many cases are antiquated," Donald writes. "There still are 'Noah's ark' horse carts in use, some of them high loading and open, with the result that dust blows about the streets and on the foodstuffs in shop windows."

This is particularly objectionable in London, where green grocers', butchers', and fruiterers' shops are open to the street.

"Receptacles for collecting are frequently unsuitable," Donald continues. "Sometimes direct, sometimes contract labor is used for collection and disposal. The cost of collection per ton differs widely. The boundary lines between boroughs frequently pass down the middle of streets, so that half-filled vehicles collect at different times. The refuse and street litter from one side of a street may be disposed of in Middlesex, and from the other side in Essex.

"In the process of collection and transport vehicles pass through the areas of different authorities. There is no early morning collection outside the central area. Irregularity of collection interferes with traffic, and adds to congestion."

Including the urban areas adjacent to the County of London, the total cost of waste disposal amounts to about £16,000,000 annually. What happens to it? Incinerators are in use by a few boroughs, but these find the cost of sorting combustible material for the furnaces eliminates any profit from power generated at the plants.

As for the rest: "The favorite method resorted to for disposing of London refuse, débris, dust, litter, rubbish is to dump heterogeneous masses containing a variety of chemical substances in various stages of decomposition in the areas of other authorities outside the county," he says. "London refuse is dumped in seven surrounding counties against the wishes of local authorities and to the detriment of the health of local residents.

"The material is transported by barges down the river or by canals, by railway trucks, to brick fields and dumps. Part of the material is used, not very economically, for brick making, a small quantity is used for agricultural purposes, but the bulk is carried to disposal works outside London or to dumps. The journey may be a distance of from 10 to 40 miles, and the loads are a nuisance on the way, and are a still greater nuisance when the rubbish reaches the disposal points, when, says the comprehensive report by Mr. J. G. Dawes, it is capable of quickly producing serious nuisances from effluvia, fire, flies, and rats."

His suggestions are for the appointment of some central authority to deal with the problem, ultimately by large incinerators below London on the Thames, which he asserts could be easily converted into power plants. Refuse taken from the combustible material by sifting could be used for agricultural and brick manufacturing purposes, he asserts.

British Consul Here on Way to San Francisco

A. Charleton, recently appointed British consul at San Francisco, arrived in Chicago yesterday morning with Mrs. Charleton from their former post at Milan, Italy. They were met by Godfrey Haggard, British consul general for Chicago, whose guests they will be until they leave for the west coast Tuesday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Charleton are staying at the Pearson hotel.

OUR SECRET AMBITION

Change in Color Scheme Calls for Change in Make-Up

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

The experience of an acquaintance who, window shopping one day, was lured into a purchase of one of those cold water blue shades in a dress, will be repeated probably by more than her, this season. When she got the dress home and tried it on, away from the flattery of a good sales tongue, she found it made her look wan and haggard. It drained what little color she had out of her cheeks and it made her hair look drab. Not much on makeup at any time, this acquaintance didn't rely on it, as the new color ventures often advocate.

It may not be an ice blue or a Madonna blue that will be your color and makeup problem. It may be one of the greenish golds, or the rust reds, or some other tone. But what you want to bear in mind with your promised break into colors for the spring is that you've got to check up on the kind of makeup you are using. What you wore with the warm brown or blue in the winter may not suffice at all with the new shade adopted. Or the black you have been wearing, against which a simple application of an unobtrusive style of makeup was the right and proper touch, changed to an entirely different color scheme in dress calls for revolutionary makeup changes.

In other words, such are the strides of makeup in the last decade that you have to keep on "striding" with it. Makeup is no longer just a bit of color for cheeks and lips, and a dash of powder to tone it all down. It's something to work at and on and with—and we might say, against a tone of dress that you haven't worn before.

The rule applies to eye shadow, too. It is simply amazing the entire change a strong color tone in dress, or an offshade, perhaps not strong, will make in the natural shade of eyes, hair, and skin. So powerful is the color influence that years go on and off with its proper or improper adaptation.

I can't give you rules for makeup coloring to go with dress shades. That's something, however, I feel sure you have the wit to find out for yourself through experimentation. The important thing to know is that varying dress colors call for complementary shades in makeup.

If you aren't sure about what to use, consult some one who has a good color sense and who is friend enough to tell you where you may be wrong. Anyway, if you want to be right up to date on beauty aids—here's one within your ken for study and fine application.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

L. N.: IF THE CONDITION OF UNderweight is due to improper digestion, bad elimination, lack of proper assimilation of food, or disease, as is often the case, treatment must be given to correct the fault, before weight can be added.

G. C. S.: THOSE WHO CLAIM they can't drink milk have a deficiency in gastric juice, as a rule. Add a few drops of lemon or orange juice and the milk will be found to be more digestible.

Junior League Roles Demand Some Courage

BY THALIA.

THOUGHTS on the Junior league's "Land of Oz"—some of the players, we think, should be awarded a prize for the fortitude with which they endure the physical discomforts of their rôles: Kathryn McKenna, for instance, must enjoy straightening up after remaining for so long on all fours as "The Saw Horse," and Mrs. John Lewis Cochran as the dandified "Tin Woodman," with a cumbersome lanternlike headpiece, and Mrs. Donald La Chance, who has to carry a terrifically large pumpkin on her head, must be greatly relieved when they doff their costumes . . . the makeups, which are always triumphs of disguise in the league plays, seemed particularly good on the character roles, especially those of Peggy Hambleton as the toothless, snarled haired old witch, and Mrs. Richard Gambrill as the brainless scarecrow with straw hair, hands, and feet, and a vapid white face topped by a wabbling crown.

Out Hinsdale way there's a chicken-pox epidemic, most of the youngsters having been exposed at a birthday party a couple of weeks ago. . . . Mrs. Walter M. Sheldon is taking her son, Teddie, to visit his grandparents, the Arthur J. Eatons, in Quincy, for four or five weeks. . . . Mrs. Frederic Bolce is now in Phoenix, and Mrs. Chauncey Lamb and her son, David, are in Paris for several months.

Wells College Benefit Lecture and Several Other Events.

You should note . . . the Chicago Wells College club benefit lecture at the Bendix galleries at 11 o'clock this morning [Miss Gladys Cable and Mrs. Donald Cotton are co-chairmen, and Miss Alice Barler, president of the club, and Mrs. Fred Starbuck are assisting with the arrangements] . . . the third of the Cenacle Lenten lectures, "The East vs. the West," by Dr. Louis H. Wetmore, at the residence of Mrs. William Roy Carney at 3400 Sheridan road at 3 o'clock this afternoon . . . the opening night of Elmer Rice's expressionistic play, "The Adding Machine," at the Goodman tomorrow eve . . . an Arts club tea on Friday [it's the 13th, too] to open a quartet of exhibitions, paintings by Georges Rouault, sculptures by Henri Matisse, flower, animal, and still life paintings, and an exhibition from the Bauhaus at Dessau, Germany . . . a Vocational Society for Shut-ins sale and program at the Bendix galleries on Tuesday, March 24.

Sprightly Retort by Workman Now Oak Street Tradition

Hearsay over the week-end . . . that Thorne Donnelley has bought Mr. Eddie Meyer's house on Oak street, the one that Ben Marshall did and that has all the trick features to it—disappearing tables, a gorgeous swimming pool, etc. (One day when the house was being built some years ago a passerby asked one of the workmen about the digging for the pool. "Lady," he replied, "we're building a bathtub that's big enough for anybody in Chicago") . . . that there's a spirited backgammon tournament going on at the Racquet club and a squash racquets tournament at the H. Y. P. club . . . that the West Point association is to have its banquet at the Tavern on March 21, with Col. Horatio Hackett and Col. Humphrey in charge . . . that Carroll Sudler Jr. and his fiancée, Miss Roberts, who is visiting here from Baltimore, are going to parties being given for them about every night during her week's stay . . .

Notes . . the John Bordens are giving a dinner party this evening at their apartment on the roof of the Ambassador East for Mrs. Joe Leiter, who has been in town for several days . . . the Needlework and Textile Guild is to have a talk by Miss J. M. Christie of the Royal School of Needlework of London (that always sounds so impressive, doesn't it?) on Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock in the Allerton . . . the Donald Douglases are thinking about a European trip, but haven't made any definite plans yet . . . in the Art institute show of portraits of children by artists of international reputation are Katherine Dudley's one of Sarah Brewster, one of the Gustavus F. Swift's 3 children, done by the famous French artist, Jacques Emile Blanche, the Bouetet de Monvel one of Graham Aldis, lent by Arthur Aldis, and a childhood painting of Sylvia Shaw Judson by Charles W. Hawthorne.

Edison Visits Firestone; Ford There Day Before

Thomas Edison, 84 year old inventive genius, and Harvey S. Firestone, manufacturer, spent a quiet Sunday during the former's annual visit to the Firestone estate here.

Henry Ford, third member of the famous group, was absent, although he was here yesterday prior to the arrival of Mr. Edison and his party.

Example Is First Requisite Toward Child's Orderliness

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

New revised edition of the "Sex Education" booklet will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A sweater here, a pair of small galoshes there, a pile of blocks, a grimy hand towel draped over a dining room chair—it really doesn't take much to give an effect of great disorder. And how discouraging it is to a mother to be constantly confronted with disorder—or else to be constantly picking up.

Of course, if you have children and want to enjoy life and to have them enjoy it you can't expect perfection in your ménage. You can't have one of those houses that look like the window of a furniture store or an interior decorator's conception of a living room. The signs of use and reasonable wear and tear, and the disorder that go with liveableness are warm evidences of human occupation.

An eminent decorator said, not long ago, that she could not approve of any room that did not have at least one shabby chair in it. Well, be that as it may, we mothers don't have to worry for fear there won't be one shabby piece of furniture in sight! Our concern is more apt to be that we'd like to have one piece that isn't shabby! But to go on.

First, if you want your children to be orderly you must set them some sort of example. You can't legitimately complain of their leaving things around if they see the rest of the family doing it, or if you, yourself, are a disorderly person and they see the whole house in that state most of the time. Though occasionally children learn orderliness in desperation! I do know one little girl who, as soon as her mother is away for any length of time and she has to get a meal, goes to work and reorganizes the kitchen shelves and closets so that the place is almost unrecognizable. This, however, is rare. Example is one of the first requisites toward obtaining orderliness in children.

We'll continue the subject tomorrow.

ENGAGEMENTS

Announcement was made yesterday of the engagement of Frank Bostick Gilmer of 2600 Lake View avenue to Mary Elizabeth Swain of Washington, D. C., formerly of Norfolk, Va. Miss Swain is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Swain. Mr. Gilmer is named after his father. His grandfather is Dr. Thomas Lewis Gilmer, dean emeritus of the dental school of Northwestern University. Dr. Gilmer's father was Thomas Walker Gilmer, secretary of war in the cabinet of President Tyler.

Mr. Gilmer is with the law firm of Winston, Payne, Strawn & Shaw. Both he and Miss Swain were graduated in 1929 from the law school of the University of Virginia. They will be married March 21 in Washington.

Mrs. George Bruce Douglas of Cedar Rapids, Ia., announces the engagement of her daughter, Ellen, to George Jaeger Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Jaeger of 70 East Cedar street. Miss Douglas is a graduate of Vassar and attended Miss Spence's school in New York. Mr. Jaeger is a Princeton graduate, class of '23.

Sailors' Songs Reveal Britons in Good Voice

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Something rather out of the ordinary in musical programs went on at the Studebaker yesterday afternoon, when John Goss, baritone, and the London Singers—who, by the way, are not the English Singers, but a male quartet—presented a program in great part of sea chanteys.

Chanteys are, or were, sailor songs to be sung when pulling on rope or turning the capstan. They are simply constructed with strong accents, the leader singing one or two lines, the chorus taking up the refrain. They are primitive, they are frequently more or less rowdy, but they are no end entertaining. Mr. Goss generally led the quartet, but he was not insistent about it, sometimes resigning his place to one of the others and becoming part of the ensemble.

They are a competent group of singers. Being English, they believe in clear enunciation of English words. At least once one suspected them of giving the American language a bit of criticism. It was an American chantey, "Can't You Dance the Polka," marked by a flatness of vowel in the first and third words that went even beyond American custom.

Mr. Goss was heard in a group of songs sung to the memory of his friend, the late Philip Haseltine, whose literary and musical name was Peter Warlock. Presumably the music of the songs came from the Warlock pen. At any rate they had a tang of melody that took them as much out of the ordinary as the chanteys. There were other songs by the group, folk music, religious, historical, and most of them likewise of high entertainment.

Two of the other concerts of the afternoon were of chamber music. The Mischakoff String quartet at Orchestra hall showed a remarkable improvement over its former appearance there. Tone has become more uniform, interplay of instruments more easy, and consequently spirit of performance has been much heightened. They were playing the Tschaikowsky quartet when the hall was visited.

The Beethoven trio, playing cosily in the lounge of the Cordon club, is also a much improved organization. Beginning with the Brahms trio in C minor, and continuing with some pieces by Cadman and another trio by Mozart, the three artists were fluent, excellent of tone, and musically logical.

Harold Van Horne, pianist, gave a recital in the Playhouse, dividing his program between the classics and moderns. In both he played with a manner of much earnestness, sometimes at the expense of lightness, but generally with the air of conviction through careful study.

On the other side of the loop Hedwig Schoch, diseuse, gave a program of dramatic interpretations and her own sketches with Adolphe Mowschine at the piano. Oscar Wilde's "The Happy Prince" is not a light hearted work, and possibly Miss Schoch put special emphasis on its tragic note. She has, however, an excellent voice for reciting lines, and the unobtrusive incidental music by Liza Lehmann was pleasant enough.

IF YOUR SIDEWALK IS BURIED UNDER SNOW TELEPHONE TO SALLY

Jobs by the hundreds evolved out of the blizzard of Saturday, as the great army of the unemployed thrilled at the chance to earn a few dollars after months of idleness, attacked the business of digging the city out from under the blanket of ermine that smothered sidewalks and boulevards alike. Sally Joy Brown, with an eye out for any sort of work for the many who appeal to her for help, is prepared this morning to provide help for all those householders and home owners whose walks were not among those cleared yesterday.

Calls to Miss Brown at THE TRIBUNE, Superior 0100, will be relayed to the Illinois Free Employment Service at 116 North Dearborn street, where the largest crowd of applicants of the week assembles regularly every Monday morning. Scores of these men have had no work for months—some have been without employment for two years, and a few, for even more prolonged periods.

Numerous avenues of help that can be given employers by these men were suggested yesterday by Sally and her assistants.

New Coiffures Set Off Many Chic Little Hats

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The new turned up brim hats call for brand new coiffures to match, for the hair must complete the line of the hat if the effect is to be a success. Though spring hats do not reveal everything but a postage stamp circle on the skull like those of last winter, nevertheless there are no hats covering the hair and so there's no getting away with a careless coiffure.

Paris coiffures have taken a tip from the 18th century wigs that accompanied the cocked hats of other days and have designed ways of dressing the hair, featuring the rolled curls over the ears that are so pretty balancing upturned brims.

Sketched today are two views of one of Antoine's latest coiffures. Note how the side rolls curve up to meet the curls that imitate a chignon placed high on the back of the head. The hair is cut in a rather long bob and loosely waved (via the permanent for this coiffure). In front it's parted on the right side and curls down into a love-lock over the left eyebrow.

The coiffure below is designed by Robert Graude for black hair that has a slight natural wave. It also features a right side parting and the two rolls over the ears. In back the hair sweeps down into another irregular roll that shows below the hat in back. It is attached toward the left side with a carved tortoise shell barette for daytime or a jeweled clip for evening.

Quilting Material Needed.

"I am a Chicago girl working in the southwest among the Indians. Knowing how you have helped many through your column, I, too, come for aid in behalf of a missionary who is teaching the women to make quilts. They are in need of pieces of any kind of material and would be so grateful if any of your readers could supply them. G. U."

It is quite likely that your scrap bag may supply material for the quilts these Indian women are making. Won't you help this good work by sending any pieces you may have?

When a Child is FEVERISH. CROSS, UPSET

Colic, gas, sour belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, in babies and children, generally show food is souring in the little digestive tract.

When these symptoms appear, give Baby a teaspoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Add it to the first bottle of food in the morning. Older children should be given a tablespoonful in a glass of water. This will comfort the child—make his stomach and bowels easy. In five minutes he is comfortable, happy. It will sweep the bowels free of all sour, indigestible food. It opens the bowels in constipation, colds, children's ailments. Children take it readily because it is palatable, pleasant-tasting.

Learn its many uses for mother and child. Write for the interesting book, "Useful Information." Address The Phillips Co., 170 Varick St., New York, N. Y. It will be sent FREE.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

Bold Tactics Are Needed to Stop the Man Who Curses

BY DORIS BLAKE.

What would you do if you found on your hands after your matrimonial grab bag dip a man who swore at you for every little thing? Would you swear back at him? Not a nice lady-like recommendation, certainly, but just the same there is one woman known to me who cured her mate of the habit by returning his compliments in regular dockwolloping style. The man stood rooted to the spot when his diminutive 5 feet 2 wife opened up and let out on him. She'd tried every form of pacifying first. Then she took up his tactics, with noticeable effect.

However, I present her only as a case. For general application I would certainly not recommend the lip soilers and ear shockers. Coming from a woman under any circumstances they're terrible. But you must do something with one of those cursers. They're a terrific strain on decent ears. Personally I think they should be locked up in a padded cell and left to cuss there until they got all the venom out of their systems.

However, no one has to sit around or stand around and take it—not while there are doors by which exits can be made. It's not one of the duties written into the wifely code.

The worst of it is that the woman who draws this kind of a matrimonial joker usually draws something else with it—a nagging, ugly disposition. This double dyed affliction is what "Anxious" has on her hands anyway. But between the lines of her letter I read a meekness of spirit that invites more nagging and more cusswords.

A meek spirit is just what the male species we're talking about has no business being confronted with. He needs a lady who can speak her mind and isn't afraid to tell him where to get off. This busines of reducing yourself to the kind of jelly mess that can be verbally kicked and booted about just doesn't go in circles where sympathy is meted out.

All the lady in the case needs to remember is that she has a bully on her hands—and bullies are the meekest of men when they recognize a stronger force in the other fellow.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Invitation Undeserved.

"Dear Miss Blake: I went with a boy one year. We broke but we still speak. He does not ask me out any more. Would it be right to invite him to a dance? "CYNTHIA."

Were I in your place I'd invite one of the boys who is taking you out.

Send a Letter.

"Dear Miss Blake: Should I call up a friend whom I haven't seen for quite a while and invite him to an informal party? B. B. H."

Send him an invitation by letter. Then he can use his own discretion about accepting.

Lent Day by Day

OVERFLOW OF PERSONALITY

Dr. Clarence A. Barbour
President of Brown university.
[From sermon last night before Sunday Evening club.]

Every man has two modes of influence; one with his purpose and one without it. The indirect power of a man is often quite as real and quite as effective as the direct. It may even surpass it.

People carry with them an atmosphere which is either debilitating or tonic. They often do more by this unconscious power than by their direct and immediate purpose. We are depressed or uplifted by our contacts with others. Those whom we meet change our world for us, and in a very real sense we live in their world and change it.

This overflow of personality is like a musical accompaniment. Every one without realizing it plays an accompaniment to the song of his own life. Sometimes it is in the same key; then there is consistency and harmony. Sometimes it is in a different key, and the result is discord; a discord we may not recognize but which is perfectly evident to others.

This overflow of personality and its quality depends upon the conscious energies of the soul, and is determined by the dominant note of life.

When life is done and the writing of the whole is read, it will be found that what has resulted from the overflow of personality will be the greatest factor in any achieving life.

No one so completely illustrates this truth as does the Master. Wherever He went He carried an atmosphere of healing, of inspiration, of salvation. Those who accompany Him will unconsciously carry His spirit and atmosphere with them as they walk among men.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

GIRL'S JACKET SUIT.

Even the smallest member of the family must have her jacket suit to step out smartly, this spring. This is an attractive design, and because girls must be a little more feminine, these days, a gathered ruffle has been added to the simple tuck-in blouse. The plaited skirt buttons to the blouse. Wool jersey, woolen plaids, and the crêpe de chines and linens will be pretty, using this design.

The pattern, 3001, comes in sizes 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. Size 4 requires 1⅞ yards of 39 inch material, with ⅜ yard of 35 inch contrasting for the blouse and 1½ yards of binding.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Slap That Went Too Far.

I had gone with a friend to a football game where we were rooting for opposite teams. As a man from my team made a grand run with the ball I raised my hand for a congratulatory slap on my friend's back. After the hand had come to rest I found I had hit not my friend but a woman—a perfect stranger—on the other side.

The various shades of red which crept over my face testified to my embarrassment. E. A. P.

Food Talk.

This is a time of the year when some people find it particularly hard to relish breakfast. Nothing whatever seems to appeal to their appetites. In most instances this condition is the result of trying to live on a diet that is too low in minerals and vitamins.

One of the pleasantest ways to arouse such lazy appetites is to go in for an all fruit breakfast for a few days or even weeks. To do this satisfactorily, one must, of course, choose the fruits judiciously. The best plan is to begin with the customary orange or grapefruit juice. Then proceed with one of the more seasonable fruits. Just now there are rhubarb and strawberries. Finish with some of the fruits that have a more concentrated food value, as bananas, dates or dried figs. These fruits, being high in energy value and having considerable bulk, do not leave one in an hour or two feeling as though no breakfast had been eaten. Select the ripest of bananas, those that are well speckled with brown spots. Bananas are sweetest and most easily digested when the skins are almost black.

To obtain the necessary number of calories from an all fruit breakfast it will be necessary to eat generous helpings of each fruit. A fruit breakfast means that nothing else but fruit is eaten. One may, if he chooses, use top milk or cream on some of the fruits. Many like cream with prunes, bananas, and figs. But never more than one fruit at a time should be eaten with cream, because cream satisfies the appetite before sufficient fruit is consumed. Try to omit sugar in this breakfast and enjoy the true fruit flavors.

The all fruit breakfast furnishes minerals, vitamins and bulk in abundance. If it is persisted in for a time the appetite will soon be restored to normal. Fruits are an abundant source of the appetite stimulating vitamin B. If there is an acid condition, it will be corrected, too.

BAKED MUSHROOM AU GRATIN.

Peel one pound of fresh mushrooms, lay aside six of the largest and chop the remainder with their stems. Sauté the chopped mushrooms in butter for 3 minutes. Mix two heaping tablespoons of bread crumbs softened in soup stock with 2 level tablespoons snappy cheese. Season with salt and cayenne to taste and fill the six mushrooms with this. Sprinkle the top with buttered crumbs and bake about 15 minutes in a moderate oven. Lay on slices of buttered toast and pour over the sauce made as follows: Brown two level tablespoons butter, add three level tablespoons flour, and cook together until brown. Then add slowly 1½ cups beef stock, stir and cook until smooth, strain, add the chopped mushrooms and season with salt and pepper to taste.

Meta Given will answer in this department questions that are of general interest from readers. Personal replies will be made by mail where stamped, self-addressed envelope is inclosed.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The first graders were instructed to bring their birth certificates in the afternoon. The young teacher was collecting the reports from the tiny tots, when a wail arose from the far side of the room. She rushed over to find a little girl with bowed head crying vigorously.

"Why, Anna Irene, what is the matter?" she asked.

"O, O!" sobbed Anna Irene, "I forgot my excuse for being born."

500,000 Acres Are Now Available, Survey Shows

Springfield, Ill., March 8.—[Special.]—The suggestion that Illinois sell large tracts of land to the federal government at a nominal price to establish national forest purchase units was made last week to Director of Conservation Ralph Bradford. Units are already being organized in Michigan, Wisconsin, and Minnesota.

Following a conference between Mr. Bradford and William '. Barker Jr. of the United States forest service, a bill to give the federal government the right to acquire land in the state for national forests was introduced by Representative William Z. Black [Rep., Champaign]. It was referred to the committee on agriculture for consideration.

500,000 Acres Available.

Mr. Barker has just concluded a survey of 500,000 acres of land in Jackson, Union, Alexander, Hardin, Gallatin, Pope, and Saline counties in southern Illinois and found, he told Mr. Bradford, a surprisingly large acreage of potential forest land in the region.

The government appropriates $1,000,000 to $3,000,000 each year for the purchase of these lands and the prices paid per acre are usually small.

In Michigan and Wisconsin, land was bought for from 75 cents to $2.50 per acre and in Minnesota, for from 50 cents to $1.75 per acre. This was for the soil value and the timber found will increase the price accordingly.

One Objection Cited.

The conference here was of an initial nature and the matter of prices for the Illinois land was not gone into, but it was considered possible that they would be higher than those in the other states, considering the productivity of the soil.

If the state should pass an enabling act forests would not be established where county opposition was found.

One objection already spoken of, is the fact that sale of the land to the government would remove it from the status of taxable property and thereby reduce revenue.

EXPECT RULINGS TODAY IN TRIAL OF 10 POLICEMEN

Decisions are expected today from the city civil service commission in the cases against ten policemen who were on trial last week on charges recommended by the special grand jury. These include the cases against Capt. Joseph Palczynski, who was suspended from his command of the West Chicago avenue district, and Sergt. Jack Hardegen of the North Robey street station. Maj. Carlos Ames, president of the civil service commission, said he would confer today with Commissioner Edward Dennemark, after which announcements would be made.

The special grand jury will meet again today, but yesterday Assistant State's Attorney Charles J. Mueller, in charge of the investigation of the police department, said he did not know what evidence, if any, would be presented at this session. He and his associates are to appear before Chief Justice John P. McGoorty this morning to press the contempt charges against Mrs. Shirley Kub, former investigator for Acting Police Commissioner Alcock, who defied the grand jurors.

WAR DECLARED ON COMMUNISM IN PHILIPPINES

All Agitators to Be Prosecuted.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, March 8.—Insular government officials have declared war on communism in the Philippines. After prolonged hesitation as to the course they should take, they have finally announced that they will use the mailed fist to check the advance of the Reds. This action follows the recent open activity of communist leaders, who discarded their secret methods of proselyting followers and resorted to mass demonstrations.

While nothing could be definitely pinned on the Reds in connection with the Tayug colorum [religious fanatics] uprising of Jan. 11, in which two constabulary officers, several enlisted men and several colorums were killed, it is generally admitted in well informed circles that Red leaders helped to fan the unrest among tenants and farm hands in Pangasinan, which culminated in the Tayug massacre.

Forbid Showing of Red Flag.

Then came the public demonstration on the streets of Manila, when 10,000 members of various labor organizations marched with Red flags at the funeral of Antonino D. Ora, supreme communist leader. This was followed by a monster public meeting in the province of Nueva Ecija, north of Manila, in which several thousand Reds also exhibited the Red flag during special services in honor of Ora.

The first indication of the aggressive anti-communist policy was given by the attorney general when he issued a ruling that the exhibition of the Red flag in public places was a violation of the sedition law of the Philippines, and urged the constabulary to see that the law was strictly enforced.

Three Complaints Filed.

Following this ruling, the secretary of justice announced that his department would start a series of prosecutions and forthwith ordered the filing of criminal complaints against three Red agitators—Crisanto Evangelista, Jacinto Manahan, and Dominador J. Ambrosio. Ten other communist leaders have been ordered closely watched.

The department of the interior, which controls the constabulary, is cooperating with the department of justice, and both departments have announced that no quarter will be shown to Red agitators who persist in proselyting the labor elements and openly advocating an active drive for greater rights for them.

SPIRITUALIST WHO WAS ONCE BRITISH CLERGYMAN DIES

FARNBOROUGH, Kent, England, March 8.—(AP)—The Rev. G. Vale Owen, one of the first Church of England clergymen to embrace spiritualism, died at his home today after an extended illness. He was 61 years old.

When Mr. Owen was vicar of Oxford a number of years ago, a member of his Bible class asked his opinion of spiritualism. Although the minister was completely skeptical, he decided it was his duty to investigate, and he attended a seance in London.

There he received a message from his mother and since had been an ardent advocate of spiritualism. Eventually he resigned his pastorate and devoted all his time to propaganda for his new belief.

Msgr. Grouard, Missionary Patriarch of North, Dies

EDMONTON, Alta., March 8.—(AP)—Bearded patriarch of the north, Msgr. Emile Grouard is dead today after seven decades of missionary effort in Canada's frontier country. At 91, the Roman Catholic prelate succumbed yesterday to a lingering illness at the little hamlet in the Peace River country named for him. Formerly vicar apostolic of Athabasca, the aged priest lately yielded his duties to Msgr. Joseph Guy.

Russia and Turkey Sign Black Sea Naval Pact

MOSCOW, March 8.—(AP)—The signing of an agreement between the soviet union and Turkey on naval construction in the Black sea was officially announced today. According to the terms each country must notify the other six months in advance when it intends to build a warship. The accord must be ratified by each government.

Denmark Declines Job of Watchdog in the Baltic

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, March 8.—During the final debate on disarmament in the folkting last night, Foreign Minister Munch declared: "Denmark must not be considered the keeper at the international gates of the Baltic. We would not be able to defend the gates for more than a few hours, so we prefer no defense."

Czechs Seize Official Gazette, 78 Other Papers

PRAGUE, Czecho-Slovakia, March 8.—(AP)—The Official Gazette, the semi-official Prager Presse and seventy-seven other publications were confiscated by police today because they published a parliamentary speech by the former general, Gaida, a Fascist. Authorities charged the speech held up the country and the legislative bodies to ridicule.

CHARLES NAYLOR, CHIEF ENGINEER OF FIELD'S, DEAD

Charles W. Naylor, 72 years old, chief engineer for Marshall Field & Co. and an employé of the firm for 45 years, died from heart disease Saturday night fifteen minutes after he had struggled through the storm to his home, 6449 Glenwood avenue, from the elevated station a few blocks away.

Born in Leeds, Yorkshire, England, Mr. Naylor was brought to this country as a baby by his parents, who later removed to Chicago. Mr. Naylor was graduated from old Chicago university in 1881. He married Miss Mary Hipp of Laporte, Ind., who survives him, together with a daughter, Henriette, and two sons, Charles E. Naylor of Chicago and George H. Naylor of Wheaton. He was a member of Psi Upsilon fraternity and of Garfield lodge, A. F. & A. M., a past national president of the National Association of Power Engineers, and a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the Western Society of Engineers.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon from the home. Burial will be in Forest Home cemetery.

Australian Voters Slash Labor Party's Majority

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SYDNEY, Australia, March 8.—The Labor party candidate won the East Sydney by-election today over the national candidate with a reduced Labor majority compared to the general election of 1929. This election, coupled with the Parkes township election, in which the nationalist candidate won the seat by several thousand majority, is looked upon as affording a definite demonstration of an emphatic swing-over of Australian electors from the Labor party.

Aid de Camp to Three British Rulers Dies at 86

LONDON, March 8.—(AP)—The seventh Viscount Galway died here today. He was 86 years old. Viscount Galway was aide de camp to Queen Victoria, 1897-1901; to King Edward, 1901-1910, and to King George, 1910-1920. He was a graduate of Christ church, Oxford, was Conservative member for North Nottinghamshire, 1872-1885, and was colonel of the Sherwood Rangers from 1882 to 1904.

FANNIE PATTERSON, FORMER DEALER IN REAL ESTATE, DEAD

Mrs. Fannie C. Patterson, 5943 Lakewood avenue, 66 years old, mother of Attorney Irene V. McCormick of the Legal Aid society, and Attorney Howard H. McCormick, died yesterday morning of heart disease at her home. Until ten years ago she was an active real estate operator.

MRS. FANNIE PATTERSON.
[Koehne Photo.]

Mrs. Patterson came to this country from France in 1876, and after a short residence in Philadelphia came to Chicago and attended school in Evanston. The funeral will be at 2 o'clock tomorrow under the auspices of the Eastern Star. Burial will be in Graceland.

ROCKET DRIVEN SLED TRIAL IS HALTED BY GALE

Syracuse, N. Y., March 8.—(AP)—A gale sweeping across Oneida lake today prevented a second attempt to try out the first rocket sled ever built in America. Harry Bull of this city, a student at Syracuse university, who designed and built the craft himself, hopes weather conditions will permit the trial to take place tomorrow.

First tests scheduled for yesterday failed when a short circuit prevented the rockets from exploding. Bull worked far into the night and several hours today rewiring the boat, installing more powerful batteries and more sensitive fuses.

Bull expects the 36 rockets exploded at intervals will propel the sled at a rate of twenty feet a second for 1,500 feet.

POLICEMAN BEATEN BY BANDITS.

Detective Patrick Murphy, 55 years old, 3237 Wallace avenue, of the central station, was attacked and beaten by three robbers under the Rock Island viaduct at Shields avenue and West 35th street Saturday night.

BOLIVIA RENEWS DEMAND FOR AN OUTLET TO SEA

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

LA PAZ, March 8.—President Salamanca's appointment of Daniel Sanchez de Bustamante as minister of foreign affairs is taken here to indicate the government's foreign policy will be based on the renewal of a demand for an outlet to the sea, at least by way of a river port on the Paraguay river if not direct to the Pacific. Bustamante has always energetically supported the thesis that Bolivia's sale of Antogagasta to Chile was made under force and is not legal, and also that Bolivia requires an outlet to the Atlantic by way of the Paraguay river for the development of its vast agricultural zone east of the Andean plateau, regardless of any negotiations which may be entered into for a port on the Pacific.

Extra MILK means extra health

Daddy is drinking an extra glass too.

WHY is it that many children reared in modest homes surpass in health and sturdiness those raised on more lavish diets? The answer very often is milk.

Children can best be made regular milk drinkers by supplying the milk that is most inviting—"Selected"—the milk with the "Sweet Natural Taste." Better tasting, because produced with more exacting care.

It costs but 16 cents a quart—3 cents extra—to give your children "Selected"—and encourage extra milk drinking. Surely your children are worth this small extra forethought for their health and small extra investment for their well-being!

Use the coupon or phone Franklin 3110 to make a trial of "Selected."

CITY FIGHTERS' ADMIRERS SURE THEY WILL WIN

Championship Facts

Event—Golden Gloves finals.
Place—Chicago Stadium, Wednesday night.
Admission—$1, $2, and $3; all seats reserved.
First bout—7:30 p. m.
Contestants—32 boys from 12 out of town teams and Chicago.
Boxers—Report between 2 and 6 o'clock Wednesday at the Stadium to weigh in; physical examinations between 5 and 6 o'clock; drawings at 6:30.
Team trophy point scoring—First, 3; second, 2; third and fourth, 1 point each.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The night when eight amateur boxing champions of the central states will be determined draws nearer. Wednesday night, before the largest crowd to see a boxing show since the 1920 intercity matches, 32 lads, four in each weight division, will battle for Golden Gloves championships at the Stadium.

That they have reached the finals is no small achievement. Each of the lads already had won a city title or had qualified in one of the three metropolitan sectional tournaments before fighting through the Tournament of Champions last week at the Coliseum. If defeated, still they may claim honor in the sport, but, if victorious, they not only have triumphed from a field of 2,000, but they also will be eligible to enter the fourth inter-city tournament which will be held in Madison Square Garden, New York, March 30.

Then Come French Battles.

And each of Chicago's Golden Gloves heroes who wins in New York then will be matched against a champion of France in the Stadium on May 12. These international bouts well may be called the championships of the world.

Twenty-four bouts, sixteen semifinals, and eight finals. This is the four hour program which commences at 7:30 Wednesday night.

Pairings will be made by lot at 6 o'clock. The luck of the draw may bring outstanding contenders together in the semi-final round.

For ten nights Chicago has seen its amateur boxers fight for the right to enter the Stadium bouts. Thousands have seen the contests on three sides of the city. These same thousands, augmented by hundreds from 15 cities in five states, attended the Tournament of Champions. They know and have appreciated the courage and skill which have carried 12 Chicago boys and 20 others from 12 localities into the final fray. To them Golden Gloves means sportsmanship, courage, and daring.

Admission at a Premium.

No wonder, then, that admission to the Stadium soon will be at a premium. Chicago wishes to watch its sons compete with other Illinoisans, with the boys from the Wabash country, from the shores of Lake Erie and Wisconsin, for Golden Gloves. Never before has metropolitan boxing skill been challenged as it has this year.

Chicago has its favorites, Freddie Caserio, the courageous middleweight, whose jabbing left and smashing right hand blows have carried him through an outstanding list of competitors. Jack Evans of Gary, Ind., who last year was an alternate light heavyweight on the Golden Gloves team; Max Maker, the cool, determined ban-

HAVE YOU GOT YOUR GOLDEN GLOVE TICKETS?

Tickets for the Golden Glove finals at Chicago Stadium Wednesday night are going fast, but there still are hundreds of good $1 and $2 seats available at The Tribune Public Service office, 1 S. Dearborn street. No further mail orders will be accepted.

Thirty-two boys, survivors of a field of 2,000, will battle it out for championships and the right to represent Chicago against New York in the intercity bouts at Madison Square Garden, March 30.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

All of the players with the exception of Goalies Timmins and McCusker spent some portion of the first ten minutes of the first period sprawled on the ice. Whether the management was using a new brand of ice or whether some malicious party had tampered with the blades of the boys' skates, all of them seemed to have more difficulty standing up than a 10 year old with his first pair of skates.

Oilers Score First.

The Oilers skated through the Shamrock defense for their first goal in 7:02, La France taking a pass from Trapp and scoring. Nearly nine minutes elapsed before they made it 2 to 0. Wakeford shot from in front of the net, but Timmins kicked out, only to have Moffat take the rebound and boot it in while Sam was off balance.

The Shamrocks didn't tarry long in producing their first score. The Burns-Riley-Wiseman combination was responsible. Bobby took the puck from Wiseman and shoved it over the prostrate forms of Wakeford and Trapp, who had rallied to McCusker's aid.

The second period was only three minutes and 56 seconds old when the Oilers increased their lead. Wakeford was skating along with the puck at a very leisurely pace when he suddenly shot the puck at the unsuspecting Timmins from the blue line and it went into the net.

Tulsa Counts Again.

The Shamrocks continually drew McCusker far out of his cage but either he was too alert or the Shamrocks were skating too hastily for any effective shots. Finally Headley carried the puck the length of the rink and passed it to Brydson, who flicked it in for the Chicagoans' second goal in 7:58.

Wiseman and Burns gave another one of their acts to bring the Shamrocks their third score. Peewee took it from Bobby and Goalie McCusker had no chance to block the shot, which was scored in 14:55.

The persistent efforts of the Shamrock line of Riley, Brydson and McFadyen finally tied the score after McCusker had fought them off almost single handed. Riley shoved the puck in at 16:22 on a pass from Brydson.

The Oilers came right back, however, and Marker to Trapp was the combination for their fifth goal. The time was 17:09.

Bricklayers Beat Millers of St. Louis

St. Louis, Mo., March 8.—[Special.]—Displaying all around superiority especially in the second half, the Bricklayers soccer team of Chicago captured the first of the three game series for the western division title in the United States Football association cup competition by overwhelming the Ben Millers 7 goals to 2 today at Sportsman's park. Although the playing field was a sea of mud, the Brickies plowed through as though they were playing on a dry field.

The Millers scored first at the 14 minute mark and again two minutes later, but then they were through for the day.

Four minutes later the Chicagoans started their drive to victory, by half time they had deadlocked the score at 2-all, and two minutes after play was resumed stepped ahead on a low boot by Cuthbert, and from then on it was a romp, four more goals being counted. Lineup:

JOLIET HEAVIES WIN, 30-22; TIE FOR SECTION LEAD

De La Salle of Joliet heavyweights again tied St. Ignatius for the lead in the south section of the Catholic league by defeating Mount Carmel, 30 to 22, at the winners' gym yesterday. The Joliet lights made it a double triumph by trimming the visitors, 20 to 17. The heavies will meet St. Ignatius within the week in a play-off game to decide the sectional champion.

Bob Becker Tells Scouts About His Adventure Story

Three Chicago Boy Scouts received the thrill of their lives yesterday afternoon, when they interviewed Bob Becker, outdoors writer for THE TRIBUNE, in his first of a series of adventure stories which he is telling once each week from W-G-N.

The three lads, in full Boy Scout regalia, are Giles Atwood, Eagle Scout, and Jack Wier, also an Eagle Scout, both of troop No. 342, and Phillip Freeman, Life Scout, of troop No. 641. They questioned Mr. Becker concerning his new adventure story, "To the Land of the Takatu," which starts in next Sunday's TRIBUNE.

The second of the radio broadcasts will be next Saturday night, 8:30 to 8:50, from W-G-N.

BROOKLYN AGAIN BEATS FT. WAYNE IN CAGE SERIES

New York, March 8.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Visitations scored their second straight victory over Fort Wayne in the playoff series for the American Professional Basketball league championship tonight, 21 to 13.

Brooklyn won the first game of the best four out of seven series here Thursday night, 14 to 10. The next three games will be played in Fort Wayne tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday.

The first half was a nip and tuck struggle with Brooklyn assuming a 9 to 8 lead at half time. In the second half, the Visitations' defense stiffened and Fort Wayne scored only five points.

Bud Taylor Matched with Massey for 10 Round Bout

Philadelphia, Pa., March 8.—(AP)—Announcement was made by the Arena corporation tonight that Bud Taylor, Terre Haute, Ind., and Lew Massey, Philadelphia, had been matched for a ten round bout here on the night of March 16. An effort will be made to match the winner against Benny Bass, junior lightweight champion.

AMERICANS BEAT BLACKHAWKS ON BURCH'S GOAL, 2-1

Romnes Makes Only Point for Chicagoans.

New York, March 8.—(AP)—A scrappy team of New York Americans turned the tables on Chicago's Blackhawks in a National league hockey game tonight, 2 to 1. It was the first game the Blackhawks lost in New York this season.

Clinging to their hope of getting into the Stanley cup playoffs, the Americans combined an effective attack with a superb defense and held their place only one point behind the third place Montreal Maroons.

The Hawks got off ahead in the second period, but the New Yorkers took advantage of a Chicago penalty to tie the score a few minutes later, and netted the winning goal early in the third period.

Romnes Scores for Hawks.

After the Hawks had fought through half the game without a goal, Doc Romnes bounced a tricky shot off a goal post into the net. Then with Stew Adams in the penalty box, the Americans came back with a smooth passing play that led to a goal by McVeigh. Billy Burch, veteran center, scored the winning tally as Goalie Chuck Gardiner fell in trying to stop him.

The Americans had little trouble getting past a rather ragged Chicago defense, but Gardiner's brilliance kept them from taking advantage of their opportunities.

Gardiner blocked Hughes neatly when he got through after several speedy Chicago raids had missed. The Americans seemed to have little trouble getting around the Chicago defense men, but they were left behind on the return trips and the play was as even as it was fast. Arbour and Somers worked their way through to the goal, only to miss a couple of poke shots.

Hawks Take Lead.

The Americans got the jump again at the start of the second period and threatened seriously on a couple of well timed raids. Then Couture sped down alone and was stopped when Worters dived out to snare the puck and spill the carrier.

Another change of lines finally brought a goal for Chicago. Couture was halted at the defense, but slid the puck forward to Romes. Doc stumbled between another pair of New Yorkers, and, still off balance as Worters came out to meet him, flashed a high shot which struck a goal post on the far side of the net and bounced in.

Adams drew the first penalty of the period on a slashing charge and in one play the Americans were down to even the score. Himes got the puck in a corner and shot it back to Dutkowski. The Duke relayed it forward to McVeigh, who slammed the shot in before Gardner could turn to stop him.

Americans Score Again.

A face off deep in Chicago territory soon after the start of the third period paved the way for a second American goal. Gardiner held the puck when the Americans drove in after the face off and the stunt was repeated. This time he dropped the rubber as Burch shot after taking Patterson's pass and Billy got it again, skated up alongside the goalie as he lay on the ice, and poked it in.

Lineup:

White Sox Find Batting Eyes and Defeat Buffaloes, 13 to 3

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Houston, Tex., March 8.—The training exercises of the White Sox this afternoon were a bit more profitable and more impressive than those of yesterday. The Chicagoans coupled a flock of base hits with their own good pitching and thus defeated the Houston Texas leaguers by a 13 to 3 margin.

WILLIE KAMM.

The potent factor in the attack which played havoc with the Buffaloes was Willie Kamm, who gave no indication of not being greatly interested in his work. Willie was up at the plate six times. Once he walked. On another occasion he exploded a triple. A few minutes later he contributed a double with the sacks loaded. He concluded his day's attack with a single. Willie also let the 600 freezing fans in attendance see him in a couple of his fielding specialties around third base.

Three Pitchers Work.

Manager Bush let three of his pitchers share the nine rounds of toil and one was as good as the other. Lefty Caraway started and in three sessions he yielded only one hit. This blow got tangled with an error by Simons in center and became a run. Then Jim Moore took charge for four innings and six hits resulted, but some of them were not exactly legitimate. Lastly, Johnny Intlekofer, the free agent from California, appeared, and in his two round stretch he flattened the Buffaloes effectively on one hit.

The performance might have been a bit more satisfactory for the customers if the Sox hadn't concentrated on one big inning in which eight runs scored. This happened in the fourth. Kamm batted twice while the stampede was on and drove in four of the eight runs with his triple and double. To stop the rally the Buffaloes summoned Dean, brother of the Cardinal pitcher. He halted the uprising easily enough and then for the rest of the game had the Sox panicstricken by his inability to heave the ball in any direction except at their heads.

Rookies Do Little.

The new men in whom Bush is vitally interested did nothing of a startling nature. Radcliff, the tiny first sacker, peeled off one clean hit and was presented with another by a blind outfielder. Simons was the author of two hits, but didn't look very good trying to pick up an easy grounder in center field. Appling, the prospective regular shortstop, was confined to one single, but came through with other assistance in the shape of three passes. In the field he was a bit slow about getting over to second base to act as middle man in a couple of possible double plays.

The stormy fourth inning, which decided the argument, began with Appling drawing free passage. Kamm's triple scored him. Henline walked. Caraway bounced one back at the pitcher, who heaved it into center field, Kamm counting and Henline moving to third. Cissell flied to center and Henline scored while Radcliff was being thrown out. The revolt broke out afresh on a single by Simons, Caraway scoring. Simons worked around to the plate on singles by Jolley and Watwood. Then Appling walked again, filling the sacks, and everybody ran home on Kamm's double.

Bush took his charges back to the San Antonio camp tonight. They will be put to work tomorrow correcting some of the faults noted by the manager in the two games here.

MAROONS CLOSE SEASON AGAINST MICHIGAN TODAY

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 8.—[Special.]—Seemingly back to early season form, the University of Chicago basketball team will invade Yost field house tomorrow night to attempt to drag Michigan out of its possible tie for second place in the Big Ten standings. The game will be the last for both teams.

Michigan defeated Chicago, 41 to 15, at Bartlett gymnasium early in the season, but the Maroons have shown strength in the last week, having held Illinois to a 36 to 30 score and having beaten Ohio State 31 to 22. Michigan barely nosed out Indiana, 21 to 20, Saturday night and was forced to the limit to win. Lineup:

Del Monte Four Outrides Hurlingham Club, 12-10

Del Monte, Cal., March 8.—(AP)—The Del Monte All Stars rode to a 12 to 10 victory over the Hurlingham club of England in an international polo clash today before 5,000 spectators. Coming from behind a 6 to 2 score at half time, the American team staged a sensational rally that netted nine goals without the British stars scoring. In the last chukker the Hurlingham riders shot four goals in rapid succession.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., March 8.—Our Cubs didn't hold their usual secret meeting this morning, but instead reverted to the ancient theory that the way to win ball games is to step up to the plate and drive the ball past enemy fielders. The old fashioned idea was a happy one, for the Cubs crashed out a 12 to 1 victory over the Los Angeles Angels, the first they're won from the mainlanders in two years on the island.

While the Cubs' total was accounted for through the familiar system of slugging at opportune times, the low score of the visitors, obviously, was traceable to the fact that there was some neat pitching by Chicago workmen. Bob Smith pitched five innings, during which he allowed Baker to knock one over the fence in the first inning and Hannah to acquire a double in the third inning. Bob pitched no singles or triples.

Root Mows 'Em Down.

Charley Root worked four innings and allowed three scattered singles. Smith struck out the side in the second inning, and Root fanned five. Except for a homer by Danny Taylor in the sixth inning the Cub regulars produced all their runs in the first four innings, after which they retired from service.

The attack was led by Hack Wilson with a double and a homer in three times at bat. Hartnett had two singles and a double in three times at bat, Stephenson a double and a single, and Hornsby two singles. Smith took a part in the offensive by scoring after a walk in the second inning. Then, with two out in the next inning, he drove in two runs with a triple and scored on a double by Cuyler.

The Angels got an edge in the first half of the first inning when Baker's homer over the right field fence on a three and two count gave them what proved to be the only run, and the only gesture that threatened anything during the afternoon.

Run Production Starts.

The Cubs came back to tie the score in their half, when Cuyler walked, went to second on English's out, and scored on Hornsby's line single to center. Smith then fanned Dittmar, Vusich, and Stainback in the second inning, and for a while it seemed the score of 1 to 1 would prevail throughout the second inning. But Jacobs juggled the ball on a chance for the third out, and the Cubs rushed over three runs to make the game a breeze the rest of the way.

After making five runs in the third inning on a double by Wilson, singles by Stephenson and Hartnett, a walk to Grimm, a triple by Smith and a double by Cuyler, the Cubs prepared a welcome for a semi-pro kid named Green, who took over the pitching job at the start of the fourth. Hack greeted him with a homer and Stephenson followed with a double, after which Hartnett made a single. Rather discouraging for a rookie, but he got out of the mess with only two runs. He settled down and allowed his opposition only one more hit in four innings, that being the aforementioned in the park homer by Danny Taylor.

Play Movie Team Today.

Tomorrow the Cubs will play their last game on the island, when they will meet Joe Brown's movie team. The outfit will break camp next Thursday to be gone from Catalina for another year. They will open with the Angels at Wrigley field, Los Angeles, with a game Friday afternoon.

Ban Johnson Remains in Critical Condition

St. Louis, Mo., March 8.—(AP)—The condition of Ban Johnson, former president of the American league, remained extremely critical tonight. Attendants at St. John hospital, where he is a patient, said there had been no appreciable change in the veteran baseball leader's condition during the day.

O'CONNOR CAGERS TIE FOR SECOND ON NORTH SIDE

Three Quintets Go Into Deadlock.

While O'Connell was sewing up the championship of the north division of the Knights of Columbus basketbah league with a victory over Marquette, Father O'Connor created a three way tie for second place by eliminating De Soto, 23 to 20, yesterday at the Broadway armory. O'Connor, Marquette, and St. Cyr are in the deadlock for the runner-up position, with each team slated to play two more games—Wednesday night and next Sunday. O'Connor lineup:

UP CAPTURES $10,000 DERBY AT AGUA CALIENTE

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex., March 8.—(AP)—Up, Mrs. James N. Crofton's chestnut colt, by High Cloud-Idleness, captured the Agua Caliente Derby, $10,000 added money stake, for 3 year olds, which headlined the racing program here today. Up galloped the mile and one-sixteenth in 1:46.60, to win by a half length over Seth's Pride. Uncle Henry was third.

Jockey J. Pollard had Up away like a shot and took command in the first sixteenth. From then on Up was never in danger until the last few strides, when Seth's Pride closed with a rush which almost netted him first money. Uncle Henry lacked the stretch drive to bring him up to the leaders. Schooner, the overnight favorite, finished a poor fourth. Back of Schooner came Red Chili for fifth place. De Swasey, Concord, Cam Ischer and Sun Thorn finished in the order named.

PLAY STARTS IN NATIONAL A. A. U. CAGE TOURNEY

Kansas City, Mo., March 8.—(AP)—A half dozen first round games today and last night reduced slightly the entry list of 49 teams preparatory to the official opening of the annual National Amateur Athletic Union basketball tournament tomorrow morning.

The games brought together only teams from the Kansas City area and did not include any of the favored quintets or those from a distance, including the Henrys of Wichita, Kas., defending champions; the Los Angeles Athletic club, the Oklahoma City Boosters, the Kansas City Athletic club, De Paul university of Chicago, the Ascension club from Minneapolis, Minn., and the South Side Turners from Indianapolis.

Featured games tomorrow pit the Henrys against the All Steel Equipment company of Aurora, Ill., the Oklahoma City Boosters against the Big Four, Cincinnati, and the Los Angeles A. C. against the Ferris institute, Big Rapids, Mich.

Stomach Sufferer 60 Years of Age Relieved at Once

"I used ACIDINE as directed and found it to do all you claim for it," says M. A. Funk of Riverton, N. J. "I am 60 years of age and had been bothered with acid fermentation and gas in stomach. I had tried everything without results. ACIDINE gave me relief at once."

Almost everyone who takes ACIDINE raves about it. More than two million packages have been sold. It's absolutely amazing the way this new prescription succeeds when other known remedies fail.

ACIDINE is the only known remedy which contains Japsen, that in laboratory tests, digests 600 times its weight of certain heavy, starchy foods which cause trouble. It neutralizes burning acids, soothes irritated stomach linings, stops gassy headaches, sleeplessness and nervousness. No other known remedy contains this combination to end acid stomach. ACIDINE also fortifies you against colds by reducing acidity.

Get ACIDINE today at your druggist. Watch how quickly acid indigestion, burning stomach, belching, pain, heartburn, dizziness, fullness, short breath vanish. Eat, drink all you want. Make refunds money if not delighted.

12 Chicagoans Pitted Against 20 Visitors

Perfection Goes Unnoticed.

The smooth working mechanism of a Golden Gloves tournament perhaps goes unnoticed. The fans have accepted its perfection as they have applauded stout hearted contestants. Three score and more loyal believers in amateur boxing have for weeks donated their services to Golden Gloves. From early afternoon, when the physicians examine and the clerks weigh the contestants, until late at night the bouts continue to follow in rapid succession. These men have been responsible.

Were it possible, Chicago fans should see from behind the scenes the rapidity and sureness of the system which has given a thousand boxers a fair chance to battle for Golden Gloves.

Hundreds of good seats still are available for the bouts Wednesday night. They are on sale at THE TRIBUNE Public Service office, Madison and Dearborn streets. Of course, they are not ringside seats. These were snapped up quickly. But every seat in the Stadium, the world's largest sports palace, affords an excellent view of the ring.

Kastman's Hand Broken.

Two thousand tickets will be placed on sale Wednesday night. If these also are sold, last year's throng of 23,000, which watched Chicago whip New York, will perforce give way to a new world's attendance record.

Henry Kastman, one of the four lightweights who survived the Tournament of Champions at the Coliseum, will be unable to carry on his quest for Golden Gloves. His left hand was injured several days ago and an X-ray last night showed that a bone was broken. The attending physician, Dr. Lewis K. Eastman, said that it would be two months before the boy is able to fight again. John Navicky of Gary will replace Kastman in the Stadium bouts.

Kastman competed in the north side sectionals, winning three bouts, after which he advanced to the Tournament of Champions. There he turned back two more opponents and was considered one of the best of the four lightweights remaining in the running for Golden Gloves.

DON ROMIRO WINS JUVENILE STAKE AT HAVANA TRACK

HAVANA, March 8.—(AP)—Don Romiro, speedy colt owned by the Keeneland stud, captured the Cuban Juvenile stake, which featured the eight race program at Oriental park today. Choice Caller finished second, beating out Memorandum in a hard battle for the place. The race had a value of $2,670 to the winner.

Jockey D. McAuliffe gave the son on Pagan Pan-Donna Ronna a fine ride, taking advantage of Don Romiro's early speed to win by a good margin. He had Don Romiro away fast and took a commanding lead, with Howee the closest pursuer. Howee made a determined bid in the stretch, but Don Ramiro responded to the challenge and drew away. Choice Caller and Memorandum trailed through the early running, but moved up rapidly in the last furlong.

Ernie Schaaf, Tom Loughran to Meet Again

New York, March 8.—(AP)—Heavyweight shows at New York and Los Angeles will add a little color to an otherwise lusterless boxing schedule this week. Paulino Uscudun, Basque wood chopping heavyweight, encounters Les Kennedy of Long Beach, Cal., in the top ten rounder at Los Angeles Tuesday night.

New York's big show of the week, at Madison Square Garden Friday night, features the fourth meeting between Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia, former light heavyweight champion, and Ernie Schaaf, Boston battler. Loughran won their first battle, but Schaaf took the next two.

Both have appeared in the Garden recently against Max Baer, the somewhat battered California sensation. Schaaf eked out a close decision while Loughran, in old time form, gave Young Max a boxing lesson he will not forget. Bouts on the National schedule include:

TONIGHT—At New York, Jamaica arena, Lope Tenorio, Philippines, vs. Eddie Shapiro, New York, lightweights [8]; at Louisville, Ky., Mickey Fedor, Donora, Pa., vs. Young Firpo, Louisville, middleweights [10].

TOMORROW—At Los Angeles, Cal., Pauline Uscudun, Spain, vs. Les Kennedy, Lonz Beach, Cal., heavyweights [10]; at Oklahoma City, Cal., Babe Hunt, Ponca City, vs. Chet Shandel, Los Angeles, heavyweights [10]; at Portland, Ore., Big Boy Peterson, New Orleans, vs. George Manley, Denver, light heavyweights [10]; at Minneapolis, Minn., Paul Wangler, Minneapolis, vs. Jackie Sharkie, Minneapolis, featherweights [10], and Mike Mandell, St. Paul, vs. Angus McDonald, Winnipeg, heavyweights [6]; at West Palm Beach, Fla.; Al Rowe, Philadelphia, vs. Sammy Offerman, St. Louis, lightweights [10].

WEDNESDAY—At Oakland, Cal., Gorilla Jones [Negro], Akron, O., vs. Buddy Gorman, Vallejo, middleweights [10].

Detroit, Mich., March 8.—(AP)—Detroit's faltering Falcons saw their faint hopes for a playoff position in National league hockey blasted by the Montreal Canadiens here tonight, the Flying Frenchmen downing them, 2 to 0.

The defeat for Detroit ended any Falcon hopes for third place in the league's American section, and also assured the Canadiens of first place in the International section of the league.

The Montreal team, playing without its star, Howie Morenz, who was injured and did not make the Detroit trip, set a fast pace to score twice in the first period, Auriel Joliat tallying first, and Mondou following. The Falcons couldn't beat George Hainsworth, in the Canadient nets, and had little luck in trying to keep up with the speed of the Frenchmen. Six penalties were called during the play.

8 MORE TEAMS ENTER LOYOLA CAGE TOURNEY

With eight additional entries received yesterday from five states, the first bracket was filled for the eighth annual national Catholic interscholastic basketball tournament, which opens at the Loyola university gymnasium on March 18.

Acceptances have been received from sixteen teams, including De La Salle institute of Chicago, defending champion. The south, central states and east are represented by the eight new entries, which are St. Theresa, Hutchinson, Kas.; Augustinian High school, Carthage, N. Y.; St. Michael's High school, Henrietta, Okla.; Cathedral High school, Wheeling, W. Va.; Christian Brothers High school, St. Joseph, Mo.; St. Benedict's academy, Shawnee, Okla.; St. Joseph High school, Huntington, W. Va., and either McBride High school or Christian Brothers school of St. Louis, depending on which wins the playoff.

ST. AGATHA WINS, 122 TO 10, TO TAKE CATHOLIC TITLE

Finishing the season by trouncing Help of Christians, 122 to 10, yesterday, St. Agatha won the lightweight title of the west division of the Catholic Youth Basketball league, and earned the right to compete in the league's championship rounds which begin next Sunday. The St. Agatha heavies also took first place in their section by beating Help of Christian's heavies, 21 to 4. Scores:

MOON MULLINS—SHE'LL BREAK THAT HABIT

Quaker Oats Bowlers Beat Walter Birks

BY HOWARD MARTIN.

With each member of the team getting his share of pins, the Quaker Oats picked up a 3,129 total at the Samuelson Arcade alleys and defeated the Walter Birks by 67 pins in their 12 game match which was concluded last night. The Birks, who entered last night's competition with a 24 pin advantage, totaled 3,038 in their final series.

The aggregate scores were Quaker Oats, 2,966, 3,101, 3,115, and 3,129—12,311. The Birks had 2,853, 3,140, 3,213, and 3,038—12,244.

Faetz, with games of 221, 211, and 242, and a total of 674, turned in the best figures of the evening. Lellinger, anchor man for the Birks, had to be content with 517, many pins below his usual total. Scores:

The Monte Carlo alleys sweepstakes, scheduled to open last night after a postponement Saturday because of the heavy snow, again was deferred. The tourney will be held next Saturday and Sunday.

The Sunkist Pies last night hung up a total of 3,327 to take the lead in the team event of the Greater Chicago handicap tournament at the Gold Coast alleys. Clown Cigarets of Milwaukee, with 3,151, are in second place, and the Commodore Barrys third with 3,114.

Harry Kaad, who broke the world's singles tournament record recently, is leading the individual scorers with 823 for four games. Kaad also leads in the all events. J. Kubec and M. Newman scored 1,353 to top the doubles event.

COOK SECOND IN A. B. C.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 8.—[Special.]—Bert Meyers of Syracuse had an excellent chance to ring up a 700 total in the singles division of the American Bowling Congress tourney here today. Meyers took possession of the lead in the singles division with 664, a slow finish preventing him from gathering a higher total.

Art Cook, member of the St. Paul of the Cross K. of C. team of Chicago, landed second with a 650 total. Cook shot consistently, scoring games of 212, 225, and 213. R. Seidl, another K. of C. bowler, opened with 230, but finished with 180 and 193 for a 602 total.

F. Lins and H. Wellnitz, Milwaukee, took temporary possession of the lead in the doubles division with a 1,210 mark.

BY BOB BECKER.

It may be necessary to establish a new federal department to devote its time to wild life restoration in the United States. This is one of the propositions being considered by the U. S. senate's special committee on the conservation of wild life resources, according to a recent report issued by this group. The committee reported that it found "convincing and undisputed evidence of a rapid disappearance of wild life throughout the United States, whereas there was about a 400 per cent increase in hunters and fishermen in the last ten years."

The result is that we are not raising game birds and animals in sufficient numbers for this vast army of outdoor enthusiasts. Incidentally the senate committee included in its report a survey made in the south which disclosed that hunters and fishermen in fourteen southern states equal the number of baseball, football, golf and tennis players combined.

Sportsmen who year after year turn in their dollars to state conservation departments without getting a fair return for their money in the form of projects which produce fish and game for fields, forests, lakes and stream, will be interested in one comment in the senate's report because it rings the bell on this point. The report blames the serious decrease of wild life on "the failure of federal and state legislative bodies to be guided by the ordinary rules of sound business practice, which requires that the sums used for research, protection, administration, development, and upkeep must be in due proportion to the income derived from its resources."

The report also pointed out that "the enteprise of wild life conservation and increase viewed solely as a business matter has been grievously underfinanced, and small acknowledgment or recognition has been had of its value in dollars to the people of the states."

Basing its estimate on actual figures the committee declared that the total expenditures in hunting and fishing alone in 1929 doubtless amounted to three-quarters of a billion dollars.

The special committee of the senate, which is still carrying on its studies of our wild life problems, is headed by Senator Frederic C. Walcott of Connecticut; Senator Harry B. Hawes of Missouri is vice chairman.

Macks Defeat Cards, 7-5, in 'World' Series

Miami, Fla., March 8.—(AP)—The world champion Philadelphia Athletics put on a characteristic finish today to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals, National league champions, 7 to 5, and square the account at one game each in their winter "world's series."

After his hit had scored a tie in the sixth, Bing Miller, veteran right fielder, smashed a ninth inning home run over the right field wire fence into the crowd. Jimmy Foxx was on first base and the blow abruptly terminated the exhibition hostilities in favor of the Mackmen by a score of 7 to 5.

The finish furnished a thrill for a Sunday crowd. The rival champion clubs will play the third and deciding game of the series tomorrow at Fort Myers, home of the A's.

Sarazen, Farrell Set Records in Best Ball Golf

Miami, Fla., March 8.—(AP)—Gene Sarazen whizzed around the Miami Country club course today wth a record smashing 18 hole 65 as he and Johnny Farrell swamped their opponents, 6 and 5, in the opening 36 hole play of the $5,000 international four ball matches. Sarazen and Farrell also set a new record of 62 as they defeated Willie Klein and Tom Kerrigan.

The Sarazen-Farrell combination, however, was not the long score winners of the day. The perennial Walter Hagen and Horton Smith, who strode across American courses a year or so ago to win most of the golfing money of the year, marked up a 7 and 6 victory in a scheduled 36 hole match as they defeated Bob Randall and Bob Burns.

A third long score gave Denny Shute and Tony Manero a 7 and 5 win over Bill Burke and Jock Collins. Johnny Golden, paired with Ed Dudley only to go down to a 4 and 2 defeat at the hands of Charley Guest and George Christ. Clarence Gamber, youthful co-sharer of top honors in the 1930 tournament with Cyril Walker, paired with Walker today in defense of their crown to win, 2 and 1, from Danny Williams and John Watson.

Jack Thompson and John Kinder went into the next 36 hole round by a 2 and 1 victory over the veteran Al Espinosa and Craig Wood. Joe Kirkwood, paired with Harry Cooper, lost, 2 and 1, before the onslaught of Wild Bill Mehlhorn and Frank Walsh, Chicago veteran. Joe Turnesa fell down with Henri Culci as they took a 3 and 2 beating from Willie MacFarlane and Whitty Cox of Brooklyn.

Jean Victor Captures Steeplechase at Auteuil

AUTEUIL, France, March 8.—(AP)—Jean Victor easily won the Prix Finot, feature steeplechase of the racing program here today. Jean Victor, a four year old, won by three lengths from Le Diable with Causette third. There were nine starters over the course of two miles and one furlong, but three fell. Jean Victor paid 2 to 1.

PREPS RESUME PLAY IN DISTRICT TOURNEYS TODAY

Twelve Illinois high school basketball teams are going to get plenty of exercise this week. The big blizzard Saturday made it necessary to postpone semi-finals or finals of district tournaments at Greenfield, Gibson City, Pekin, Streator, Rossville, East Peoria, Petersburg, Lincoln, Rushville, Quincy, Carthage and Decatur until today. On top of that, the winners must go into sectional competition Wednesday.

Saturday night's finals produced at least two upsets. Farmington defeated Canton in the Canton district, 18 to 11. Bloomington, runnerup to Peoria Manual for the state championship last season, stumbled in the final at Bloomington and was eliminated by University High, 21 to 13.

Championship games, for the most part, were closely contested, but Dundee broke out with a scoring exhibition of heroic proportions, mauling Woodstock, 73 to 24, at Woodstock. Collinsville overcame Granite City, 43 to 20, at Edwardsville, and Freeport won its own district title by swamping Orangeville, 43 to 16. Galesburg and Abingdon put on one of their characteristic bitter battles, with the former winning by 21 to 19.

CAPTAIN HAWKS—

SPEED MONARCH OF THE SKY

BUYS AN AIR-COOLED FRANKLIN

FRANK M. HAWKS
NEW YORK CITY

Mr. H. K. Franklin,
Franklin Automobile Co.,
Syracuse, N. Y.

January 2, 1931

Dear Mr. Franklin:

It might interest you to know that one of the questions frequently asked by aviation enthusiasts is what type of engine I prefer in the airplanes I fly. There is but one answer, without becoming too technical — AIR-COOLED. My experience with aircraft has proved the superiority of air-cooled power plants, and it was this feature in your car, more than anything else which influenced me in my purchase of a new 1931 Franklin De Luxe Convertible Speedster.

I consider the progress of aviation owes a great deal to you. Mr. Franklin, for sticking to the principle which you knew to be right; your new engine, which develops more horse power for size than any other engine, is a tribute to American engineering brains. This air-cooled principle, applying an air stream directly to the heated parts of the engine, will cool the engine more effectively than the indirect methods which embody unnecessary fluids and attachments.

Not only this perfection of cooling, but also the trouble-free operation which goes with it, the lighter weight, increased riding comfort and the ability of the Franklin to stay at wide open throttle without loss of power, are all reasons why I am extremely enthusiastic about my new Franklin Speedster.

With best wishes for your continued success, I am

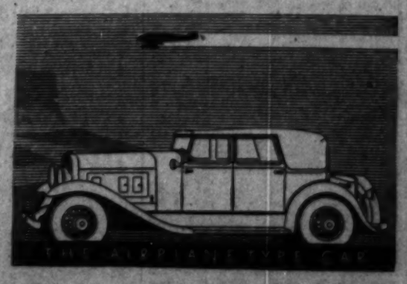

Yours very truly,

FWH-339

There's a thrill in RIDING LIKE GLIDING

Captain Hawks knows every thrill of the air—knows the air-cooled engine has made possible all recent famous flights and dramatic aircraft progress. In his first Franklin ride, Captain Hawks sensed that Franklin, too, through the superiority of the air-cooled engine, has achieved brilliant performance and comfort. The airplane feel—the riding like gliding, with 80 miles an hour seeming like 50—the ease with which Franklin is DIRECTED—these things thrilled the man who must be hardened to thrills.

Try a Franklin ride. Put the car through every test. You'll find a comfort and feeling of security that are unapproached. You'll find the exclusive Franklin features, made possible by air-cooling engineering, are translated into the finest motoring the world has ever known.

Try the car like the one Captain Hawks purchased a Quarter Century of Group Management

IN MARCH 1906—twenty-five years ago—the Associated Gas and Electric Company with its principal office at Ithaca, New York, was incorporated for the purpose of bringing together a group of gas and electric properties under common management. Separately these companies were unable to secure the necessary capital to provide the service demanded.

These twenty-five years have seen the making of the electric light and power industry. From a business with an investment of one billion dollars serving 1,900,000 customers, it has grown to be the fourth largest industry in the country with an investment of eleven billion dollars serving 24,000,000 customers.

Group Management Has Made Possible This Gigantic Growth

Few, if any, industries can point to similar achievements in growth and improvement in service or reduction in costs to customers. Group management through holding companies has largely brought this about.

In these twenty-five years, while the population of the United States has increased about 45%, gas customers have increased nearly 200%, electric customers 1200% and the per unit cost of electricity has decreased approximately 50%. With only 6% of the world's population, the United States uses approximately 40% of the world's electricity.

In no other country has the utility business made such a record. In no other country is there similar group management. In fact, leaders abroad have been urging the introduction of American methods for developing utility progress in their own countries.

Associated System a Leader in Growth and Extension of Service

The Associated System is one of the five oldest public utility groups in the United States. Its growth has more than paralleled that of the industry as a whole. From 8,000 customers in 1906 it has grown to 1,429,000 customers...serving 1 in 32 gas customers in the United States and 1 in 27 electric customers in the United States and its possessions.

It has been a leader in extending service to small communities and rural areas...in modernizing rates to make electricity and gas abundantly available at moderate costs...and in building up a sound financial structure.

MIDDLE WEST'S EARNINGS BEST IN ITS HISTORY

Makes Gain Despite Depression Year.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Despite the general depression last year, the Middle West Utilities company, largest of the Insull holding concerns, had the most prosperous period in its history. A considerable reason for the showing is the fact that the company's operating subsidiaries extend to diversified nonmetropolitan areas.

"A sharp increase in domestic sales of electricity overcame the effects of business conditions on industrial power demand," President Martin J. Insull says in his annual report, issued last night. "Domestic sales of electricity not only increased 18 per cent over the preceding year but also formed a somewhat larger proportion of the total sales than in 1929.

"The Middle West systems continued intensive development of the domestic market and careful scrutiny of operating costs, together with the geographical and industrial diversification of the territories served in 30 states, enabled it to resist the effects of business conditions and the drought. Because of their predominantly nonmetropolitan character, most of the territories served were less affected than the country as a whole and as the year ended signs of revival were noted in a number of sections.

Construction Continues.

"In the central states the mild weather permitted construction work to continue past the end of the year, reducing the seriousness of unemployment in many sections."

Mr. Insull points out that the Middle West Utilities system now serves 1,727,445 customers in 4,741 communities in thirty states. It has 498 generating stations and 39,969 miles of transmission lines. Last year it expended $78,532,058 in construction of new service facilities. It has 29,588 employés and 343,921 stockholders.

Gross earnings of the subsidiary companies for 1930 totaled $182,213,-975, an increase of $19,876,701, or 12.2 per cent, over 1929. Net income of Middle West Utilities was $26,524,548, equivalent after preferred dividends to $1.58 a share in 14,519,731 common shares outstanding at the end of 1930. Net income for 1929 was $22,511,309, equal to $1.17 a share on 13,447,630 common shares.

The balance sheet as of Dec. 31, 1930, shows total assets of $320,358,-286, compared with $225,961,657 at the end of 1929. Earned surplus now stands at $15,929,944 and capital surplus is $21,690,483.

Brunswick Makes Report.

Sales of billiard tables and bowling alleys proved more profitable last year than those of radios and musical supplies, according to the annual report of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company. Total sales for 1930 were $13,-842,788, compared with $29,417,799 in 1929. Early in the year the musical division was sold to Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc.

"Taking into consideration the conditions prevailing in 1930," President H. E. Bensinger says, "the sales of the billiard and bowling alley division compare favorably with the business of that division for 1929. Although a consistent profit was derived from this division, a loss was sustained in operation of the musical division prior to its sale. This, together with other unusual operating expenses, resulted in a final net operating loss of $1,109,589, compared with a net loss of $2,945,272 in 1929."

World Events Give Promise of Better Times to Come

New York, March 8.—(AP)—The month of March, coming in with the lean lion of low business profits much in evidence, has in its first week made only moderate progress in fattening a succulent lamb of spring trade.

Further gains in steel mill activity, textile and motor production have appeared in the last week, but the spring recovery in business, which should develop vitality between late February and the first of April, remains a little tardy.

Of basic improvement in world conditions, promising better times possibly in the latter part of the year, however, there have been abundant signs. There have been several developments abroad of distinctly favorable augury.

Indian Truce Significant.

Among these the making of peace between the Nationalists and the viceroy in India has been a development of moment which leading bankers say the business community has been slow to appreciate.

This agreement promises to end the economic impassé in that land of 400,-000,000 persons, and heal the sorest spot in England's foreign trade. England is one of the United States' leading customers, and our foreign trade in normal times is a sizable portion of our entire commerce.

Other developments worthy of mention are the Franco-Italian naval accord and slight improvement in employment both in England and Germany. There has, of course, been tangible gains in employment at home, gratifying if primarily seasonal.

Building statistics for the last week of February have not yet appeared, but a good demand for structural steel indicated that open weather has advanced activity in heavy construction. "Iron Age" estimated steel mill activity at 53 per cent of capacity. Up 1 point and the tenth successive gain. Orders for line pipe and automotive products is expected to lift steel mill activity in the Youngstown area next week from 48 per cent back to 50 per cent of capacity.

Cotton Staples Active.

In textiles, cotton staples have experienced an active February, and sales have continued in good volume into March, apparently bringing some further acceleration of southern mill activity. Silk consumption, as reported for February, showed a gain of 7 per cent.

Motor production is showing a further seasonal gain this month, although moderate so far. Output is ranging somewhere between 50,000 and 60,000 units a week and must pick up considerably if estimates of an output of more than 4,000,000 for the year are to materialize. Reports from the trade say that the soldier bonus has had a decidedly stimulating effect upon retail sales of cars.

The mercantile agencies indicate that wholesale and retail trade generally remains somewhat spotty, although the aggregate change, if any, has been on the favorable side. The approach of Easter will soon be felt by the retail apparel trade.

In Oil Industry.

The petroleum industry has been rather thoroughly demoralized by further slashing of prices, and there is a feeling in many quarters that the situation has come to such a pass that concerted action to better conditions in the industry are imperative. Some of the so-called independents were disappointed that congress failed to restrict imports, but the secretary of commerce has been endeavoring to bring large importers into an agreement on that score.

Bank clearings for the first week of March were the largest so far this year, in keeping with the expected seasonal trend. The latest freight car loadings and electric power consumption reports were not susceptible to decidedly cheerful interpretations, but the Feb. 22 holiday was a distorting factor.

B. F. GOODRICH CO. HAS $8,374,148 LOSS DURING 1930

Akron, O., March 8.—(AP)—Loss of $8,374,148 for the year ended Dec. 31, 1930, was reported tonight by the B. F. Goodrich company in its annual report. Operating loss, before interest but after depreciation and all other charges was put at $4,085,565.

Shrinkage of sales of 5.6 per cent in dollar values was reported, 1930 sales of $155,256,245 comparing with $164,494,958 in 1929. Actual comparison in sales would show a loss of about 20 per cent, taking in consideration Goodrich's acquisition in September, 1929, of the Hood Rubber company and in February, 1930 of the Miller Rubber company, president J. D. Tew pointed out, however.

Tew said it was the second time in the company's sixty years that it has operated at a loss. The company entered the present year in good financial position, both as to cash and ratio of assets to liabilities, he added.

BUSINESS TREND IN CHICAGO AREA REPORTED MIXED

Encouraging signs of business improvement in certain lines and evidence of slow recovery in others gave the Chicago market a somewhat mixed trend during the last week, according to the Chicago Association of Commerce. Reflecting the general improvement in the automobile industry, local steel mills and jobbers experienced quickened demand for their products. Unfilled orders on hand indicate continued firmness in this line in the near future.

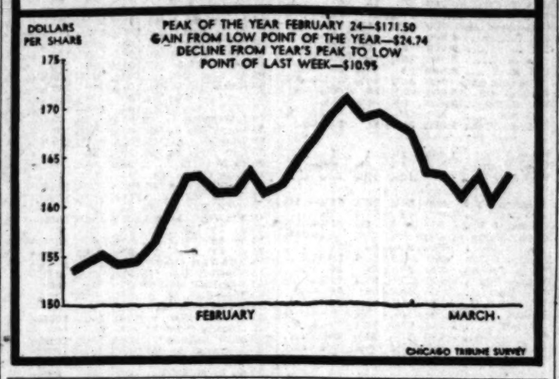

Sales of new automobiles temporarily were eclipsed by a lively demand for used cars. Real bargains in this field did not suffer for lack of buyers.

Retail merchandise sales proved the disappointing factor in the week's trade activity. Buying maintained an even pace, but failed to reflect the volume expected. Preparation by out of town retailers for the Easter season brought local wholesalers a fair amount of business. It still is too early, leading merchants agree, to notice any sales stimulation caused by loans to world war veterans under the bonus bill.

AMERICAN TELEPHONE ACTS TO MAKE ITS CHARTER PERPETUAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 8.—At their annual meeting called for March 31 the stockholders of the American Telephone and Telegraph company will be asked to take formal action to make perpetual the term of the corporate existence of the company in view of the expiration of the 50 year charter of the company in March, 1935.

At the same meeting the stockholders will be asked to increase the authorized capital stock from $2,000,-000,000, the present amount, to $2,500,-000,000. There was $1,795,651,200 stock outstanding at the beginning of the year and $1,799,501,000 was outstanding at the end of last week.

In his announcement of the meeting President Walter S. Gifford says that "the directors earnestly request, in case you will not be present at the annual meeting, that you sign and return the inclosed proxy. The renewal of the charter of the company requires the vote of two-thirds of the outstanding shares."

With respect to the increase in capital proposed, Mr. Gifford says that "some $39,000,000 of stock offered last year will be paid for this year and issued. Also, there are bonds outstanding that can be converted into $12,923,000 of stock."

RETAIL SPENDING IN 42 CITIES IS $580 A PERSON

Residents in the trading areas of 42 Illinois cities, with a combined population of 1,281,336 inhabitants, one-fourth of the entire state's total exclusive of Chicago, spent $580 each in retail buying during the year 1930, according to a survey made by the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, based on latest census reports. The cities in the survey ranged in size from 10,000 to 100,000 inhabitants.

Three divisions were made in order to show the improvement that might be made in the retail efforts of various cities as evidenced by comparison with other cities of equal population. The first division, cities between 10,000 and 25,000 population, consisted of 24 cities whose citizens had an average per capita expenditure of $572. Champaign, with per capital retail sales of $903, leads the cities in this group, while Elmhurst was lowest with $397.

In the second division cities of between 28,000 and 40,000 population, the 9 cities represented had an average sales per capita of $601, with Bloomington leading with $790 and Belleville lowest with $420. The third division was made up of 9 cities with a population between 45,000 and 100,000 inhabitants. Here the average per capita sales were $568, and Evanston, with $740, was highest, and Berwyn, with $279, lowest.

BEARS CONTINUE DOMINATION OF WHEAT MARKET

Sentiment Is More Mixed on Corn.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Speculative sentiment in grains remains bearish, but there are deflections from that side, based on the belief that prices are so low and the trade has been so depressed for so long a time that bearish conditions have been well discounted in the lowering of prices.

It is easy, however, to find more bear talk and more predictions of 50c wheat than at any previous time. Concerning corn, sentiment is more mixed.

The week's fluctuations in wheat prices were within ⅝c on old crop deliveries, which are controled by the farm board, and 2c on the July. At the close old crop months were ¼c to ⅝c lower.

Speculative trading, however, was about 19,000,000 bu larger than the previous week, sales being 97,195,000 bu, and compared with 304,231,000 bu a year ago.

Open interest in wheat at the close of the week was 130,389,000 bu, compared with 130,173,000 bu the previous week. Most of the reduction was in March and May.

September Wheat.

Traders are disposed to give September more attention from now on, and there is a disposition to sell it on all bulges. The short side of July is considered dangerous, as the farm board will own the bulk of the cash wheat in the country and storage room may be so scarce that shorts will be unable to make deliveries of the new crop in sufficient volume to fill their sales. In September, however, it is expected that storage room will be available for caring for the new crop.

Heavy snows over the winter wheat states the last few days is believed to have furnished sufficient moisture to remove any uneasiness that the trade may have about crop condition. A good part of the winter wheat acreage has been covered by snow and no material damage has resulted from lower temperatures so far.

All crop experts say that abandonment of acreage is likely to be the smallest in years, and some are esti-

U. S. Displaced by Sweden in German Loans

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 8.—The United States, which has held first place as Germany's creditor each year from 1925 to 1929, inclusive, was displaced in 1930 by Sweden which lent Germany $124,500,000, compared with German borrowings of $94,725,000 in the American market during the year. These figures are exclusive of so-called direct investments and short term financing. The American loans amounted to about 28.37 per cent of the total German borrowings during 1930.

As a matter of fact, American loans to Germany last year showed a substantial gain over those of 1929 which totaled $49,500,000. America's biggest year in lending to Germany was in 1926 when loans aggregating nearly $300,000,000 were extended. These figures, compiled by Dr. Max Winkler, vice president of Bertron, Griscom & Co., place Holland as the third largest lender to Germany in 1930 with loans of $39,500,000, a gain of 157 per cent over the 1929 figures.

Switzerland ranked next with $17,-850,000, followed by Great Britain with $15,750,000, a slight gain over the 1929 total of $12,500,000. France in 1930 made her first appearance as a lender to Germany for the first time since the war. The amount of German bonds sold in France last year amounted to $26,650,000, which, in the opinion of Dr. Winkler, is the forerunner of a series of German loans which will be made by French bankers.

"Although, officially, German loans floated in the United States last year registered a decline from the average of the previous year," according to the summary, "it is not impossible that considerable sums of American capital are obtained here by Germany in an indirect way. Large parts of the proceeds from the sale of such issues as Kreuger & Toll, Swedish Match, International Match, are doubtless employed in Germany, thus the American investor who may ordinarily be averse to buying German bonds on a 7 per cent basis or better is perfectly willing without, of course, being aware of it, acquiring them indirectly on a 6 per cent basis or lower."

Chadbourne to Confer in Paris on Sugar Pact

PARIS, March 8.—(AP)—Thomas L. Chadbourne, creator of the sugar control plan which bears his name, will confer here tomorrow with representatives of European sugar countries to iron out details of the world's sugar pact. These negotiations will take some time and formal signing of the agreement probably will come next month.

1931 PROPHETS ARE RESTRAINED IN UTTERANCES

Recall False Start of Last Year.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 8.—Two aspects of the markets made last week's picture interesting and possibly significant mostly because of its contrast with the same week a year ago.

The slow and gradual recovery in the steel trade activities continued, whereas the down turn in production began with the opening of March, 1930. On the other hand, last week's stock market reacted sharply from the activities of February, whereas March a year ago began with much bidding up of stocks and added nearly $500,-000,000 to the brokers' loan account before the month was over.

The double contrast seems to mean that Wall street and the business community, which was living in something like a fool's paradise during the first three months of 1930, has this year been applying its energies calmly and intelligently to the work of rehabilitation.

Prophecies Err.

The sequel to the wholly premature enthusiasm of a year ago we know; the jubilant prophecies and excited markets that prevailed in March and February had a considerable part in creating the abject hopelessness of August and October, when all the prophecies went wrong. Whatever may be in store for us in the rest of 1931, there will at least be no repetition of last year.

As to what may actually be ahead of us, explicit prediction is entirely absent. Such forecasts of the immediate future as find utterance today in places of high reasonability are extremely cautious. Nothing is taken for granted; they are usually coupled with warnings that too much must not be hoped for.

But we had our fill of cocksure prophecy last year, not with agreeable results, and the record shows that, if conservative expectation did not always foreshadow revival, at least precisely this present view of the situation prevailed in the earlier part of every past year in which distinct

False Start of Last Year Kept in Memory.

Previous Show of Caution.

In pre-war days the three or four months of 1909 and 1895 which came before the distinct revival of trade had broken the long depression were similarly marked by great caution in finance and industry; also by clear recognition (which had not obtained the year before) of the real nature of the trade reaction. In the more recent and perhaps better remembered occasion of similar after-panic recovery, visible signs at this time of year, and the market's attitude along with them, were precisely what they are today.

A well known financial publication wrote in March of 1922 that, while trade "is improving slowly, there is no sharp recovery"; that, although "business men believe the country has 'turned the corner,'" they none the less were pointing out that return to normal must be very slow.

"There should," the review proceeded, "be no illusion on that point." But in May of 1922 the same chronicler reported business "forging ahead and the prospect brightening"; in June the "western retail trade improving rapidly"; in October "buying of merchandise increasing in almost all departments"; in November "labor in sharp demand"; in December, as the contemporary survey reads, "it turns out that retailers' stocks have dropped to small dimensions" that "big industries are busy," "reemployment widespread throughout the country," "retail business conspicuously active," and "sales of goods for the first three months of next year large."

Cites Present Handicaps.

This may or may not be the sequel in 1931; no year's developments in finance or trade are shaped distinctly in the winter season. There are obstacles to an old time "trade revival"; disordered grain markets, for instance; a discouraged Europe, a still uncertain movement of commodity prices.

Whether or not these are more formidable handicaps than the "frozen credits" which existed in 1922, the industrial overcapitalization in 1909, and the political confusion of 1895 is a matter of opinion. For the present the essential fact is that the markets and the attitude of business towards the industrial future is of a sane and wholesome sort.

United States Gypsum.

I have a block of U. S. Gypsum preferred bought around 101. What is your opinion of its soundness? I bought it just for a regular income.

J. H. B.

United States Gypsum company, maker of gypsum products, including plaster, stucco, wall board and insulators, was incorporated in 1920 to succeed a concern which had been in business since 1901.

It has expanded considerably in recent years. In 1929 five new plants were completed. Last year the company acquired two metal lath companies, an insulating board plant and two lime plants. It also purchased a Canadian gypsum business and property.

The effect on the company of the severe decline in building last year was offset by economies in manufacturing and distribution, the introduction of new lines and the contribution to earnings from new plants completed in 1929.

The management recently informed stockholders that although it expects improvement in building to be slow a "reasonably satisfactory year" is anticipated for 1931.

Last year net income, available for dividends, was $5,408,655. This was equal to nearly ten times dividend requirements on the 78,417 shares of 7 per cent preferred [par $100] outstanding and was equal to $4.01 per share earned on the 1,212,598 common shares [par $20]. In 1929 net was $5,102,305, against $6,031,635 in 1928, $7,538,508 in 1927, $8,375,747 in 1926, and $8,414,117 in 1925.

The company maintains a strong working capital position. The balance sheet at the close of 1930 showed current assets of $17,226,976, including $8,539,272 of United States government securities, $4,313,515 inventory, $3,645,... receivables, and $728,662 cash. Current liabilities totaled $1,763,573. This left a working capital of $15,463,403, which compares with $12,930,508 a year before.

During 1930 surplus was increased from $30,684,762 to $34,613,811. There is no funded debt.

Preferred dividends have been regularly paid each year since 1915. Payments have been made on the common since 1919. The current rate on the common is $1.60 per year. On Dec. 31, 1930, a 50 cent extra payment was made.

The preferred is considered high grade.

FOREIGN ISSUES SHOW STRENGTH IN BOND MARKET

Gotham Obligations Give Tax Exempts a Test.

New York, March 8.—(AP)—The marked vitality of foreign obligations and the reception accorded tax exempt financing were the major developments in the bond market last week.

That they might prove the harbingers of a long period of fair weather for coupon bearing obligations was the hope of investment bankers and business. Plans for obtaining needed capital to aid the recovery have been held up for several weeks because of the bonus clouds overhanging the market throughout February. But the treasury's program of financing for March, involving $1,400,000,000, all but $300,000,000 of which was for refunding a 2½ per cent note issue, brought a large oversubscription without threatening the stability of the bond market, and the outstanding government obligations in particular.

Survives Real Test.

In addition, the market for tax exempts survived a real test in absorbing $100,000,000 in 4¼ bonds of the city of New York with far greater ease than had been predicted by the most optimistic. It swelled the total for the week to the largest figure since January, and foreshadowed a definite upturn in the flow of new bonds, both industrial and municipal, into the market.

No less encouraging to the bond market was the buying of foreign obligations at new high prices for the year. It was interpreted as indicating the gradual restoration of confidence among American holders of foreign loans which ebbed last year as a direct consequence of the economic distress and political upheavals in many countries.

Lead Foreign List.

German, Australian, Italian and Latin American obligations led the advance. There was a huge demand for German International 5½s, in response to the reassuring statement of Dr. Hans Luther of the reichsbank that it was unthinkable the reich would fail to meet its obligations to private investors. The bonds pushed into the 80s, against an offering price last year of 92 and a 1930 low of 68.

Corporate domestic bonds made some progress on the upside despite the gyrations of the stock market. Earnings reports of utility companies which as a group suffered less from the 1930 depression than railroads and industrials caused some broadening in the demand for their bonds. The reverse was true of rails which were irregular, within fractional limits, with a slight tendency toward lower levels.

Short Term Credits Sent Abroad Set New Record

Washington, D. C., March 8.—(AP)—A record movement of American capital to foreign countries in the form of short term credit in 1930 was reported today in a commerce department summary. More than $443,000,000 was sent abroad in that period, as compared with the previous high of $226,000,000 in 1928. As a result the net indebtedness of American business to foreign capital holders was reduced from $1,510,973,000 to $1,067,940,000. The movement was attributed by Grosvenor Jones, department finance specialist, largely to the drop in American interest rates.

Travelers' Insurance Co. Reports Gain for 1930

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 8.—The Travelers' Insurance company reports that as of the end of 1930 it has $4,889,122,692 of life insurance in force as compared with $4,734,742,475 at the end of 1929. The assets of the insurance company in the 1930 balance sheet were $632,922,943 as compared with $607,292,230 at the end of 1929. Surplus amounted to $26,963,528 against $26,583,642 in 1929. A sum of $16,924,016 has been set aside as a special reserve, in addition to the general reserve of $585,959,405.

BEARS CONTINUE DOMINATION OF WHEAT MARKET

Sentiment Is More Mixed Concerning Corn.

mating the loss of acreage at around 1,000,000 acres, which would leave 41,000,000 acres for harvest. On the basis of 15 bushels per acre, the harvest would be 615,000,000 bu, while with 40,000,000 acres the harvest would be 600,000,000 bu, compared with 604,000,000 bu harvested last year.

Nat C. Murray gives the condition on March 1 as 87.5 per cent of normal, compared with 86.3 in December, and 82.9 in March, 1930, the highest in recent years. Condition in the big states is around 90.4.

Government Sells Wheat.

Government activities in the market have increased. Fair sales have been made for export to Europe in competition with Canada and Argentina. Mills also have taken fair quantities. Farm board officials are alive to the situation as regards storage and have ordered out 500,000,000 bu for shipment to various points where storage is available.

There is ample storage space in various locations in the southeast and northwest, and elsewhere, according to farm board officials, and a good part of the 500,000,000 bu is to go to mills in the Ohio river territory and in Toledo. Nothing is said, however, by farm board officials as to whether the wheat is sold.

Farm Reserves Today.

The American visible supply is expected to show another increase for the week. A government report on farm reserves is due this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Farm reserves, as given by private statisticians range from 132,000,000 to 162,000,000 bu, with an average of 142,000,000 bu, compared with 130,000,000 bu by the government last year, and a 5 year average of 125,000,000 bu. Corn reserve estimates range from 704,000,000 to 775,000,000 bu, with an average of 742,000,000 bu, compared with 987,000,000 bu by the government last year and a 5 year average of 1,051,000,000 bu. Oat reserves average 488,000,000 bu, against 396,000,000 bu by the government last year, and a 5 year average of 480,000,000 bu.

Liberal Disappearance of Corn.

Disappearance of corn from farms prior to March 1 this year was 1,396,000,000 bu, as compared with 1,704,000,000 bu last year, and 1,783,000,000 bu for the 5 year average, as estimated by Nat C. Murray for Clement Curtis & Company. Consumption was reduced during the winter months, but it was not as much as generally expected, based on the mildness of the winter. Disappearance of corn after March 1 last year was 917,000,000 bu, and the carryover at the end of the season was 72,000,000 bu.

Corn prices have advanced over 3c from the season's low, on buying based largely on the old theory that corn is a good thing to buy around March 1. Trade sentiment, however, is mixed. Movement from interior elevators to Chicago and other industrial points is liberal but from the farms is not large. Stocks are not heavy and the general consumptive demand is poor. Low grades are selling at a carrying charge discount.

March closed at 63c, May 65¼@65c, July 67½, September 67½@67⅝, practically the highest of the week, with net gains of 1⅝@3⅛c. Prices for the week follow:

Oat Prices Rally.

The disposition on the part of cash interests and a few strong speculators is to buy oats on all weak spots. Liquidation is said to have run its course, carrying prices down to the lowest of the season, or within a fraction of it, from which there was a recovery with corn, and a close unchanged to ⅜c higher for the week. U. S. Sets New Record for Production of Sulphur

Washington, D. C., March 8.—(AP)—Sulphur production in the United States last year was placed at the new high record level of 2,558,981 tons by a United States bureau of mines estimate. This was an increase of 8 per cent over the previous high record of 2,362,389 tons in 1929.

RAILROADS SET NEW LOW IN 1930 ON FUEL DEMANDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 8.—Railroads in the United States in 1930 established a new low level in fuel consumption, according to complete reports filed by the carriers with the American Railway association. An average of 1.. pounds of fuel, a reduction of .. pounds under the best previous record established in 1929, was required to haul 1,000 tons of freight and equipment a distance of one mile.

A new record was also established in the conservation of fuel in passenger service, 14.7 pounds having been required to haul each passenger train car one mile, compared with 14.. pounds in 1929.

The railroads in 1930 spent $...213,781 for fuel for both road and yard switching service, against $...813,895 in 1929.

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

GENEVA, March 8.—American collaboration in the Rome wheat conference March 26 is esteemed here to be so necessary for success that it is understood Foreign Minister Briand has been asked to try to persuade Washington to send a full fledged delegate and not limit itself, as usual, to an observer. M. Briand could make the move as president of the commission of inquiry on an European union through Ambassador Edge.

The fact that the United States government itself, through the farm board's price fixing purchases, has become probably the world's greatest single holder of wheat is considered to make it difficult for the Rome meeting to accomplish anything unless American representatives are in a position to talk business.

The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company has received an order amounting to $100,000 for six large transformers for the Electro-Metallurgical company.

AMERICAN SOLVENTS REPORTS NET LOSS OF $870,053 FOR 1930

New York, March 8.—(AP)—The American Solvents and Chemical corporation, large producer and distributor of commercial alcohol and also engaged in the manufacture of chemical products, reported for 1930 net loss of $870,053.

The report covered operations of the parent company and its newly acquired subsidiaries, Rossville Commercial Alcohol corporation and General Industrial Alcohol corporation, since the date of their acquisition, June, 1930. At the time of the merger a reserve of $1,500,000 was set up to cover adjustments in connection with the consolidation of properties. The report shows that of this special reserve all but $4,833 was used. Because of the consolidation comparison with the previous year is not available.

The balance sheet as of Dec. 31 showed current assets of $4,634,785, against current liabilities of $1,888,785. In his report to stockholders H. I. Peffer, chairman, said the company entered 1931 "with a clean slate."

Ulen & Co., international engineers and financiers, reported for 1930 net income of $1,040,529, equal to $3.07 a common share, against $1,327,426, or $3.81 a share, in 1929.

COTTON TRADING IS LESS ACTIVE IN NEW ORLEANS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New Orleans, La., March 8.—Trading in cotton was less active last week and prices fluctuated within a range barely exceeding 25 points. Factors favoring the market were offset by unfavorable developments. On the favorable side were the settlement of the political troubles in India and the lifting of the boycott there against foreign importations, a fairly good spot demand here, a picking up in the inquiry from exporters, activity in the domestic cotton goods trade and some recovery in the demand for both cloths and yarns in the foreign markets.

On the other adverse side were a decline in the stock market and a growing impression that the reduction in cotton acreage will not be so large as had been looked for.

Private estimates of the reduction of acreage have ranged from 13.1 per cent down to 8.5 per cent. A statement from Secretary Hester of the New Orleans cotton exchange placed the reduction in the sale of fertilizer tags to the close of February in ten cotton states at 600,000 tons. It is generally recognized that the present season will end with a carry-over of fully 9,000,000 bales, and that a considerably smaller crop will be desirable to keep the supply within workable limits.

STEEL EXPANSION IS INDICATED BY GAIN IN INGOTS

Mill Production Makes a Slight Advance.

New York, March 8.—(AP)—Expanding operations in the steel industry last week were reflected by the February figures on ingot production, which increased to 52.60 per cent of capacity compared with 45.94 per cent in January and 38.87 per cent in December.

During the week mill production continued to show slight gains, with a little improvement in specifications against contracts, but the better tone was credited largely to expectations of increased demand for structural steel and pipe lines, as well as further expansion in the automotive industry. A steadier tone to prices was noted, with finished steels and heavy melting scrap about unchanged. Pig iron was quiet and steady.

Copper Demand Eases.

Foreign demand for copper tapered off and the market became quiet. Prices held steady, however, with both producers and consumers disposed to await publication of the February statistics.

Some slight shading of prices was reported at the end of the week. There was no pressure to sell, as producers and custom smelters were said to be booked ahead and electrolytic was quoted at 10½c delivered in the Connecticut valley. Domestic buying was generally restricted although the placing of an order for 3,500 tons of wire by a railroad for its electrification program resulted in some buying of copper.

Pressure by local dealers to sell tin in nearby positions caused an easier market early in the week but prices later recovered when offerings tapered off. Demand was limited, however, and the steadiness was attributed largely to a readjustment to London and Singapore equivalents.

Lead Holds Steady.

Lead was steady, with business largely for prompt shipment. Consumers were less disposed to buy, however, after the larger purchases last month.

Zinc was quiet and steady. Producers have sold ahead for several weeks and, with a tighter ore market, there is no pressure. A better tone was reported for antimony at the decline reflecting news from China where sellers are reserved. The price was steady.

OFFICIAL WEATHER FORECAST.
